LEAGUE SEEKS AMERICAN AID AGAINST RUSSIA

Asks Help in Drive on Aggression.

BULLETIN.

GENEVA, Dec. 14, Thursday (AP).—Great Britain informed the league of nations today that she already was "taking steps to enable the Finnish government to obtain the material required for their defenses in England."

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Switzerland, Dec. 13.—Members of the league of nations tonight declared that the United States of America is morally obligated to work hand in glove with the organization in any measures which may be taken against Russia for its invasion of Finland.

"The United States is with us this time as a result of its endeavor to act as a mediator of the Russian-Finnish dispute," one member of the British delegation explained. "After all, President Roosevelt already has placed the good offices of America at the disposal of both parties. Washington is being kept closely informed of everything that is being done."

Call Russia Aggressor.

This attitude was adopted after a special committee of 13 nations, appointed by the league assembly of 43 countries to handle the Russian-Finnish conflict, approved a resolution branding Russia as an aggressor. The resolution also encourages members of the league to give material and humanitarian help to the Finns.

The committee's action paved the way for Russia's expulsion from the league tomorrow when the resolution will be placed before the assembly and the council of 15 members for final action. Moscow's banishment was predicted by a British spokesman.

The resolution authorizes Joseph C. Avenol, secretary general of the league, to consult nonmember states "with a view to possible coöperation" with league states in helping the Finns. America was not mentioned specifically.

Wants U. S. to Sever Ties.

In addition to obtaining American coöperation against soviet aggressions, members of the league would like to have the United States sever relations with Moscow.

The league secretariat was instructed to forward to the state department in Washington, D. C., copies of all documents in the Russian-Finnish case such as were distributed among league delegates.

Leland Harrison, American minister to Switzerland, and four members of the American consular staff have been observing the proceedings in Geneva carefully. Harrison rarely has had a free moment and his opinion is eagerly sought in the corridors of the "peace palace."

The assembly will meet at 9:45 a. m. [2:45 a. m. Chicago time] to vote on the resolution directed against Russia. Since unanimity is not required in the assembly, the measure is expected to be passed and to go to the council in the afternoon.

Sessions to Be Public.

The assembly and the council will meet publicly and both the British and French delegates will be heard for the first time. Previous sessions have been private.

The council, which is the organ habitually resorted to for the settlement of political disputes, possesses the sole right to oust Russia from the league. A single negative vote can block the expulsion. It was noted that the resolution did not flatly recommend Moscow's ouster, but suggested action under article XVI. of the league covenant which provides for moral, economic, and military penalties against aggressors as well as expulsion.

The resolution authorizes the use of the league's "technical machinery" in giving assistance to Finland. The staff which handled the economic penalties against Italy during the Ethiopian war is still intact.

Military Aid Hinted.

The staff, league members suggested, could be used to coördinate the flow of whatever military or economic aid the league and America give the Finns.

"Anglo-French staffs have been formed and we expect to organize

WASHINGTON'S DEATHLESS HERITAGE

Storekeepers need not be surprised if Mrs. Erna M. Brand pays on her Christmas shopping expeditions with centavos, bits, bolivars, 'alf crowns, escudos, ducats, florins, or drachmas—or even with gulden, yen, kronen, and piasters.

Mrs. Brand, 45 years old, 37 Cedar street, has a contested separate maintenance suit in progress before Judge Rudolph Desort in Superior court. Horace L. Brand, 65, former publisher of the Staats Zeitung, defunct German language newspaper, is suing for divorce. He is the possessor of a collection of rare coins, once valued at $1,500,000.

Gets $370 in Old Coins.

Yesterday, when Mrs. Brand appealed to Judge Desort for $500 to tide her over the holidays, her husband began drawing upon his collection.

William Gemmill, counsel for Brand, deposited seven little envelopes on the judge's bench. Five contained gold coins, concave with a floral design on either face, dating from before Christ. Another held a French silver zara of 1813, and the last an American Jenny Lind commemorative penny.

"These have an appraised value of $370," stated Gemmill.

Mrs. Brand took up the envelopes and shook them. She asked:

"But what will I do with them?"

Offers 33c on Dollar.

"For how much?" asked Attorney Robert Cantwell Jr., representing Mrs. Brand.

"O, let's say 33 cents on the dollar," replied Brand.

Mrs. Brand decided to think it over.

Meanwhile, Gemmill announced, conferences for a settlement had failed because Brand balked at paying $300,000. He said there was no recourse except to proceed with trial, but stated he would first amend Brand's bill, which now charges cruelty. Cantwell responded:

"I shall be constrained to amend Mrs. Brand's bill, also. I want to make mention of a little love nest."

BRITISH TAKE 252 MAIL BAGS OFF U. S. LINER, DELAYING IT 12 HOURS

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 13 (AP).—Capt. S. F. Ransone of the S. S. Exeter of the American Export Line said today that 252 bags of United States mail addressed to Germany, Austria, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia had been removed from his ship by British authorities on his last east-bound crossing. The Exeter docked today after an uneventful trip from Mediterranean ports.

"The British boarded my ship at Gibraltar," Capt. Ransone said, "and ordered me to turn over the mail. When I refused, the Exeter was escorted into port and I was taken before the British contraband control."

Capt. Ransone said he finally gave up the mail after the ship had been delayed 12 hours.

DOCTORS REPORT BLACKOUTS HURT BRITONS' HEALTH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Blackouts are affecting Great Britain's national health, according to physicians, eye specialists and psychologists. They report an increasing number of patients suffering from irritability and lassitude, eye strain and headaches. Insufficient ventilation caused by blackout curtains and bad lighting is blamed. Confronted with more than the normal amount of illness, London firms and welfare institutes are seeking methods to cope with the blackouts' effects on workers.

Plow Up Golf Links, Plant Potatoes, England Advised

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP).—England's golf courses should be planted in potatoes and cabbage, the London Daily Express declared today. "All these lush fairways are too great a luxury when we need every acre for growing food," the editorial said. "If the rich businessmen want to exercise, let them put down their mashies and take up their spades."

De Valera's Party Rejects Plan for Military Draft

CORK, Ireland, Dec. 13 (AP).—A conference of Prime Minister Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail party today rejected a resolution calling for compulsory military service between the ages of 17 and 45.

Quiz Father in Mystery Auto Plunge Deaths

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 13 [Special].—Laurel H. Crawford, a world war veteran, was questioned tonight in the death of five persons—his wife, their three children, and a man who roomed in their Pasadena home. He is held on a warrant charging suspicion of murder.

Crawford is suspected of having killed or stunned the five persons and then having plunged his automobile, with them in it, into a 1,000 foot canyon.

He reported the tragedy to the Los Angeles county sheriff's office yesterday morning, 12 hours, he said, after the car ran off Mount Wilson Observatory road out of control because of faulty brakes.

Coroner Finds Head Wounds.

Today Dr. Frank R. Webb, county autopsy surgeon, found evidence that all five victims were hit on their heads, perhaps with a hammer or heavy wrench. He concluded that all but Mrs. Crawford were either dead or unconscious before the plunge.

Besides Mrs. Crawford, who was 41 years old, the dead were their daughters, Betty, 15, and Helen, 8; their son, Paul, 10, and Ralph Barnett, 61, the roomer in the Crawfords' Pasadena home.

Crawford's story of the Monday night ride was that he took his family and Barnett to the top of Mount Wilson to observe the lights of Los Angeles. When they started down, he said, the car continued to gain momentum.

Takes Out $40,500 Insurance.

Mrs. Crawford seized the steering wheel and turned the car toward the canyon, he asserted, adding that when it started to drop he leaped to safety. He said the reason he did not report the incident for 12 hours was that he was hunting for the wreckage.

William Penprase, chief of the sheriff's homicide squad, learned today that Crawford had insured his family and his automobile for $40,500 within the last year.

Officials at Los Angeles veterans' hospital denied Crawford's story that he had been a patient there. Crawford is 41 years old.

FOE IS FOUGHT TO STANDSTILL, FINLAND CLAIMS

Report Heavy Loss by Russians.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 13 (AP).—The Finnish army declared tonight that the Russian invasion had been brought to a standstill on the Karelian isthmus [northwest of Leningrad] after a fortnight of bitter midwinter fighting, and that fiercely attacking Red troops on the eastern front had been repulsed in most places.

New attacks by air and sea were turned back today, the Finnish command said, and the 800 mile land front from the Gulf of Finland to the Arctic ocean remained substantially the same.

"Great losses" to the Red army resulted when the Finns counterattacked successfully on the eastern front, just north of Lake Ladoga, a communique said. Many prisoners were taken, and five more soviet tanks and four pieces of field artillery were captured. Other tanks were reported destroyed on the isthmus.

Coastal Artillery Active.

Finnish coastal artillery "annihilated" enemy forces attempting to force a way along marshy roads skirting the northeastern shore of Lake Ladoga, the communique said, and transport detachments near Saunaniemi were forced to turn back.

[In this sector the Russian military communique reported a seven mile advance and capture of the town of Kitla (Kitela).]

Other coastal artillery, firing from Koivisto Island in the Gulf of Finland, bombarded Red troops operating on the mainland. Koivisto Island is offshore from Muurola on the Karelian isthmus where heavy fighting has been reported in the Russian advance upon Viipuri [Viborg], Finland's second largest city.

Fierce Attacks in Center.

Of fighting on the central eastern front, the communique said: "The enemy is continuing fierce attacks which for the most part were repulsed."

At the southern end of the front, severe fighting was reported, with Finnish counterattacks launched at Tolvajaervi, 43 miles north of Lake Ladoga.

Exact position of the fighting on the northern end of the front was not reported.

[The Norwegian radio reported, however, that the bodies of six soviet soldiers were found but five miles from the Norwegian northern frontier near Kirkenes. The radio said the dead Russians probably were part of a patrol which was repulsed after almost crossing the narrow belt of Finnish territory leading to the arctic.]

In Position to Strike Back.

The Finns were reported by military observers to be in a position to organize counterattacks on the Karelian isthmus, or southern front, after holding the Russians in check from their fortified Mannerheim line and its outposts.

The Finns said the fighting there today was largely localized, with the principal Russian activity carried out by patrols and tanks, of which several were destroyed.

Finnish aviators machine gunned and bombed motorized and foot forces at several places along the front.

The Helsingfors city council met in a bombproof shelter tonight and by resolution praised Finnish citizens for their opposition to the Russian in-

Loss Is Fourth Heaviest of War to Nation

LONDON, Dec. 14, Thursday (AP).—The admiralty reported today the British destroyer Duchess had collided with another warship and sunk with an indicated loss of 120 lives.

Only three blows—all dealt by Germany—have been more disastrous to the British navy since the outbreak of the war.

Fourth Hardest Blow of War.

They were the sinking of the aircraft carrier Courageous with a loss of 578 men, the battleship Royal Oak with 786 men, and the armed merchantman Rawalpindi with 265 men.

Details of where or how the collision occurred were not given, but it was disclosed that it happened yesterday.

Other Ship Undamaged.

The admiralty said the other ship, which was not immediately identified, was undamaged.

Only one officer and 22 men were saved, it said. The Duchess was commanded by Lieutenant Commander R. C. H. White.

The Duchess was a warship of 1,375 tons and was completed Jan. 24, 1933. She carried a normal complement of 145 men.

FINNS SHOOT OUR TROOPS, THEN SKI AWAY, REDS WAIL

MOSCOW, Dec. 13 (AP).—A soviet newspaper complained tonight that sharpshooters of Finland's white clad ski units were resorting to the "use of bandit tactics in sudden attacks on our columns." The "bandit tactics" cited included skiing in stocking feet.

"The enemy does not engage in open battle," wrote the war correspondent of Red Karelia, which is published near the Finnish frontier. "Hidden under white robes and thus skilfully camouflaged, they suddenly dart from the woods to shoot at our advancing units. Then in all haste they run, frequently taking off their boots to ski only in their stockings."

Another article described the profusion with which the Finns are laying mines on roads and even paths.

GRIM BATTLE ON SKIS

BY MARTIN MARTELIUS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORNIO, Finland, on the Swedish Frontier, Dec. 13.—A grim struggle is developing in Finland's snowy hills and woods near the soviet Russian frontier.

Along this front the Russians are massing new armies which are reënforced from central points along the Leningrad-Murmansk railway.

The heaviest fighting is going on to the northeast and east of Kemijaervi, where Finnish ski detachments are hurrying from position to position and are reported to be everywhere repulsing new Russian battalions.

Try to Outflank Foe.

For two days the Finns have been trying to outflank the Russian troops which have moved southwest from Salla. In this region the terrain is rather open, sloping westward to the Kemi river. Southwest of Salla, on one of Finland's most popular skiing grounds, the Finns' trained armed skiers are battling Russian ski troops and are reported to be excelling them in shooting and mobility.

Refugees reaching Rovaniemi, to the west of the battle area, told of the heroic Finnish defense of a 100 year old church in Salla until the church was wrecked by soviet artillery and the town was taken by Russian troops.

Cover Hill with Corpses.

The refugees reported that motorized Russian battalions, advancing between famous ski hills, attacked the Finnish troops holding the church. After the bulk of the Finnish force retired in good order, a unit of crack troops held the position until the hill before them was covered with corpses, the retired swiftly.

Finnish war planes have been bombarding the Leningrad-Murmansk railway and the military highway to Murmansk, and Russian troops in the arctic region to the north of the Salla front are believed to be periled by a lack of food, ammunition, and necessary reënforcements.

BRITISH CHASE GRAF SPEE INTO PORT; 36 KILLED

60 Wounded in Fight of 14 Hours.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 14, Thursday.—The German minister early this morning formally requested internment of the pocket battleship Graf Spee for the duration of the war, it was understood here. The Graf Spee was hopelessly crippled in its battle yesterday with British cruisers.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP).—The British admiralty tonight announced that a British submarine had sunk a German U-boat and torpedoed an enemy cruiser in the North sea. The raiding British U-boat was the same one which yesterday spotted the luxury liner Bremen steaming toward a German port, but did not sink it.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 14, Thursday (AP).—A 14 hour running sea fight between three British cruisers and a German pocket battleship ended shortly before midnight when the badly battered German warship took refuge in neutral Montevideo harbor with 36 of her crew killed and 60 injured.

Early today the German minister to Uruguay, Otto Langmann, announced that the stricken battleship was the Admiral Graf Spee—not the Admiral Scheer, as previously reported.

Returning from a visit aboard the ship, the envoy said the dead included a lieutenant and that the commander of the ship was wounded. The commander's injuries, however, were said not to be serious.

First Word of Operations.

The disclosure of the battleship's identity was the first definite word that the Graf Spee had been operating in the Atlantic. She, the Admiral Scheer, and The Deutschland all are pocket battleships.

[The only European war dispatches in which the Admiral Graf Spee had figured were those which followed the British air raid on Kiel, Germany, Sept. 4, the second day of the war. On Sept. 19 the British airman who dropped the first bomb of the war declared in an authorized interview given out in London that the Admiral Graf Spee was the principal target of that raid. Germany denied that the Graf Spee was hit.]

The British victory was not without its casualties, however, for the British admiralty in London admitted one of its three cruisers, the fast 8,390 ton cruiser Exeter, had been put out of action after four hours of the fight.

But the other two British warships, the 7,030 ton cruiser Achilles and the 6,985 ton Ajax, trailed the Admiral Graf Spee to her refuge and took up positions just outside the harbor.

Guns Still Trained on Victim.

Their grim guns, hardly cooled from the furious battle, were still trained on the little battleship which earlier in the day had attacked one of them off the coast.

The battle was fought within the Americas' neutrality belt, and much of it was within sight of the Uruguayan shore where the reverberating roar of the great guns was heard and the flashes of gunfire observed.

[Officials at Washington, D. C., said, however, that probably no issue would be raised on this question. They said the Graf Spee was within her rights under international law in taking refuge for repairs, but that she would have to leave within 24 hours after repairs are completed.]

Serious Damage Indicated.

Uruguayan port authorities, nervous because their shore had been exposed all day to the booming six and eight inch guns of the British men of war and the eleven inch guns of the German warship, kept curious crowds at a distance as the battleship dropped anchor. The vessel showed three gaping holes in her heavy armor.

The battered warship chanced upon

BOWLERS TO ROLL UP CHEER FOR GOOD FELLOWS

Travelog Also Will Swell Basket Coffers.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Proceeds from a moving picture on travel and an exhibition bowling match will be used to swell the Good Fellow fund now being raised thruout Chicago and its suburbs for baskets of food, toys, and candy which will be taken to unfortunate families at Christmas time.

The Good Fellow button.

Tonight at 8 o'clock, Sam Campbell of River Forest, known as the "philosopher of the forest," will give his film lecture on the "Human Side of Nature." The entertainment, open to the public, will be held in the Hyde Park Methodist church, Blackstone avenue and 54th street. It will be sponsored by the Men's club of the Hyde Park Y. M. C. A. A Good Fellow collection will be taken after a talk by Charles Schoenecke.

Two Teams to Compete.

The bowling exhibition will be held Sunday at 9 p. m. in the Northtown Recreation rooms, 2519 Devon avenue. The teams will be the Schamberger Schlitz, which now is leading the North End Traveling league, one of the few major bowling leagues of Chicago, and a team of present and former baseball players.

Those on the Schlitz team are Harry Ledene Jr., Alex Bartock, Ted Hjort, Frank Kartheiser, and William Zelasko. The baseball players are Bob O'Farrell, Jimmy Archer, Ray Schalk, Red Faber, Tony Kaufman, and Gabby Hartnett.

Five families whose names were taken yesterday from the Good Fellow files in THE TRIBUNE'S Public Service office at 1 South Dearborn street were assured a merry Christmas this year. The groups that will play Santa Claus to them are the Lake City Woman's club, of which Mrs. William S. Olsen is president and Mrs. John R. Harmon, vice president, and Boy Scout troop No. 589, whose Scoutmaster is Charles Ryan, 6935 South Michigan avenue. The women will take baskets to four families and the Scouts to the other.

All Tickets Taken for Show.

All tickets for the second big radio Good Fellow party, which will be held in the W-G-N audience studio Sunday night at 8 o'clock, have been taken. Harold Stokes and his orchestra have arranged a variety program for this period known as "Your Sunday Date." The Good Fellow speaker will be announced in the Metropolitan section of next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

There are three classes of Good Fellows—the Basket Good Fellow who delivers personally a basket to a deserving family; the General Good Fellow, who contributes $1 or more to buy baskets, and the Club Good Fellow. Club Good Fellows are members of organizations which contribute $1 per member to buy baskets. The accompanying coupon is for the convenience of all who wish to join the work of the Good Fellows.

ASKS 26 MILLION TO FINANCE WORK ON SUBWAY IN '40

Harrington Explains Needs to Aldermen.

Philip Harrington, city commissioner of subways, asked the council finance committee last night to appropriate $26,170,000 from the traction fund to be used in subway work in 1940. The committee is considering the city's 1940 budget.

A million dollars of this total, he suggested, should be allocated to the city council committee on local transportation, to pay for the expenses of an election [provided one is held in 1940] to approve or disapprove a general traction ordinance. The rest would be used in subway construction.

Asks More for Extension.

Harrington said that the cost of the subways now planned would be 46 million dollars, of which the federal government would furnish 18 million dollars. So far the city has spent 7 million dollars. If the council allows his full request the city's total would be 33 millions dollars or 5 million dollars more than the present program requires.

The additional sum, he explained, would be set aside as a reserve for extension of the Dearborn street subway west to connect with the Garfield park elevated line at Sangamon street.

Municipal Court Bailiff Albert J. Horan told the committee earlier that he will need $822,500 for salaries of deputy bailiffs next year, instead of $776,500, as appropriated this year, because of the new law which places women on juries.

Seeks 17 Women Bailiffs.

"I'll have to keep at least 17 women bailiffs to take care of women jurors," he explained.

The committee approved his request for an increase when he agreed to take a cut of $6,700 in his request for other expenses and services. The total 1940 budget for his office is now $919,000. He originally requested $925,800.

Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt told the committee an increase in water rates, or a reduction in the 25 per cent discount now given for prompt payment of water bills, will be necessary because of increased operation costs when proposed water filtration plants are completed.

The committee asked Hewitt to confer with City Controler Robert B. Upham on his request for $18,112,102 to operate the water department plus a proposed $15,983,150 bond issue to be used for construction expenses.

N. STATE STREET IS BEING RUINED, CROWE LAMENTS

Charges City Has Junked 1931 Widening Plan.

Ald. Dorsey Crowe [42d] protested to the city council finance committee yesterday that State street from Kinzie street to Chicago avenue is being ruined by the dead end condition resulting from the removal of the State street bridge, the damage to pavement and buildings caused by subway construction, and the fact that the 1931 plan to widen the street to 115 feet is not being followed.

"First," Ald. Crowe told the committee, which is considering the 1940 budget, "we were told the State street widening program could not be included in the Chicago superhighway program because it would delay work on the subway. The result has been that the subway has delayed work on State street.

Tells Plight of Merchants.

"The bridge was removed this year so that the subway could be constructed under the river. The new bridge is to be built from a $3,500,000 bond fund. While it is under construction there is no traffic on North State street, and property owners and merchants are barely able to hang on.

"Many of them believed that when the bridge, which is to be 115 feet wide, and the viaduct, which is to be 108 feet wide, were finished they would have a widened State street.

"We now learn that this is not the case. Plans for the viaduct show the north end of it is to be reduced to 66 feet, the present building line width on State street. In addition, the state recently approved plans to repave State street, but to keep the same building line by hacking off part of the sidewalks to make a wide roadway." [The plan Crowe referred to is to widen the roadway with $313,000 of city motor fuel tax funds. The present roadway of State street at that point is 38 feet; the plan is to widen it to 51 feet.]

Demands Project Go Ahead.

Crowe explained to the committee that he fears approximately $1,700,000 remaining in unsold bonds originally issued for the State street widening project might be used by the city to pay damages due property owners affected by the viaduct.

"Instead of letting that happen, I believe the widening project should go ahead," he contended. "The original appraisals of damages to property to be affected were made in 1931, and were too high. I understand many of those property owners are ready to take a reduction. This remaining bond fund may be enough to pay them and then have the widening work completed by the WPA."

Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the finance committee, said Crowe's proposals would be referred to a subcommittee of the finance committee. This subcommittee will take up the entire State street problem at a conference with Mayor Kelly today.

State Street Rings Today with Music of Christmas

The State street council's amplification system, a mile and a quarter long, on which Christmas music and entertainment will be broadcast to shoppers, will give its first program at noon today. Among those who will be in the studio in the Republic building are Mayor Kelly, David Mayer, president of the council; George Richardson of the downtown council, and Capt. David Flynn of the traffic division of the police.

REP. KELLER SCOFFS AT GIVING OIL LANDS TO FORMER OWNERS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP).—Representative Kent E. Keller [D., Ill.], today declared that "ultra-Republicans" are endeavoring to embarrass him by suggesting that the federal government return to private ownership lands at the Crab Orchard project in southern Illinois where oil has been discovered.

Keller said in an interview that "Crab Orchard will go on, despite attempts of people who have been against Crab Orchard from the start."

The huge soil conservation and flood control project is in Keller's district. He has led movements to obtain WPA and other funds for it. Last week Representative Everett M. Dirksen [R. Ill.] suggested that the government return the oil areas to the former private owners, saying the owners had been unwilling to part with it in the first place.

FIGHTS OFF PAIR OF BANDITS; ONE SUSPECT SEIZED

Charles McGrail, 23 years old, of 4337 Drexel avenue, fought off two colored bandits last night in front of 4140 Cottage Grove avenue. As they fled one wheeled and fired at McGrail. He went to the Wabash avenue police station to report the crime and while there Excell Tucker, colored, of 4933 Dearborn street, walked in with a bullet wound in the back. Allan Thatcher of 4141 Cottage Grove avenue, who had seen the holdup, identified Tucker as one of the bandits. Police, surmising he had been hit by the shot fired at McGrail, took him to the Bridewell hospital.

THRU THE YEARS: TRIBUNE GROWTH TOLD AT BANQUET

Founded and Built on the Tradition of Service.

The annual banquet of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE advertising department was held at the Drake hotel last night. Ninety guests from other departments of the newspaper, in addition to the 150 members of the advertising staff thruout the country, attended.

Each year, Chesser M. Campbell, advertising manager and toastmaster, told the group, this banquet takes on more and more of the character of an all-Tribune organization affair, in which the history of the paper is recalled, its outstanding achievements noted, and its plans made for the future.

Edward S. Beck, for many years managing editor of the paper and now assistant to the editor, made the speech of the evening. He told the younger members of the staff what the paper was like when he came on it nearly 47 years ago, when Joseph Medill was the editor.

Eleven Papers in Field.

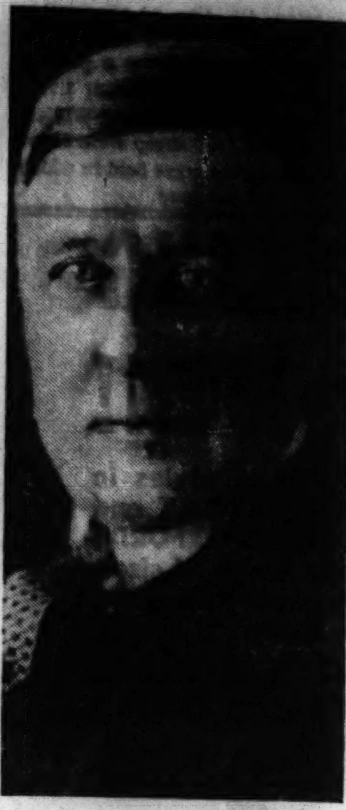
There were 11 newspapers in the Chicago field at that time, Mr. Beck recalled. Of these only two survive. Mr. Beck analyzed the cause of these failures and of THE TRIBUNE's steady growth thru the years, placing the cause of the latter in the tradition left by Mr. Medill.

Mr. Medill, he said, was a newspaper man, first and last and all the time. He was independent and fearless and possessed great common sense. He was not tied to any political party and he was not connected with any banking or other interests. Such interests, he said, dictated to other papers and ultimately caused them to fail. This tradition of independence has been followed by subsequent editors, Mr. Beck pointed out.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher, in his brief talk, paid tribute to Mr. Beck as a man who trained the staff of THE TRIBUNE to carry the heavy tasks of today.

At the speaker's table, beside Mr. Campbell and Col. McCormick, were all the department heads and two who were referred to as "alumni," Tiffany Blake, for many years chief editorial writer, and Leo Loewenberg, retired head of the composing room. Louis Racicot, head of the engraving department, was also there. It was announced that on Jan. 1 he will retire after 53 years on the paper. An elaborate floor show preceded the speaking program.

Speaks at Banquet



E. S. Beck, assistant to the editor, who spoke at banquet of The Chicago Tribune advertising department in the Drake hotel last night.

LOOKING BACK TO '93

The text of Mr. Beck's address follows:

"A few weeks ago Col. McCormick assigned to me the pleasant task of giving you gentlemen of the advertising department some recollections concerning THE TRIBUNE of an earlier day, perhaps with the idea of throwing a light on the progress the paper has made thru the succeeding decades.

"I came to THE TRIBUNE 47 years ago next spring. The date was March 4, 1893. The momentous day was just 46 years after the paper was founded, so it constitutes practically a halfway station in the 93 years of THE TRIBUNE's existence.

"In 1893 Joseph Medill was the editor and his son-in-law, Robert Patterson, was publisher. Will Van Benthuysen, a Dutchman from Iowa, was managing editor, and Hugh Montgomery was business manager with only a small force of advertising assistants.

"Chicago in '93 was no village —there were nearly a million people here—and THE TRIBUNE had a circulation of 65,000 daily and 125,000 Sunday. Two other morning papers—the Herald and the Morning News—had larger circulations, but that did not mean larger influence, for THE TRIBUNE was definitely the Chicago journal of greatest influence and substance. It was the paper of the solid men of the city.

Fall by the Wayside.

"There were six morning papers in Chicago in 1893. Aside from THE TRIBUNE, the Morning News, and the Herald, they were the Times, the Inter Ocean, and the Globe. In addition there were five evening papers—the News, the Journal, the Mail, the Dispatch, and the Post. That's a lot of newspapers — too many — as the mortality in subsequent years demonstrated. Only one of the entire group is left alive now except THE TRIBUNE.

"Recalling those 11 Chicago newspapers and trying to analyze circumstances and causes of their various deaths, I think I discover the reason for THE TRIBUNE's survival and amazing growth. Joseph Medill was a newspaper man, first, last, and all the time. That tells it. He was dominated by no forces outside of his own brains and conscience; he was a leader in thought and action; an independent editor of great common sense—horse sense is a good name for it.

Respect of the Nation.

"He and his paper held the respect of the community and the nation. And when he died—six years after I came on the paper—he left a heritage that has been kept alive thru the years. His son-in-law [who was Capt. Patterson's father] was at the helm for the next 10 years—a man widely esteemed as one of the great newsmen of his generation. Once he said to me after some powerful citizens and advertisers had tried to sway him: 'Beck, a good newspaper man can't have any friends!' That was an extreme statement. He referred to business and political leaders who were always trying to boss the newspapers and did boss many of them; they didn't boss him.

"Following Mr. Patterson's death came Medill McCormick; then Col. McCormick and Capt. Patterson—an unbroken line of newspaper men—not capitalists or politicians with a newspaper as a sideline—and they have kept THE TRIBUNE at the front in American journalism thru all the succeeding years. There, it seems to me, is the secret: newspaper men; no outside irons in the fire. Having known him, I believe Mr. Medill would wish for no greater memorial than this succession of generations in control of the honorable destiny of his paper.

"Mr. Medill's intellectual outlook was as wide as the world. It embraced all human interests. When he was dying in San Antonio in 1899 his last words, spoken to his young grandson, Robert R. McCormick, were said to have been: 'What's the news?'

The Contemporary Papers.

"It may be worth while to glance at the contemporary Chicago newspapers in Mr. Medill's era. One of them, the Herald, was owned by a banker, John R. Walsh. He was not a newspaper man. He hired good men on his staff and they made a good paper, but he used it as an organ; as a link between his banks and his political power. There, you see, was the blight. After many changes, combinations, and vicissitudes it went the way of all bankers' newspapers.

"Another paper among the eleven had been owned by Wilbur F. Storey. His journalistic color, in material and not in typography, was yellow, if there was such a color in those days. Some of you may recall that it was Storey's Times that printed an account of a hanging with the graphic heading, 'Jerked to Jesus.' Storey conducted the Times as a copperhead paper during the civil war and once it was closed up for a few days by a general in the Union army.

"When Storey died the Times and his other paper, the Evening Mail, slowly crumbled; consolidations and changes in ownership did not save them.

One Owned by Gambler.

"One of the six morning papers—the Globe—was owned by the city's most notorious gambler, Mike McDonald. One was a hidebound organ of the G. O. P. That was the Inter Ocean, respectably conducted in that day but later to become the tool of Yerkes of traction fame and Billy Lorimer, who was kicked out of the United States senate. In the end those connections killed the paper.

"There was an evening paper, the Dispatch, owned and used by Joe Dunlop, a barefaced blackmailer who ended up in the penitentiary while his sheet faded out of life.

"Then there was the Post, a sort of orphan from the start. Under the editorship of a capitalist and grain dealer it ultimately expired.

"Another, the Journal, oldest of all, had the respect of Chicago newspaper readers back in the early '90s, but its publishers, the Wilson family, sold it, and it fell on gloomy days with one and another owner, and was finally snuffed out.

Victor Lawson's Impetus.

"There was one distinguished evening newspaper, the Daily News, founded in the '70s and conducted for many years by Victor F. Lawson, a newspaper man and a good citizen. Lawson's Morning News expired, but the Evening News has survived the years, 64 of them. Since Mr. Lawson's death it has changed management twice. The character and impetus he gave it were enormous.

"This is the record. It accounts for all 11 of the daily papers here in 1893. There was, of course, the irresistible modern tendency to consolidation, as in all industries, but I do want to make the point that the character of their ownership and control had a share in their ultimate fate. The conclusions are plain enough. Only two of the 11 survive in a city that has grown to three and a quarter times the size it boasted in '93.

The Shop of '93.

"When we look back over the files we find THE TRIBUNE of 1893 greatly different from THE TRIBUNE of 1939. In those days we had no linotype machines; everything was hand set. The only illustrations were rather sparse, crude line drawings. We had a cartoonist, too, Heaton, and for his day he was a good one.

"In the daily paper in the '90s we carried about three and one-half columns of sports—mostly in agate; practically the same amount of markets. Women's interests received scant attention, altho a grand ball at the Auditorium or in the mansion of Mrs. Potter Palmer was covered liberally with the shining names of our élite from Prairie avenue and Rush and Cass streets. Usually we had a daily column either of the theaters or of music. We had grand opera then with such great stars as Emma Calvé, Melba, Eames, Nordica and the De Reszkes. The solid men of town—I hadn't heard of the tired business man then—were taken thither by their wives, perhaps to slumber in the boxes. We also had 8 or 10 theaters in the central part of town. It was the golden era of the drama.

"Well, if markets and sports occupied small space, there was an abundance of editorial thunder; five columns per day and no punches pulled. The editorial page was considered the backbone of the paper. It pilloried its political enemies and it went after crooks with both fists—boodlers was the word then; they would be grafters now. Seriously, I often wonder what sort of a community and country we would have today if there had been no free press to expose the rascals and keep them everlastingly on the run.

Awakening of Intellectual Life.

"The year 1893 was distinguished among the Gay Nineties as the year of the World's Fair in Chicago. That great exposition provided an awakening to commerce, art and industry for the whole of the American midlands. It stirred up the intellectual life of the people and naturally the newspaper felt the benefit.

"There was another event of that year which provided a reason for a probably unprecedented newspaper enterprise. It was the inauguration of Grover Cleveland as President. The next day in Washington THE TRIBUNE printed a four page paper, using the Washington News office for its publication and circulation.

"Just to mention impressions and to 'date' the period of which I'm talking, I recall that the year '93 was still in the whiskers era. Our old music critic had a beard which reposed in his lap when he sat down. The president of the World's Fair had one that resembled a waterfall. Our chief editorial writer wore whiskers and so did one or more of the copyreaders and some of the elders of our composing room. Jim Hutchins, known widely as "The Skipper," had a fine white beard nearly a foot long.

Only One Telephone.

"One of our editorial writers wore a silk plug hat. He was an astronomer too. One of our '93 reporters was garbed in an impressive Prince Albert frock coat and a badge marking him as a G. A. R. veteran.

"Our principal night police reporter, Clifton Sparks, had the Hawkshaw manner and his beard was in the style of Napoleon III.

"We had one telephone in the entire newsroom—Main 104—on a slant topped desk and but one reporter could use it at a time. We had no typewriters—at least there were none used by reporters. Nor were there any secretaries.

"We had no social security cards, and no bonuses. We had no wars, no automobiles, no columnists, no radio, no neon signs, no moving pictures.

A Paper of Anonymity.

"The paper of that day was overwhelmingly anonymous in respect to its writers. Not a reporter's nor an editor's name appeared. The book reviewer was anonymous tho competent; the drama and music critics likewise, tho E. J. McPhelim was esteemed as one of the two greatest theatrical reporters in America. No Washington correspondent [there was but one] revealed his name above his dispatch; nor the sports writers [there were two of him], nor the star crime reporter. Not even the editorial writer who had been a friend and confidant of Lincoln or the erudite Fred Hall, who had been an assistant to Secretary Stanton during the war.

"In the year '93 our daily paper usually consisted of 12 pages; the Sunday 42 to 48 pages. The daily [2 cents] averaged about a dozen columns of display advertising and 9 or 10 columns of classified. The Sunday paper in those days [at 5 cents] went to town; an average of 70 to 80 columns of display and about the same of want ads. The paper went to press at 1 a. m. for the mail edition; at 3 a. m. for the city edition.

Old Names Still Familiar.

"In the local advertising pages we had lots of still familiar names: Field's, Carson's, Mandel's, The Hub, Revell, Tobey, John M. Smyth, the Boston Store. In this connection I recall what, somewhat later, I suppose was our first big, long time advertising contract. One day in 1902 Mr. Patterson told me that Mandel Brothers had just signed up for a full page six days a week, for a year. It was a $100,000 contract, something like $330 a page.

"Now when you glance over the files of the paper of those days and see in its pages the advertising columns proclaiming the bargains in Chicago stores that have weathered the subsequent years you realize the inestimable share that advertising has had in building up the business of the city.

Chicago On the Way.

"Back in 1893 there was an impression that the town and the newspaper were on their way and no doubt they were; partly because of the stimulation of the world's fair. But tho we were moving into modern times there were troubles ahead. The country ran into the midninety panic. The whole country bogged down with the Debs strike of 1894. It started in the Pullman shops and spread to the railways. It had a deadening effect on Chicago but it gave opportunity for effective coverage of the big news of perhaps the greatest industrial upset in the country's history up to the world war.

"The depression carried thru 1895 and the turn upward came in '96 when McKinley and sound money beat Bryan. From that time THE TRIBUNE advanced. In '97 it celebrated its 50th birthday with a large colored supplement, printed outside of the office in a job shop.

"I was much impressed about that time with an order issued by Mr. Patterson barring our staff from accepting railroad passes. The habit had grown into a great abuse and the order stirred our admiration of THE TRIBUNE's management.

"As I recall it, the order preceded by a couple of years the Interstate Commerce commission's rule against passes on the railroads.

Great Years of Progress.

"Many of you can recall our newspaper's progress thru the last 30 or 40 years. There have been great days, great labor and great achievements for THE TRIBUNE. But those events should all go into other chapters. This one is far too long already. There is a temptation to become garrulous when in memory there appears a panorama of a thousand faces of fellow workers and of incidents thru the many years. It must be resisted.

"What I've tried to do here is give you a glimpse into the Nineties when our circulation was about one-fifteenth of what it is today. It was a happy time, inspiring to ambition, rewarding to loyalty, and we all knew then just as we know today, that we were working on a great newspaper—fearless, forthright, and undominated."

New Yorkers Picket Hall as British Leader Talks

New York, Dec. 13 [Special].—Alfred Duff-Cooper, former first lord of the British admiralty, tonight delivered a lecture before about 1,500 persons in the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences while 80 uniformed policemen and detectives guarded the building and men and women pickets demonstrated on the sidewalks outside. The pickets carried placards characterizing Duff-Cooper as a "war propagandist" and demanding that the United States' neutrality be upheld.

DOZEN CAPTAINS IN NAVY CHOSEN REAR ADMIRALS

Younger Men Promoted by President.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—President Roosevelt today named 12 new rear admirals for the navy. The new officers of flag rank had been selected and recommended for promotion by a naval selection board.

Admiral Richardson.

The appointment of the new officers is part of the general shakeup of the navy initiated last week when several high ranking officers were shifted and the United States fleet was given a new chief in Admiral James Otto Richardson.

In appointing the new rear admirals the selection board and the President passed over many captains to secure younger men in flag rank. The senior of the 12 new men stood 35th on the list of captains last July 1.

Younger Men Selected.

Most of the new rear admirals stood between 50th and 75th in rank in grade. There are more than 300 captains in the navy.

The senior of the newly appointed rear admirals is John Henry Towers, who held the rank of acting admiral as assistant chief of the navy bureau of aeronautics. He commanded the navy's 1919 trans-Atlantic flight. At 54 he is the oldest navy flyer in active service.

Other rear admirals are a year or two younger, with only one exception. In the past most rear admirals have entered flag rank almost at the age of 60.

Other Officers Promoted.

Other newly named rear admirals are: Ferdinand L. Reichmuth, Isaac C Kidd, Roland M. Brainard, Sherwoode A. Taffinder, Alexander Sharp, Aubrey W. Fitch, Robert A. Theobald, Raymond A. Spruance, Henry K. Hewitt, Felix X. Gygax, and Charles A. Dunn.

The appointments must be confirmed by the senate when that body meets at its next session.

Among commanders approved for promotion to captains were Norman C. Gillette, 7113 Harvard avenue, Chicago; Richard Conolly, 509 Julian street, Waukegan, Ill., and Clarence Gulbranson, 919 Clinton place, River Forest, Ill.

TWO THIEVES RUN RADIO BLOCKADE; THEN A ROBBERY

Two automobile thieves escaped in a running exchange of shots with Lieut. Moody Simpson of Zion last night, then doubled back thru a police radio blockade and staged a $200 holdup in Zion.

The blockade was set up after Lieut. Simpson had pursued the thieves across the state line to within four miles of Kenosha, Wis., where he lost their trail. The license number of the car, stolen from Elmer Falk, Zion bakery employé, was 127-147. It was a black Chevrolet sedan.

At 1 o'clock this morning occupants of a black Chevrolet bearing a license whose first three numbers were 127 stopped Kenneth Folder, an orchestra leader, after he stepped off a North Shore train at 25th and Galilee streets in Zion. Two men took $200 from Folder. Sheriff Thomas E. Kennedy said he was convinced they were the thieves Lieut. Simpson had chased.

WARS IN EUROPE BRING RUSH FOR CITIZENSHIP; LARGEST SINCE 1929

Europe's wars are proving a great convincer for the merits of American citizenship. Fred J. Schlotfeldt, director of immigration and naturalization, reported that since July 1 the number of persons naturalized in the Chicago area was the highest since quota restrictions took effect in 1929.

Since the start of the new fiscal year, July 1, a total of 12,783 applications for citizenship papers have been received. This was 1,605 more than in the same period a year ago. The year ending June 30 saw 22,803 persons naturalized, high for the last decade. A projection of the present average thru next June would produce a new record of 26,077 naturalizations.

ASSESSOR CLARK CUTS HIS BUDGET REQUEST $72,000

County Assessor John S. Clark announced yesterday that he has sent a request to the county board that the 1940 budget appropriation for his office be set at $927,704. This is $72,000 less than the $999,704 he originally sought. Clark said he had pared figures wherever possible to effect this reduction, and that $927,704 is the minimum at which his office can operate and still perform all its functions properly. The county board has appropriated $900,700 for his department in the tentative budget. A public hearing on the appropriation will be held next Thursday.

2 HIGH SCHOOL YOUTHS ADMIT ROBBING DAIRY

Edward J. Bernier, 18 years old, 2224 Burling street, a graduate of Waller High school, and Donald Kaplonek, 17, of 2246 Burling street, a pupil at the school, confessed yesterday that they robbed the business establishment of Bernier's former employer of $717 early Sunday after clubbing the night watchman.

The robbery was at the Niles Dairy Products Company, Inc., at 6522 Milwaukee avenue in Niles township. Its owner, Oscar A. Mueller, enabled Bernier to complete school by giving him employment for two years. Bernier quit last September.

Bernier said he clubbed the watchman, Edward Machalski, 3250 Wrightwood avenue, after Kaplonek had surprised him with a broken revolver. Lieut. George Le Grue of the Morton Grove county highway police said $709 was recovered.

The two young robbers were held to the grand jury on a charge of robbery with a gun by Justice of the Peace Elmer J. Tone.

80 KILLED, 200 HURT; RUMANIAN PLANT BLOWS UP

BUCHAREST, Dec. 14, Thursday (AP).—Eighty persons were killed and 200 others were gravely injured today in an explosion at a cellulose plant under military control at Zarnesti.

Many of the injured were feared to be dying. Whole families were wiped out in their sleep by the early morning blast of an overheated 1,000 gallon kettle of chemical. Among them were the families of two factory directors and an engineer.

EVERYDAY WATERLOOS

By CALEB

THE dramatis personae were a customer and a salesperson—the former intent, apparently, on making himself as difficult as possible; the latter equally intent on disregarding such seeming unreasonableness. The contest between these two attitudes continued for several minutes . . . but through it all the lady behind the counter remained smiling and unperturbed.

Finally, the pugnacious patron of this little tale burst out laughing, and made a confession, "I was trying you out," he apologized. "I had made a bet that I could upset the first Field salesperson I met—and you'll admit I tried! But you win, and I'm glad you did." The order he then gave her made business amends, as well. . . .

This overheard episode set me thinking of the thousands of "everyday Waterloos" that are won or lost in the experiential careers of us all. Of the moments or hours when our poise, courage, tenacity, humor, or general sense of values in human relationships, or in the discharge of our duties, are critically tested—and the question is decided whether we turn out, at the finish, to be Napoleons or Wellingtons.

Particularly in large cities, the complexities and pressures of individual living in these modern days are greater than in the small town, or than those of the long-ago yesterdays. Hurry and noise, crowds and cramped spaces, the social whirl, the business grind, the nervous tension of "keeping up with the clock"—all combine to stretch stamina to its limits. Knowing these for facts to be faced helps considerably. "Forewarned is forearmed." But cultivating a philosophy of adaptation to them is something that helps still more.

Adapting and adjusting, according to authorities on behavior, are in reality the secret difference, as we continue living, between merely bumping about on the stream, and advancing with its current. The saleswoman cited above, being adaptive instead of antagonistic, could, and did, win her Waterloo. Just as, in physical terms, the log-roller, the horseman, the wire-walker, the acrobat, the sailor on the heaving deck, win the onlooker's applause by keeping their balance—so in psychic and mental terms, our own technique for meeting the shifts and hazards of daily existence is maintained. And it is comforting to know that, in this direction as in any other, persistent practice brings us closer and closer to perfection.

TAX TAKERS AND TAX PAYERS TALK GRAVE PROBLEMS

Meet Together for First Time at Forum.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

A three-day forum on tax problems opened in the Palmer House yesterday under auspices of the Illinois Tax commission. Forty civic, commercial and educational organizations are co-operating.

This is the first time in the history of the state that the tax-paying public and the taxing officials have come together on a state-wide basis, according to Prof. Simeon E. Leland, chairman of the commission. Speakers agreed that the tax situation is becoming critical, and posed these questions:

How can we keep up with mounting government costs? What should be done about relief, a basic cause of tax increases? How can taxes be simplified and the laws improved?

The Future of Home Owners.

"Confiscatory taxes and threats of more and more taxes to come do not present to prospective home owners in Illinois an enticing future," said W. N. Bloomer of Bloomington, secretary of the Illinois Taxpayers' association.

"A piece of property is of no more value than the capitalized value of the net income it will produce. It does not require much taxation to socialize the entire possible net income of property and each additional increase brings nearer the day when the holder must turn over his property to the state.

"America now takes 25 per cent of the national income in taxes, Germany and Italy approximately a half, while Russia has gone considerably further. We can choose that road if we desire or we can turn back."

New York Mayor Speaks.

The tax commission meeting and the Chicago Association of Commerce held a joint luncheon attended by more than one thousand persons. Mayor Kelly said the tax system in this state is inadequate. All that Chicago wants, he said, is a square deal and home rule. He expressed the hope some practical suggestions would come from the conference.

The mayor presented Mayor F. H. La Guardia of New York as the chief speaker. La Guardia said the forum came just in the nick of time, for after the first of the year and until November next there would be no possibility of intelligent and honest discussion of anything.

La Guardia suggested a uniform tax system with the federal government serving as the collection agency. He explained, by way of example, that the federal government could collect a 10 per cent income tax in the states and, if a state had a 3 per cent income levy, then the government would give back to that state its 3 per cent share of the collections in the state.

The current status of relief was explained by Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. He said a review of the relief rolls now under way might reduce them about 10 per cent.

Taxes for Relief

This chart represents a dollar of actual expenses during the same fiscal year.

S. L. Nudelman, state director of finance, said yesterday that the retail occupational [sales] tax accounted for 37¾ per cent of Illinois revenue in the fiscal year ending last June 30. Other principal sources of return were motor fuel tax, 19 per cent; motor vehicle tax, 11 per cent; utility tax, 4¼ per cent; liquor taxes, 5 per cent; corporation and insurance taxes, 4½ per cent; inheritance tax, 2½ per cent, and federal aid, 10½ per cent. The remaining 5½ per cent was drawn from varied sources.

The director's report stated that 21 per cent of the state's expenditures, or $47,775,499, went for emergency relief. Old age disbursements of $30,042,332 accounted for 13¼ per cent. Nudelman said that public assistance, including state institutions, consumed 44 per cent of the state's spending.

EMERGENCY PLAN TO COLLECT BACK TAXES PROPOSED

Committee Urges Waiving of Old Penalties.

An emergency program to reduce Cook county's burden of half a billion dollars in delinquent taxes was proposed yesterday by a Chicago Bar association committee. From 50 to 100 million dollars could be collected in a short time by adoption of the program, the committee estimated.

The report proposed that penalties be waived on all real estate taxes prior to 1936, and that a single interest item of 6 per cent be substituted for the penalties. Property owners would be permitted to take advantage of this plan if they paid their 1936-'38 taxes in full with penalties. The penalties are now fixed at 1 per cent a month.

Foreclosure Actions Urged.

When property owners refused to pay under this plan, the report recommended immediate foreclosure and sales at auction to the highest bidder.

The committee also urged the filing of suits to collect delinquent personal property taxes, which make up half of the total delinquencies. Judgments obtained in the suits should be promptly enforced by levy, the report suggested.

Can't Await New Laws.

The present delinquency problem cannot await settlement by new legislation, the report said. It remarked, however, that as part of a longer time program, new revenue measures are needed for support on the county government, which now subsists largely on tax penalties.

The report was drafted by a subcommittee of the bar association's emergency committee on tax delinquency.

BEATEN AND ROBBED OF $110.

HOOVER IN CITY TO CONFER ON FINNISH RELIEF

Former President Herbert Hoover stopped in Chicago yesterday to confer with financial leaders about the Finnish relief project which he is sponsoring. Late in the day he boarded a plane for New York, accompanied by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of that city, who was in Chicago to address a joint meeting of the Illinois tax commission and the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Mayor La Guardia has accepted the New York chairmanship of the relief project. He and Hoover planned to confer on details of the project en route to New York and later with business leaders there. Contributions to the fund will be sought nationally, it was said.

BASIC DEFECTS IN CONGRESS ST. PLAN OUTLINED

Engineer Gives Facts to Council Committee.

BY HAL FOUST.

Basic faults in the city's plans for a $32,000,000 superhighway in Congress street were described to a special subcommittee of the city council yesterday by George Barton, engineer for the Chicago Motor club. He challenged its location, its downtown extension, its western terminal, and its general characteristics including the widths of its pavements and of its right of way.

Barton declared that his facts raised serious questions demanding thoro investigation before adoption of a construction program for a west side superhighway.

Questions and the Facts.

Some of his questions, with a summary of the facts he offered as bases for these questions, were as follows:

QUESTION—Is Congress street too far south for the best service to traffic?

THE FACTS—The east and west axis of downtown employment, the population that travels in the rush hours, has been moving northward and is now a bit north of Randolph street. The axis of residences of automobile owners between Fullerton avenue and 31st street is just north of Washington boulevard. The center of traffic density at Harlem avenue on the main east and west thorofares between and including North avenue and Cermak road is at Randolph street.

QUESTION — Would downtown traffic to and from the west side be able to reach a superhighway terminating as such at Canal and Congress streets?

THE FACTS — Existing surface streets to and from such a terminal are now congested during rush hours. They lack capacity for additional traffic volumes. Large volumes of turning movements would be introduced on the surface street approaches so that they could not carry even their present volumes.

Jam for Mail Trucks.

QUESTION— Would Chicago's mail service be delayed?

THE FACTS—The mail moves in trucks entering of leaving the postoffice by way of the postoffice arcade. The Congress street plan would jam this arcade with superhighway traffic. The mail trucks could not make their turning movements to and from loading and unloading platforms.

QUESTION — Should connections be made with rural highways and if so is Congress street the best location for a west side superhighway to make such connections?

THE FACTS—Under the present plan, the superhighway would terminate at Columbus park, dumping its traffic onto local suburban streets. A future extension to rural highways should be part of the original conception.

QUESTION—Should ramps along the superhighway route introduce heavy left and right turn movements on north and south thorofares such as Ashland avenue and Western avenue?

THE FACTS — These north and south thorofares are now so crowded that left turns have to be barred at east and west boulevards with traffic volumes small compared with superhighway volumes.

Extension to Outer Drive.

QUESTION—Should a west side superhighway be extended to the outer drive? And should a north and south branch, west of the south branch of the Chicago river, connect the west side super with the northwest route being designed by the county highway department.

THE FACTS—Engineers for the Chicago Plan commission have recommended a downtown quadrangle of superhighway as a margin distributor for loop traffic and as a hub for a superhighway system. The outer drive exists as the east side of such a quadrangle. The county, in connecting the northwest super with Lake Shore drive, will build the north side of the rectangle and will cooperate with the city in building the west side of the motor loop. This would make the west side super part of the city-wide system. It would distribute downtown traffic. It would make the lake front accessible to the west side.

QUESTION—Should the west side superhighway enter the downtown quadrangle near its northwest corner?

THE FACTS—With the northwest route and with the north side outer drive, this would make three supers entering downtown on the north. With a projected south side superhighway and a southwest superhighway and the south side outer drive, there would be three supers entering the south side of downtown. Otherwise, with the west side route on Congress street, four supers would enter downtown on the south and two on the north.

Waste of Tax Money.

QUESTION—Are the present plans extravagant with gasoline tax money?

THE FACTS — Perhaps motorists should not be forced to pay for extra right of way for the use of subway tracks. Three lanes in each direction, rather than the four now in the plans, would carry more than the estimated traffic volumes. A right of way half a block wide rather than a block wide would accommodate traffic needs and save $5,000,000 in costs.

QUESTION — Should the express pavements be depressed or on a landscaped embankment?

THE FACTS—Pedestrians cannot be barred from trespassing on a depressed parkway, such as contemplated. Drainage, as demonstrated by the frequently flooded subways under railroads, is a problem. Snow removed from a depressed driveway would melt in the daytime, run onto pavements and freeze at night. In passing under cross streets, express traffic would be passing from sunshine to shadow every 14 seconds with variations in freezing and thawing conditions on the slab.

Another speaker, Ray McCarthy, chairman of the Chicago Real Estate board's traffic and transportation committee, urged the aldermen to consider as a substitute for the Congress street plan the construction of a superhighway to serve trucks as well as passenger cars in a location in or near Lake street. He said truck traffic was dense on the near west side and that the industries they serve, being large taxpayers, are entitled to consideration.

Julian T. Fitzgerald, president of the Congress Street Development council, and William S. Devlin, secretary of the West Town Chamber of Commerce, attacked the Chicago Motor club for its criticisms of the Congress street plan. They approved the present plan with a modification that would widen Congress at grade east to Michigan avenue rather than stopping the widening at State street. A similar suggestion was made by Wallace J. Stebbins of the Greater Central Business association and by Leo Hellwe of the South State Street Improvement association.

Ald. George D. Kells [28th], chairman of the subcommittee, said another public hearing will be held at 10:30 o'clock next Wednesday in the council chambers. He urged all civic organizations to present any constructive criticisms. He has not as yet invited the postoffice department to present its studies of the mail transportation problem.

Facts on Proposed Superhighways

Heavy black lines and broken lines mark routes of proposed superhighways. If the west side superhighway is built from the north side of the quadrangle, then the north side and the south side will each have three outlets, whereas if Congress street is used, the south side will have four outlets and the north side only two.

Auto Hits a Lamp Post; It Falls and Injures Woman

Driver Gets 10 Days in Jail After Auto Hits Street Car

Henry Hansen, 44 years old, of Prairie View, was sentenced yesterday in the Safety court to 10 days in the county jail for reckless driving. Judge Frank E. Donoghue also suspended his driver's license for six months. On Sept. 28 Hansen's car skidded and struck a light post and a street car.

PROF. R. H. GAULT HURT SERIOUSLY IN CAR COLLISION

Robert H. Gault, 65 years old, professor of psychology at Northwestern university, was injured seriously yesterday when his automobile overturned after a collision at Orrington avenue and Foster street, Evanston.

The driver of the other car was Morris Kliderman, 2046 Touhy avenue. Prof. Gault was taken to the Evanston hospital. He lives at 2332 Bryant avenue, Evanston, and is known for inventing aids for deaf and dumb people.

Woman Injured Fatally.

Miss Clara Waterman, 46, of 15021 Lincoln street, Dolton, was injured fatally by an automobile in Lincoln street near Sibley street in the suburb. The driver, Laurie Glover, 15357 3d street, Phoenix, was held for the inquest today.

John S. Pye, 65, of 2016 Jarvis avenue, was killed while walking south in route 66, 6½ miles north of Joliet, when he was struck last night by a northbound automobile driven by Victor Bernthal of Joliet.

Mrs. Helene Myers, 56, of 11754 Hale avenue, a cateress, died in St. Francis hospital, Blue Island, of injuries suffered Dec. 3 when she was struck by an automobile at 119th street and Vincennes avenue. The driver was Mrs. Edward Scheibler, 2443 West 123d street, Blue Island.

Alfred Rutan, 53 years old, 428 South 9th avenue, La Grange, a carpenter, was killed by an automobile last night as he attempted to walk across Ogden avenue at Dubois avenue in Brookfield. The driver was Myron H. Rensch, 4319 Drexel boulevard, a salesman. He was held by Brookfield police for the inquest today.

Dies of Injuries.

Adam Frederick, 68 years old, 3500 Federal street, unemployed, died in the county hospital of injuries suffered Sept. 4 when he walked into the side of a truck at State and 37th streets. The driver was Vernon Smith of Austin, Ind.

Emil Armstrong, 20, of 5929 Prairie avenue, died in County hospital shortly after he was struck at 55th and State streets by the truck of Frank Murphy, 5507 Kenwood avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 851 persons had been killed by persons in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 656 were killed in Chicago where 21,303 were injured in the same period.

STARTS INQUIRY ON DEATH CAR'S SAFETY STICKER

Edward Gorman, deputy commissioner of the motor vehicle license bureau, started an investigation yesterday to determine how a safety sticker had been obtained for an automobile with a badly blurred windshield, which killed a boy on Nov. 24. On Tuesday the Felony court dismissed a manslaughter charge against the driver, Chester Syslo, 22 years old, 1452 North Keating avenue. No mention was made in court of the condition of the windshield.

Assistant State's Attorney Joseph O'Connor said last night the dismissal of the case followed the recommendation of a coroner's jury that the death was accidental. He said this does not preclude the grand jury taking action. The prosecutor's office had called for records of the inquest and of the police investigation of the death. The victim was Guido Ghilarducci, 11 years old, 2850 North Menard avenue. He was hit in front of 5811 Diversey avenue and dragged for 30 feet by Syslo's car.

BRITONS LAUNCH AERIAL BLOW AT MINING PLANES

All Night Patrol Tries to Stop Craft at Bases.

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP).—Great Britain's air ministry announced today that its warplanes, trying out a new method of heading off German mine laying planes, made successful preventive flights under antiaircraft fire last night over four of Germany's North sea bases.

Continuous all-night aerial security patrols were carried out over Heligoland, Germany's island fortress, and seaplane bases on the islands of Sylt, Borgum, and Norderney, the ministry said.

Noting Air Minister Sir Kingsley Wood's announcement yesterday of new and more powerful aircraft, experts concluded that the security patrols involved secret specialized endurance fighters capable of flying beyond the range of ordinary craft.

Aviation sources said the British planes acted as watchdogs to prevent German mine laying planes from taking off, the idea being to nip mine laying at its source.

Waves of Planes Reported.

The ministry's reference to a continuous patrol was interpreted as meaning that planes were sent over in waves, so that some always were on guard.

Two British coastal defense planes attacked and damaged two German Dornier flying boats over the North sea on Wednesday, the air ministry said. Both enemy rear gunners were hit and both enemy aircraft were damaged by machine gun fire, it was added.

Additional aerial activity was reported over the Scottish east coast, where British planes reported they chased off high flying German raiders.

Official announcement was made that a fleet of airplanes specially fitted to transport blood for transfusions to British army hospitals in France or to any city suffering air raid casualties is standing by.

Planes Repulsed, Says Berlin.

BERLIN, Dec. 13 (AP).—The German high command reported today British airplanes hunting for the liner Bremen had been forced to turn back before reaching the German coast.

It also told of the disabling of an enemy position on the western front and the capture of a number of prisoners.

The German communique said:

"In the west, local scouting, troop and artillery activity. In the region southwest of Saarbruecken a reconnaissance squad disabled an enemy position on French soil in the strength of one officer and 10 men. The enemy lost five men and one officer, and 16 men were taken prisoner. The German squad returned without losses.

"In connection with the return of the Lloyd liner Bremen, British airplanes in the evening and night hours of Dec. 12 approached a German bay. Defense fire, setting in early from North sea islands, and warships forced the opponents to turn back without having reached the North sea coast."

French Admit Loss.

DNB, official news agency, said the latest encounters on the west front had occurred on the upper Rhine and between the Moselle river and the Palatinate forest. French artillery was said to have fired on German positions along the upper Rhine, which has seen virtually no activity.

The agency denied British reports that Germans had been repulsed in an encounter with British troops on Dec. 10.

DNB reported Britain has withdrawn a number of pursuit planes from the western front for service in England because of the frequency of German air visits.

French Admit Loss of Post.

PARIS, Dec. 13 (AP).—Germans captured a small outpost and 10 prisoners in attacks on the western front yesterday, the French general staff reported tonight.

The communique follows:

"In the course of a series of encounters which took place yesterday to the west of the Saar river, one of our small outposts was captured by the enemy, who took some ten prisoners. Our line was quickly reëstablished, as announced in the night communique of Dec. 12. Today was a calm day on the whole front."

Islands Patrolled

(Story in adjoining column.)

Four islands serving as German bases which were patrolled by British airplanes, preventing enemy planes from taking off for bomb laying flights over British waters.

AIR TRAINING PLAN TO BE CUT, CANADA HEARS

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 13 [Canadian Press].—Scaling down of original estimates for the empire air training program were seen today. There were unofficial reports that orders for 1,200 North American Harvard advanced training planes and 1,400 engines had been reduced to 600 aircraft and 750 engines.

Some 100 Harvard trainers and 125 engines, it is estimated, will soon be built in Canada as an experimental order.

Many of these advanced types, capable of speeds of 250 miles an hour, have been delivered from the Inglewood, Cal., plant to United States points near the Canadian border and towed over the line to conform with export regulations of the United States neutrality law.

U. S. FILES SUIT TO GET TITLE TO PALMYRA ISLANDS

HONOLULU, Dec. 13 (AP).—Suit to acquire title to the Palmyra Islands, a group about 850 miles southwest of the Hawaiian Islands, was filed in federal court here today thru Ingram Stainback, United States attorney. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Fullard-Leo of Honolulu and seven others were named respondents.

The Fullard-Leos claim ownership of 50 of the 52 islets in the Palmyra group. One of them is involved in a $13,000,000 naval base development.

No admission of private ownership was made in the suit, which set forth that title has remained with the American government since the annexation of Hawaii.

BRITISH CRUISERS CHASE A GERMAN RAIDER OFF SEA

the British cruiser Ajax just after dawn. The Ajax was convoying the French merchantman Formosa from Brazil to Uruguay.

The Admiral Graf Spee rushed to the attack, but was momentarily repulsed by the six inch guns of the speedy Ajax, and then found herself engaged in an unequal combat with three British men of war instead of one.

Volley After Volley.

The Exeter and the Achilles came up foaming. The Achilles' six inch artillery and the Exeter's eight inch guns spoke in volley after volley. The Admiral Graf Spee apparently found the Exeter's guns particularly damaging, for she turned her attention away from the rest of the pack and devoted her batteries exclusively to the Exeter.

As a result the Exeter was damaged and compelled to quit the battle. Meanwhile, the Formosa steamed away to safety.

Despite the Exeter's withdrawal the other two British ships continued to concentrate their fire on the Graf Spee and she took to her heels.

German Ship Overtaken.

Altho built to outrun battleships and to outgun cruisers, the 26 knot Graf Spee found herself overtaken by the 32.5 knot Ajax and Achilles.

The two lighter cruisers, each with its eight 6-inch guns, were able to throw shells with the Graf Spee despite its heavier six 11-inch guns.

Observers at Punta del Este lighthouse on the Uruguayan coast saw the engagement, with the Graf Spee fleeing in a southwesterly direction in evident search of a haven. Her guns were still blazing, while her enemies' cannonading continued relentlessly, the black smoke from their funnels leaving a trail across the horizon as they put on forced draft to circle and maneuver.

Armored almost as heavily on their sides as the Graf Spee, but with lighter protection for their gun turrets, they pursued their prey until she brought up in Montevideo harbor.

There huge silent crowds, which had listened to an almost round-by-round description of the battle as relayed by radio from observers at Punta Del Este lighthouse, watched the German wounded brought ashore.

Bandaged seamen were brought off on stretchers to be taken to a military hospital for treatment. Although only the Exeter was reported forced to retire from the battle, the British legation here said the other two British warships, which have been engaged in South Atlantic patrol duties since the start of the war, also had suffered some damage.

"The Graf Spee was repeatedly hit," said the legation's account of the fight. Commodore H. H. Harwood, aboard the Exeter, was named as the victorious British commander.

Lighthouse observers at first reported early tonight that one of the British warships in the fight was the 32,100 ton battleship Barham. An admiralty communique from London failed to bear out this identification, however.

Deadly Combat Down Coast.

The British version said the battle started at 6 a. m. and continued until after 8 p. m. All day the deadly combat continued down the Uruguayan coastline.

First reports of the engagements were in the form of rumors, which persisted thruout the afternoon. The first definite information on the battle came at 4 p. m., when the Punta del Este lighthouse sighted the German warship moving at great speed with a British warship in her wake.

Two hours later, Capt. F. Rodriguez, in charge of the Uruguayan port authority, said he sighted, about 20 miles off shore, what appeared to be the German pocket battleship churning westward at great speed. Two British warships, then, were some 20 miles behind their prey.

At 8 p. m., with the warring ships no longer visible, the lighthouse at Punta del Este lighthouse reported hearing 20 detonations from the sea, lasting 10 minutes.

There was a brief pause and the guns opened up, thunderously, at 8:15 p. m.

Nine Miles Off Coast.

By this time the ships were nine miles off Punta Ballenas, 15 miles down the coast from Punta del Este.

At 8:45 p. m. intense gunfire again roared out, after a brief period of silence. By then, however, complete darkness cloaked the ships.

Today's drama at sea came 25 years to the month after British Admiral Sir Doveton Sturdee caught German Admiral Von Spee's two armored cruisers, three light cruisers and three supply ships off the Falkland islands, which lie near the southern tip of Argentina. All but one German warship were sent to the bottom.

That was on Dec. 8, 1914, and the victory gave Britain undisputed command of main ocean routes for the rest of the war.

Speed of 26 Knots.

The Graf Spee and Germany's two other pocket battleships, the Deutschland and the Admiral Scheer, all 10,000 tons, have a speed of 26 knots.

The pocket battleships were built to outrun heavy battleships and to outshoot fast cruisers of other naval powers. They are Diesel powered and have a cruising radius of 10,000 miles.

Experts have said that only three of Britain's warships and two of France's have enough speed and power to catch and subdue the three German fighting ships, but that several small and fast craft, operating together, could bring them to account.

The five ships, any of which could make a fight of it single handed, are the British battle cruisers Hood, 42,100 tons; the Repulse, 32,000 tons, and Renown, 32,000 tons, and the new French battleships Dunkerque, 26,500 tons, and Strasbourg, 26,500 tons.

Trap for Cruisers Seen.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 13.—In certain diplomatic circles here tonight there was a theory that the German cargo boat, Ussukuma, which sailed from Bahia Blanca, Argentina, on Dec. 3, was used to decoy the British cruisers into combat with the Graf Spee. The Ussukuma had sailed from Lourenco Marques, Portuguese Southeast Africa, the day before the war started, bound for Germany. When its captain received news war had started he ran for the South American coast and entered Bahia Blanca.

The interest of the British and American embassies was aroused by the fact that the captain and other officers maintained close contact with the German embassy there.

Both embassies detailed men to watch for the Ussukuma's sailing. The American embassy may have suspected the Ussukuma was engaging in naval operations within the 300 mile safety zone established at the conference of American republics at Panama.

The day before the Ussukuma sailed from Bahia Blanca its captain and first mate made another trip to Buenos Aires and conferred with the German embassy. A few days after it left Bahia Blanca four of its lifeboats were found floating at sea.

It was variously reported the Ussukuma had been sunk and also captured by the cruiser Achilles. The fact that a live cat and some sailors' personal effects were left in the boats indicated the Achilles had hurried away from the scene. The British embassy finally said the Ussukuma had not been sunk but was captured by the Achilles. It explained that the Achilles believed a submarine was near and had hurried away without destroying the lifeboats.

In view of the naval battle which occurred, it was believed the Achilles received word either by wireless or from its own airplanes that the Graf Spee was near. Last Friday the Achilles put into Montevideo for refueling and remained until Sunday, when it evidently steamed northward to a rendezvous with the Ajax, which had been patroling the waters off the Brazilian state of Rio Grande do Sul.

Hijacking Art Languishes; City Has 1 Case in 2 Years

Hijackers have learned their lesson in Chicago, Michael Phelan, head of the police cartage detail, reported yesterday. Hijacking was once a major racket in Chicago. But the only hijacking in the first 11½ months of this year was that of a truck load of cigarets, valued at $5,500, on Sept. 7. Last year there was none.

420 Saved by Japanese Rescue Vessel.

WAKKANAI, Japan, Dec. 13 (AP).—The wrecking in a blizzard of the Russian steamer Indigirka off Hokkaido, northernmost of Japan's main islands, was feared today to have cost the lives of more than 700 Russians, many of them women and children.

Tonight 350 bodies were washed up on a four mile sector of the island's shore. Surging waves prevented efforts to reach the half sunken Indigirka.

The heavily laden vessel, built in Manitowoc, Wis., in 1920, and sold to Russia in 1938, was operating in the soviet fishing service when she went aground yesterday off the perilous Hokkaido coast.

Aboard were about 1,100 persons, fishermen with their wives and children and a crew of 39.

420 Brought to Port.

The Japanese ship Karafuto Maru reached port today with 420 survivors who knew nothing of the fate of their missing comrades. It was feared the rest had drowned or frozen to death.

The survivors were suffering from exposure when the Karafuto Maru brought them to safety from the stormy scene of the wreck. One S O S was sent out by the Indigirka before a huge wave smashed her radio room, but even in that message she was prevented by blinding snow from giving her position accurately.

Possible rescue ships were held in port all day yesterday by the storm.

A Small Vessel.

Tho the Indigirka was a ship of only 2,690 tons, she was carrying a huge passenger list as do many vessels plying between northern fishing ports and Vladivostok, Russia's main eastern port. The wreck occurred on one of the sea routes between Vladivostok and Kamchatka peninsula.

The ship, formerly named the Commercial Quaker, was operated by the Mooremack Gulf line in coastal trade between New York and gulf ports before being sold to Russia in January, 1938.

Four Seized in Belgium on Espionage Charges

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 13 (AP).—An Italian citizen of German origin and three other persons were arrested at Liege today on espionage charges. Police said the Italian operated a café frequented by soldiers and that a general staff map, a machine gun and a pistol were in his room.

RUSSIA ABRUPTLY RECALLS ITS NEW ENVOY TO ROME

Ambassador Target of Italian Jeers.

ROME, Dec. 13 (AP).—The abrupt recall and hasty departure for home of Russia's new ambassador to Italy was disclosed tonight by diplomatic sources. His 15 day stay in Rome was made uncomfortable by the jeers of young Fascists outside his embassy windows.

The ambassador, Nicolai Gorelchin, left Rome yesterday for Moscow before he even had had time to present his credentials to King Victor Emmanuel.

Soviet embassy officials said they did not know why he had been called home. He left in such a hurry he did not wait for the return of his chargé d'affaires, Leon Helfand, who is on a vacation in Geneva.

Sympathizes with Finns.

Popular feeling in Italy, exemplified by a series of pro-Finnish and antisoviet demonstrations by student Fascists, has been sympathetic with Finland ever since the Red armies invaded Russia's little neighbor.

Within four days after Gorelchin arrived to take up his post, 3,000 young uniformed Fascists stood outside his embassy and shouted their disapproval of the invasion.

Three days later, on Dec. 5, police and other protective forces were called out to turn student marchers away from the building, whereupon the demonstrators massed in front of the Finnish legation, shouting "Finland, finish off the Russians!"

Seek to Enlist Italians.

These demonstrations were accompanied by attempts by several thousand Italians to enlist in the Finnish fighting forces, by reports that the Finns were using Italian made planes, and by warnings to Russia in certain sections of the Fascist press to "stay out of the Balkans."

It is true, however, that there has been no positive indication of any actual strain in official relations between Rome and Moscow, that the soviet ambassador had been officially snubbed, or that Italy's government is directly aiding the Finns.

Authoritative sources said the Italian planes being used by the Finnish air force were purchased before the soviet invasion. It also has been stated that Italy probably would withhold passports from would-be volunteers for Finland.

PADEREWSKI TO TAKE PLACE ON POLISH COUNCIL

PARIS, Dec. 13.—Replying to an invitation by Gen. Wladislas Sikorski in behalf of the Polish government of Angers, Ignace Paderewski, onetime president of Poland, has consented to become an active member of the Polish national council, it was announced today.

"Much touched by your request," he answered, "and within the limits fixed by my age and state of health, I will be proud to place myself in the service of our country and to fill the responsible position as counsellor to the president of the republic and government, of which you are chief."

Paderewski's telegram came from Morges, Switzerland, where he has been sojourning.

SWEDEN REVISES CABINET; OUSTS FOREIGN CHIEF

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 13 (AP).—Prime Minister Per Albin Hansson, in announcing formation of a new coalition cabinet today, expressed the people's "will" for material aid to Finland, but listed defense of neutrality and safeguarding of "vital supplies" as Sweden's predominant aims. The new cabinet was formed, he told the rikstag [parliament], "in consideration of the international situation" and "the requirements it demands from our people."

Appointment of Christian Gunther, former minister to Oslo, Norway, as foreign minister to replace Richard Sandler was the principal cabinet change. Sandler, in office seven years, recently incurred Russian and German displeasure when he advocated Swedish-Finnish fortification of the Aaland islands in the Gulf of Bothnia, which Russia opposed. Charges were made in the German press that he favored the Finns against the Russians.

Hansson declared the government shared the people's feeling for help of Finland, but did not elaborate. In addition to Gunther, new members of the cabinet are Gustaf Andersson, transportation; Josta Bagge, education; J. E. Domo, commerce, and S. Bergquist, minister without portfolio.

COMMONS TALKS FOR 7 HOURS; IT'S ALL ABOUT—???

First Secret Session Since World War Is Held.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Members of the house of commons, warned they must not even discuss the day's business with their wives, debated the question of Britain's war supplies for seven hours today in the first secret session of parliament since the world war.

At the end of the long discussion behind double soundproof doors the speaker authorized the following official report of the proceedings:

"Adjournment of the house was moved by the prime minister and debate took place on the organization of supplies for the prosecution of the war."

For months Labor and Liberal opposition leaders sought a secret session so they could inquire into workings of the ministry of supply without divulging secrets. Chamberlain had refused on the theory that no person could keep a secret.

Defends Aid to Finland.

Prior to the secret session Air Minister Sir Kingsley Wood said licenses had been granted a British firm to export planes to Finland. He did not agree with a questioner that planes were "badly needed supplies at home." He did not reply to a question whether there was "danger of getting the country involved in another war at the same time" by supplying Finland with aircraft.

After the question hour Chamberlain called attention to the fact that "strangers are present" and the 16 persons in the gallery, 15 of whom were women, reporters, stenographers, and attendants, were ushered out and the secret session began.

In general the opposition complains the ministry of supply has created a vast, complicated system which is "throttling national effort" instead of making the most of the nation's industry to increase war materials and prevent a repetition of Britain's "shell shortage" of the last war. The chamber, its tunnels, and ventilating systems were carefully searched and guarded before the session started and every possible approach was blocked.

Plan Report on Red Dealings.

Britain today announced it will publish a white paper showing details of her attempt to reach a military agreement with Russia. These negotiations were broken off when the soviets on Aug. 21 announced plans for a nonaggression treaty with Germany. Britain's decision to publish the paper is considered highly important here, for it is reasoned she would not have reached such a decision if she still had any hope of being able to reach an agreement with Moscow.

Lords Discuss Peace.

The old question of making peace without continuance of the war arose in the house of lords today in a debate which Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax termed "unfortunate" because it would create the wrong impression abroad that Britain was not united in its determination to fulfil its war aims.

The debate centered around whether lasting peace could be obtained now and whether a long war would not mean the country would pay a terrible price in vain.

The debate was precipitated by a suggestion by the earl of Darnley that Britain accept Belgium and Holland's proposal of mediation. Lord Darnley said Britain had not done enough after Versailles to conciliate Germany and warned against "a revenge producing victory."

Halifax contended Britain always had been prepared to negotiate and never had closed the door. He said he was certain Fuehrer Adolf Hitler was anxious for peace, but peace on his own terms. He concluded, "I don't believe at present there is evidence enough to justify the course recommended by Darnley."

5 Trawlers Sold to France Released by Coast Guard

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP).—The coast guard released today five old American trawlers sold to the French government, the delivery of which had been delayed pending a determination of legal questions involved. Altho original reports indicated these five, as well as three other trawlers, which already have sailed to France, might be used for minesweeping, the French gave official assurance that they would be employed strictly for commercial purposes. This cleared away legal barriers.

Hungary Bars Certain Sects as Foes of National Defense

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 13.—The minister of interior today issued an order suppressing certain religious sects, including Jehovah's Witnesses, the Nazarenes, the Sabbatarians, and Eleventh Day Adventists. It was stated their doctrines conflicted with the interests of national defense.

PICK JURY TO TRY FIVE ACCUSED OF ATTACK ON STORE

Selection of a jury was begun yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge John A. Sbarbaro to try five men charged with malicious mischief for breaking the window of a Goldblatt Brothers department store at 1623 Chicago avenue on Oct. 23.

The defendants are Homer Herman Maertz, 28 East Huron street; Fred Pokorny, and Douglas Campbell, 3832 Janssen avenue; George Heppner, 1113 Chicago avenue, and Joseph Schimpf, 1529 North Claremont avenue.

Jurors were examined closely about possible racial prejudices. The state charges that the five defendants were members of the Dearborn Crusaders, an anti-Semitic group. Maertz, Pokorny, and Campbell also were said to be members of the Silver Shirt league, a similar organization.

JAPAN TO SEEK TRADE TREATY WITH RUSSIANS

TOKIO, Dec. 13 (AP).—Japan is seeking a general agreement with the United States concerning policy in China, a foreign office spokesman said today in voicing hope that a new Japanese-American trade treaty will be negotiated after Jan. 26. The United States has denounced the present treaty, effective on that date.

Yakichiro Suma, the spokesman, said Japan intends to open trade treaty negotiations with Russia on Jan. 10. He admitted the soviet market is not so large as that of the United States, but said, "If Japan cannot buy from one country, she should turn to another."

a league-Finnish staff," a league official said.

The resolution describing Russia as an aggressor was considered by diplomats as one of the strongest that had come out of the league since it tried to crack down on Italy.

The resolution first noted Russia's refusal to participate in league attempts to mediate the war with Finland and Moscow's "vain" effort to justify its refusal by declaring it had recognized a "pretended" Finnish government.

[Russia has proclaimed the establishment of a "people's" government at Terijoki, Finland. It is headed by a communist leader. The Finnish government at Helsingfors has described the soviet sponsored cabinet as a "rebel" régime.]

Russia Violates Covenant.

The resolution then said: "That soviet Russia not only is guilty of violation of one of the engagements of the covenant, but has placed herself outside the covenant; that the council is competent under the terms of article XVI. of the covenant to decide the consequences arising from this situation."

The resolution thereupon recommended that the council consider the "question"—by implication, expulsion.

After reading the text of the measure, Rudol Holsti, the Finnish delegate, commented: "It could mean all or nothing—we must wait and see. As a resolution it is excellent, but we must see what its execution amounts to."

Jakob Surits, Russian ambassador to France, left Geneva for Paris this morning.

"He saw the handwriting on the wall," the ambassador's aid remarked.

TWO CHICAGOANS QUIT PARIS TO AID IN FINNISH RELIEF

Dr. Harry E. Mock, 1616 Forest place, Evanston, received word yesterday that his son, Robert, had left Paris to join three other Americans in doing relief work in Finland. Mrs. Mock said her son had been a member of an American ambulance corps attached to the French army, but that he had been released from that duty to go to Finland.

Robert Mock.

One of the men accompanying Mock was reported to be Robert Newman, a former Chicagoan. Mrs. Mock said her son had indicated in letters home that Newman fought in the Spanish civil war and is a writer.

Mock is 27 years old and a graduate of Dartmouth college. He taught at Stephens college in Missouri and went to France last June to study comparative literature.

Norman H. Davis Renamed American Red Cross Head

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP).—President Roosevelt reappointed Norman H. Davis today as chairman of the American Red Cross. The action was announced at a meeting of the board of incorporators. It also was announced that the organization has reached a new peacetime membership peak of 7,047,251. Three new members were elected to the board of incorporators—Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation; Dr. Thomas Parran Jr., surgeon general, and John L. Lewis, president of the C. I. O.

BORAH DEMANDS G. O. P. FORM ITS FOREIGN POLICY

Warns Against Giving In to Roosevelt.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] warned Thomas E. Dewey of New York and other candidates for the Republican presidential nomination today that they will not advance themselves politically by surrendering to the Roosevelt administration in matters of foreign policy.

Senator Borah, former chairman of the foreign relations committee and one of the senate's foremost champions of neutrality and nonintervention in foreign wars, delivered his warning to Dewey and other Republican leaders in a letter to Allen W. Dulles, one of the New York district attorney's campaign advisers. Dulles, Senator Borah said, had been quoted in press dispatches as favoring the elimination of foreign policy questions from the 1940 presidential campaign.

Sure It Will Be Issue.

Such a surrender to the foreign policy of the Roosevelt administration, Senator Borah declared, would be a frightful mistake from the purely strategic, or political, standpoint, and worse than a mistake from the moral standpoint.

The American people, Senator Borah contended, have not forgotten the propaganda that led us into the world war; they are fully aware of the economic and social disasters that another war would produce, and they will make foreign policy an issue regardless of what "so-called Republican leaders" say about it.

Borah did not identify any of the "so-called Republican leaders" who, he said, favored acceptance of the Roosevelt administration's foreign policy by eliminating that issue from the campaign. It is known, however, that Alf M. Landon, the Republican nominee for President in 1936, favors such a course.

Vandenberg on Record.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], a foremost contender for the presidential nomination in 1940, burned his political bridges behind him on the foreign policy question by leading the fight in the recent special session against the Roosevelt administration's neutrality act repealer.

Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.], another presidential aspirant, supported the arms embargo repealer, but does not indorse all aspects of the administration's foreign policy.

Many leading Democrats in congress have accused the President of pursuing a course of unneutrality and intervention which, if continued, will plunge the United States into the European war.

Dulles an Internationalist.

Dulles, the Dewey adviser to whom Senator Borah addressed his letter, is a New York lawyer and former diplomat. In foreign affairs he is an extreme internationalist, having gone so far as to advocate the surrender of certain attributes of national sovereignty in the formulation of a world federation of nations.

Senator Borah's letter to Dulles said:

"It is reported in the press that in speaking before the Young Republican clubs in New York City you advised against a campaign on foreign policies and favored eliminating foreign policy questions as issues in the campaign. It may be that you were not accurately quoted, since the paper did not assume to give your exact words.

"I noted in the press dispatches a few days ago also that you were one of twelve persons upon whom Mr. Dewey, one of our most active candidates for the presidency, relied for counsel and advice.

Finds Wide Interest.

"I venture the opinion that our foreign policy and foreign questions will be the most thoroly discussed and debated questions in this campaign. If an effort were made to eliminate such issues, or to minimize them, the only result of the effort, in my opinion, would be a humiliating retreat far this side of the middle of October. Any such effort would be a frightful mistake from a purely strategic standpoint and would be worse than a mistake from a moral standpoint.

"Only yesterday I observed that a large gathering of students in the middle west met for the purpose of discussing and considering America's foreign policy. And wherever you go, with whomever you may talk, you will find that subject among the first for discussion.

"It seems to me that any political party, under the present circumstances and conditions, is under the gravest obligations to make clear and unmistakable its position on every phase of our foreign policy. It is the thing about which the people have a right to know, and, furthermore, it is a thing about which they will know, because they will make the issues.

"In our foreign policy, in fact, is wrapped up and involved the whole question of security, of safety to our people. But, in addition to that, how can you intelligently discuss and weigh such problems as the budget, taxes, as public expenditures, and all other questions of importance, as the world now stands, without having a sound and well understood foreign policy?

Voters Alert, He Says.

"There will be no issues overlooked in this campaign by the voters. They have passed thru a period in which they have lost their homes and there are now millions of them out of work. They know the effect of the creeping paralysis of taxes and expenditures. They have not forgotten the propaganda which led us into sacrifice in a foreign war. They are fully advised and fully alive to all the varied phases of the political and social conditions of this country.

"They expect their leaders to have the ability and the willingness to grapple with the problems which are of such vast concern to them—and there are none of more concern than that of our foreign policy.

"If I have been misled as to your views, I shall be happy to know that fact. But such views obtain among a great number of so-called Republican leaders, I do know."

DON'T SCRATCH, SOOTHE THE IRRITATION

Quick relief from the maddening itch of eczema, psoriasis, poison ivy, and irritation about the rectum or personal parts is obtained by applying Resinol Ointment. Leave it on over night. It lessens the desire to scratch, and eases the irritation.

The soothing effect of Resinol takes the sting from the irritated places and makes you more comfortable. The skin heals sooner, too, with the help of Resinol, as its oily base holds the medication in active contact with the tortured parts.

For gentle cleansing of irritated skin, Resinol Soap is excellent because it has no excess of free alkali and is so refreshing. Many nurses suggest and use Resinol Ointment and Soap—why don't you try them?

Does Your Breath Shout 'FALSE TEETH'?

Stera-Kleen Prevents False Teeth Odor—Cleans Without Brushing

"False teeth odor" is the curse of denture wearers. Ordinary brushing or antiseptics often will not remove scum and food particles that collect on your plate or bridge. This uncleanliness gives off the most offensive of breath odors—you do not know if you have it—but others do.

Prevent this odor by using STERA-KLEEN and make sure of absolute cleanliness. STERA-KLEEN dissolves scum and food particles from the tiny crevices of your plate that brushing does not reach. It is safe—economical—easy to use.

Stir a little STERA-KLEEN in water, put in your plate or bridge for a few minutes. Rinse, and it is ready for use without brushing. Daily use prevents "false teeth odor." Get STERA-KLEEN today. Only 30¢ a package at any drug store.

BRITAIN'S FLYING POLICE HUNT FOR SPIES IN THE SKY

Entire Nation on Lookout for Secret Agents.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 13.—England—all Europe in fact—is gripped with a spy mania after three months of war. Every one is on the lookout for enemy spies. In the last war the most dangerous type of spy supposedly, at least, was the glamorous vampire who lured secrets from handsome young lieutenants. In this war a new kind of spy has appeared.

Espionage has invaded the air. The British talk about spies in the sky and motion pictures depict how air police keep air spies from purloining air secrets.

"Nazi spies may try an air landing," says a headline in a London newspaper today. The article explains that enemy agents land in this country from planes. It says they either drop with parachutes in a lonely meadow or are put ashore by a rubber boat from a seaplane which lands on the water close to the coast in the dark.

Discovers Hobo Spy.

Another story tells how a sharp-eyed sentry guarding a searchlight unit discovered a hobo spy whom he had noticed sometimes clothed as a tramp and at other times well dressed and riding a bicycle.

Coast watchers are instructed to be on the lookout for agents who may be signaling U-boats. The slightest flicker of light on the cliffs of the British coast arouses suspicion.

In order to keep spies from operating radio transmitters a ban has been placed on the sale of radio parts. The sale of radio tubes for receiving sets is forbidden without a special license.

No one escapes. Recently Frances Day, an actress, in a broadcast mentioned the name of a military camp where she had entertained troops. The next day complaints reached the British Broadcasting corporation that she had exposed a valuable military secret.

Spent $4,000,000 a Year.

Britain, it is estimated, has spent $4,000,000 on its secret service in the last year. No financial record for spying ever is made public.

Long before the war began British intelligence agents, who work closely with Scotland Yard, had the names and addresses of foreign agents working in this country. Counterespionage agents kept enemy agents under surveillance and piled up information against them.

A few hours after the war began hundreds of active and potential German agents were put in jail. Some were professional spies and some were aliens who, it was feared, might be tempted to serve as spies.

Women Agents in Jail.

The British say that some of the arrested spies were members of the GSP [German secret police]. Women agents, couriers and others who acted as mail relay posts are in British jails for the duration of the war.

Working secretly British agents and Scotland Yard detectives have removed all espionage suspects from naval ports, airdromes, experimental depots and munitions plants.

However, it is said romance has gone out of the spying business, and no spectacular or sensational trials are likely to be held in this war.

London is not the only rendezvous of England's enemies. Many cities in the north unknowingly have given sanctuary to persons hostile to Britain.

Political agitation frequently is mixed up with the espionage, the police say, and intelligence officers have many difficulties in locating the channels thru which travels news of value to the Germans.

Find Secret Radio Stations.

No spy, of course, would steal information unless he could smuggle it out. He has various ways, but since Britain is an island, it is more difficult to get the information out of this country than elsewhere.

Wireless transmitters are perhaps the best way. Tho licenses for wireless transmitters have been withdrawn, a close watch is kept for secret radio stations. Counterespionage investigators have direction finders and have located clandestine stations, according to the police.

All radio listeners have been asked to help in the detective work by reporting to the police any noisy clickety-clop that might come from a nearby transmitter.

It is feared that spies also might use radio transmitters for guiding enemy aircraft to vulnerable centers.

Spies also communicate information thru knitting patterns in socks, by using invisible ink, stuffing messages into cakes and sausages and by carrier pigeons, according to police.

Gets $150,000

MRS. THELMA COX.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 13 (AP).—George M. Cox today settled with his divorced wife, Mrs. Thelma Agnes Cox, by giving her a split in their community property totaling about $300,000. The settlement filed in civil court here ended years of litigation between the man who amassed a fortune manufacturing malt and the woman whom he married nine years ago on the day after a divorce from his first wife. Cox, known as "Big George," settled $136,000 on his first wife. His second wife, who had been his secretary, first sued him in 1932 in connection with a party on his yacht on Lake Michigan. Cox once operated passenger boats out of Chicago.

DIES ON STREET CAR.
Andrew Trostrud, 55 years old, 1657 North Fairfield avenue, a chauffeur, died of a heart attack yesterday on a street car at Division street and California avenue.

ITALIAN POLICE HOLD WOMAN WITH PAPERS ISSUED TO AMERICAN

GENEVA, Dec. 13 (AP)—Reports received here today said that a woman identified by her papers as Miss Mary Dingman, a prominent American resident of Geneva and head of the Women's International Disarmament and Peace committee, had been detained by Italian police at Milan.

Miss Dingman, a native of Berea, Ky., was active in the campaign for sanctions [penalties] against Italy during the league's discussions of the Italian-Ethiopian war. She left here recently to return to America by way of Genoa.

Friends at Geneva said it might be a case of mistaken identity because Miss Dingman lost her passport in Brussels recently and this might have been found and used by some one else. The reports gave no reason for the detention, but the woman was said to have in her possession a copy of a French newspaper banned in Italy.

Britain and France Again Reduce Forces in China

SHANGHAI, Dec. 13 (AP).—Great Britain and France were reported today to be reducing still further their far eastern forces, Britain removing three of five gunboats on the Yangtze river and the French slashing their Hankow garrison to 50 men. Britain announced on Nov. 13 that only sufficient troops would be kept in North China to "maintain order."

WAR PRICES TO BE KEPT DOWN, FRANCE IS TOLD

PARIS, Dec. 13 (AP).—Finance Minister Paul Reynaud opened discussion of France's first wartime budget in the chamber of deputies today with a pledge that the government will not permit price increases, manipulation of foreign exchange, or currency inflation during the war. France is in a stronger economic position now than when war started, he said. Since then, French capital totaling 14,000,000,000 francs [about $312,200,000] has returned from abroad, he said, and the exchange equalization fund, with a 10,000,000,000 franc [about $223,000,000] profit "despite gigantic purchases abroad, is higher after three months of war than at the start."

RUMANIA TO GIVE BERLIN MORE OIL; SHIFT EXCHANGE

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 13 (AP).—Rumania today agreed to increase oil shipments to Germany and to give the German mark more than 12 per cent higher valuation in clearing arrangements between the two nations. Negotiations were ended and a protocol will be signed tomorrow or Friday.

For clearing purposes, the value of the mark was raised from 40½ lei to 46. Germany at first had demanded 60.

[The leu was quoted yesterday at .73 cent and the mark at 40.25 cents.]

DIES OF BURNS SUFFERED IN HOME.
Thomas Kennedy, 63 years old, died in County hospital yesterday of burns suffered Oct. 16 in his home at 933 Hudson avenue.

SKIPPER DERIDES BRITISH STORY OF SPARING BREMEN

Big Ship at Bremerhaven After Escaping Sub.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 13. — Commodore Adolf Ahrens, who captained the Germans' $20,000,000 luxury liner Bremen eastward across the Atlantic to Murmansk, Russia, and thru the North sea back to Bremerhaven, Germany, tonight ridiculed an assertion of the British admiralty that an English submarine spared the Bremen yesterday for humanitarian reasons.

[The English admiralty reported that a British submarine sighted the Bremen on its dash down the Norwegian coast from Murmansk, but refrained from sinking her because it desired not to violate international law. The Germans said a plane from the Bremen's aerial convoy chased the submarine away.]

Insists Capture Was Goal.

"The English may claim that they have done this out of consideration of international law, but in war I know that no one fails to attack a ship for humanitarian reasons," Commodore Ahrens said. "The English would have loved to pocket or destroy our good ship Bremen."

Ahrens said he believed the Bremen, when it was delayed at New York before the start of the war, was searched in an attempt to give the English time to arrange to have some of their ships on the Bremen's trail on the day war was declared.

[On Aug. 28 customs officials delayed the departure of the Bremen from New York for 36 hours on orders from President Roosevelt to search her for suspected guns, which, if she had been carrying any, would have been a violation of the United States neutrality law then in force.]

See No Foe Out of New York.

When asked to reveal the route he took from New York to escape the English, Ahrens said, "We reached a neutral port on Sept. 6." Not an enemy ship was sighted on the way, he added.

With a crew one-tenth normal strength, the Bremen sailed from Murmansk for Bremerhaven in stormy weather because conditions were considered most favorable for the attempt to get thru the British blockaders, said to form a chain from the Shetland Islands, north of Scotland, to Norway.

The trip generally was without excitement until the last day out, when a German plane accompanying the Bremen signaled "English U-boat sighted." All of the crew except an engine room watch hurried to lifeboats and prepared to abandon ship, expecting an attack, according to one of the officers.

Liner Begins Zigzagging.

Commodore Ahrens ordered full speed ahead on a zigzag course as the German plane swooped toward the submarine. The submarine dived in time to escape, the officer said.

[German naval experts have repeatedly declared that a submarine is entitled to attack a zigzagging ship "because it is evident that it is trying to escape the inspection which a submarine has the right to enforce."]

The plans soon radioed, "Attack no longer to be feared," and the crew relaxed.

Minister Greets Commodore.

The Bremen, which spent about 14 weeks hiding at Murmansk, tied up early this morning at a Bremerhaven dock and was met by Dr. Julius Dorpmueller, minister of transportation, who congratulated Commodore Ahrens.

"England's command of the seas is broken," he told the commodore. "You proved that by this voyage."

Commodore Ahrens is expected to be received by Fuehrer Adolf Hitler in Berlin tomorrow.

British Ship Torpedoed.

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP).—The British steamer Deptford, 4,034 tons, was torpedoed and sunk off the westernmost point of Norway today. Five of the crew were known to have been rescued.

Believed to be the sole survivor of a crew of 26 of the 1,339 ton Danish steamer Magnus, a Danish sailor was picked up by an Aberdeen trawler. He had been adrift on a raft for four days and was clutching the body of a dead officer when found. The Magnus sank Saturday after striking a mine.

7,000 Tons of Goods Seized.

The British contraband control announced that 7,000 tons of goods suspected of being destined for Germany were intercepted by the British in the week ended Dec. 9.

Swedish Ship Hits Mine.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 13. (AP).—The 978 ton Swedish steamer Algol struck a mine today in the straits between Denmark and Sweden. Swedish warships were sent to the vessel's assistance.

Four Swedish Sailors Killed.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 13 (AP).—Four sailors were killed and 13 injured on the Swedish cruiser Manligheten by an explosion near Goteborg today. The cruiser has been engaged on mine patrol. The 3,415 ton ship, which normally carries a crew of 301, reached Goteborg despite its damage.

Belgians Protest to Germany.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 13 (AP).—Belgium protested to Germany today against the torpedoing of the 2,239 ton Belgian steamer Suzon, which Lloyd's reported destroyed in October.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

The cost being the same, would you prefer to see a stage play or a movie?

Where Answered.

In the Illinois Central station.

The Answers.

T. Smith, Hammond, Ind., printer—No shadows on the screen for me if I can have the real thing! I derive abiding satisfaction from my recollections of such fine plays as "The Return of Peter Grimm," "The Music Master," and others. Equally fine plays are being produced today.

Philomena Rietman, Dyer, Ind., domestic worker—I like the movies better. In fact, I like movies very much. I think the stories you see on the screen are better, the acting superior, and the settings much finer. The stage is limited, but not the movies.

Don Vergin, Hammond, Ind., plasterer—My preference is for the stage. Movies are too far removed from the reality of living players to give an audience the same lift. With no audience to inspire them, it seems to me movie actors often fall flat in their performances.

Betty Sotos, 5223 Melrose street—I'll take the theater, especially if the bill is a Friml or Victor Herbert operetta. Acting on the stage is superior to that in the movies. Maybe it's because an audience inspires the players. Anyway, I like to see real people performing.

George Sotos, 5223 Melrose street—Regardless of the cost, I like the stage performance better. That doesn't mean I don't enjoy the movies. There have been tremendous improvements in stories, direction, and acting. But there's no getting away from the artificiality of the screen.

FINNS CLAIM RED ARMY IS FOUGHT TO STANDSTILL

Claim 20 Mile Advance.

MOSCOW, Dec. 13 (AP).—A day's advance of approximately 20 miles farther into Finnish territory by the Red army in east central Finland was announced tonight by the soviet Russian army command of the Leningrad area. Details of fighting were not given in the brief communique.

In the Ukhta [Kouta] sector, the Red army communique said, the troops had advanced 105 kilometers [between 65 and 66 miles] from the soviet frontier.

This area apparently is near Kuolajaervi, where one Red army is seeking to drive a wedge thru Finland, and would indicate that Russian troops had pushed on about 20 miles from the point where they were reported yesterday, at Markajaervi.

On the Pitkaranta-Serdobol railway line, along the northern shores of Lake Ladoga, the communique continued, soviet troops occupied the town of Kitla [Kitela]. This would put them some seven miles farther into Finnish territory since yesterday.

Scandinavians Watch.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 13 (AP).—The Scandinavian countries anxiously watched tonight the signs of a great Russian drive thru the middle of Finland and to the Bothnian gulf.

Altho Russian troops were said to be fighting in the same relative positions reached in the first 48 hours of the war, northern diplomats were worried over reports that a vast Red army of 1,500,000 men was being thrown into the drive.

Of particular concern to Norway, Sweden and Denmark was the progress of three columns of Russians.

One column apparently was moving southwest from the arctic port of Petsamo along Finland's northern highway in the direction of Rovaniemi, a city just above the Gulf of Bothnia near the Swedish frontier.

Head for Swedish Border.

Another column, after taking Markajaervi, appeared headed for Kemijaervi and thence along the railway to join the northern column at Rovaniemi. Kemijaervi is situated about the center of Finland.

The third was pressing westward from Suomussalmi toward the Finnish port of Uleaborg [Oulu] on the Gulf of Bothnia.

If the three columns accomplished their objectives, they would face the Swedish border.

Prospects of foreign military help for the Finns, however, seemed no brighter after Sweden's new coalition government announced it shared a popular desire to help Finland but at the same time declared Sweden's neutrality was one of its most vital aims.

BEDDING MAKERS UNCOVER IDEA TO BLANKET NATION

Early to bed but slow to rise! That's the slogan of the newly organized Society of Sound Sleepers. Formation of the society, which seeks to protect the rights of those who would rather sleep than anything, was announced yesterday at the opening of the convention of the National Association of Bedding Manufacturers in the Stevens hotel.

The new society already has 250 members, most of them bedding manufacturers, who naturally have their reasons for wanting to sell the idea of sleep. They are headed by Charles H. Friedburg, a Kansas City manufacturer. He opened the doors of the society to insomniacs, somnambulists, somniloquists, snorers, sheep counters, and all others who now have, or desire, soporific serenity.

A sleepers' code provides abjuring of early morning lawn mowing, nocturnal honking, snoring in sleeping cars, and unrelenting warfare on the people upstairs with the loud radio. But this publicity idea didn't work out so well for the bedding men themselves last night. They were so busy with their own business problems that they got to bed late.

Day's Developments in Finland

Developments of the day in war between Russia and Finland. Scandinavian observers reported signs of a three way Russian drive, one column moving southwest (1) toward Rovaniemi. Another column (2) appeared headed for Kemijaervi to join the nothern column, and a third column was pressing westward toward Oulu (3). Some of the towns mentioned in the news dispatches do not appear because they are not given on available maps.

EMPIRES BUY 470 MORE AMERICAN BOMBING PLANES

Two Firms Sell 200 to Britain, 270 to France.

New York, Dec. 13 (AP).—Representatives of the British air ministry late today signed a contract with the Lockheed Aircraft corporation of Burbank, Cal., for 200 Hudson bombers at a cost of about $20,000,000. Scores of the same type of bomber, ordered by the British prior to the start of the war, have been used both for off-shore patrol duty and for leaflet raids over Gemany.

At the same time it was learned the French air ministry had ordered 270 additional bimotored bombers from the Douglas Aircraft company of Santa Monica, Calif., at an unspecified cost.

The French ordered 100 of the Douglases, described as having speeds well in excess of 300 miles an hour, prior to the war.

Several other contracts for American pursuit, training, and other types of planes are in the negotiation stage. All of these contracts were made possible by repeal of the arms embargo by the recent special session of congress.

The Hudson type bombers will be powered with two 1,100 horse power Wright Cyclone engines, supercharged for operation up to almost 30,000 feet. The British have reserved the right to demand Cyclone 1,200 horse power engines in the second hundred if they so desire.

The Douglas machines, unique in the bomber category in that they have a tricycle landing gear with a retractable nose wheel, will be equipped with Pratt & Whitney 900 horse power engines. Their full load "ceiling" is more than 24,000 feet.

Lockheed Buys Factories.

Robert E. Gross, president of Lockheed, said purchase of the Continental factory, near the Lockheed plant, includes 23½ acres and buildings with floor area of 158,000 square feet.

The price was not disclosed, but tax stamps affixed to the deed indicated it was around $600,000.

DAVIES REPORTED SEEKING POST OF NAVY SECRETARY

Wife Is Believed Behind Ambassador's Move.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—Joseph E. Davies, American ambassador to Belgium, was at the White House today in quest of a new job. It was reported he was seeking a post in the cabinet.

Joseph E. Davies and Mrs. Davies

Davies' move to end his diplomatic career was said to have been inspired by his wife, Mrs. Marjorie Post Close Hutton Davies, who is reported to have given up hope he will ever be appointed ambassador to Great Britain. Mrs. Davies, breakfast food heiress, has contributed substantially to Democratic campaign funds.

As a second choice Mrs. Davies is now reported bent on becoming a cabinet wife. Davies, it is said, is hopeful of becoming secretary of the navy, a post vacant since the death of Claude A. Swanson early last summer.

Davies is an attorney, who gained many important clients thru political connections. He entered on the national scene from his native Wisconsin in 1913.

He was economic adviser to President Wilson at the Versailles peace conference. In the Wilson administration he refused the ambassadorship to Russia and the governorship of the Philippines to continue his law practice. He married Mrs. Hutton in 1935.

Altho he sought the ambassadorship to the Court of St. James's, Davies was named ambassador to Russia in November, 1936. However, he and Mrs. Davies were reported to have found Moscow a disappointment, because of its lack of gay social life, and they stayed there only a short time. After a second attempt to win appointment to London, Davies received the Belgian post.

With the outbreak of the war, chances of succeeding Joseph P. Kennedy as ambassador to Britain faded.

GERMAN LINER GETS CLEARANCE PAPERS IN MEXICO FOR VOYAGE

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Dec. 13 (AP).—Port authorities disclosed tonight that the 32,581 ton German liner Columbus had obtained clearance papers for a trans-Atlantic voyage and was prepared to sail without further notice.

All crew members on shore leave have been ordered to report aboard to prepare for a "long voyage." The ship's representatives said her destination was Oslo, Norway.

The Columbus has been loading heavy supplies of food and fuel, including more than 20,000 barrels of oils.

Arrangements also were made for the departure of the German freighter Arauca, also here since the start of the war. According to her manifest, she has a cargo of 4,000 tons of fiber and a large quantity of nitrates, sulphur, crude oil, coffee, and sugar to deliver at New Orleans, La.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities."—From the Farewell Address.

RUSSIA AND THE LEAGUE.

Firing Russia from the league of nations is child's play acting, no matter how many stern faces are made in doing so. Stalin used the league until he could get a deal with Hitler because it was to him a vestry of respectability important only as it enabled him to maintain relations with governments which might be useful until he could come to an understanding with the other despots. Soviet Russia adhered to the principle of collective security, of which the league became the broken down instrument, so long as Germany, Italy, and Japan maintained the anticomintern front and conducted the holy war against communism in Spain and in China.

This powerful triple alliance, if it remained realistically or fanatically on the square, was a great menace and so long as soviet Russia had to face it the game was for peace and democracy. Stalin cuddled up to the other powers and was accepted as a great liberal ruler—nowhere more affectionately than in the White House. Even when the league became notoriously a decaying futility, Stalin remained with it because, feeble as it was, it represented theoretically the front he had maintained with civilized people.

The alternative to this pretense of peace and democracy was an alliance with the other aggressive tyrannies. When Stalin got Hitler he broke down the anticomintern alliance. Mussolini might be indignant and Japan puzzled, but the danger to the communists was liquidated when the Nazis consented to release Red Josef upon a course of aggression, conquest, and expansion.

At that moment all the hypocrisy about peace and democracy, collective security, and the rights of small nations disappeared from the communist loud speaker and further connection with the league of nations became useless. Stalin didn't need a pretense of respectability. That was an irksome rôle from the beginning and he was relieved to throw it over and be himself.

The Argentine representative at the league said his country would withdraw if Russia was not expelled. That statement only emphasized the incongruity presented by the appearance of nations of the western hemisphere in a discussion of European affairs and in a decision which could have little meaning for American republics and might have considerable for small European nations uneasily sitting at the ringside of the European wars and trying not to offer any provocations to their unruly and threatening big neighbors. This mixture of America and Europe is good for neither. Future arrangements for the promotion of peace in Europe should not contain it. The Americas would do a service to international relations if they would make use of the present state of affairs to withdraw within the confines of their own interests and to the proper sphere of their influence.

THE DECAY OF FREE GOVERNMENT.

The secret session of parliament in London—the first of the war—is another indication that the present state of representative government in Europe is nowhere in the best of health. Even the American revolution, which was supposed to be raising anew the question of parliamentary independence in Great Britain, did not produce a parliament so submissive to the will of the government which was thought to be again invading the constitutional rights of Britons. What is known as his majesty's opposition then was a freer speaking minority than can now be found at Westminster, and it did not retire from the sight and hearing of the people.

The excuse of war has been pressed to extremes in forcing even temporarily the abandonment of first principles of self-government. Not since the days of absolute and unlimited monarchies in Europe has the parliamentary system suffered such a loss of prerogative and power as it suffers today. The fate of the German reichstag and of the Italian chamber of deputies seems not to have made the profound impression which might have been expected on other peoples who say they are fighting for their liberties. Both France and Great Britain have suspended the operation of free government and of political action, deferring to what are called national emergencies and postponing the exercise of political rights for the duration of the war. Peace, it may be feared, will bring a set of problems which themselves will be used as excuses for a further suspension of popular government in favor of the autocracy which will be defended again as the only means by which national emergency can be met.

Without war we have had a great deal of that sort of thing insisted upon in this country already and can perceive the easy slope by which a people, feebly consenting, can slide down to a debased level of political incompetence and insecurity. It is easy to descend and difficult to make the recovery.

THE MUNICIPAL COURT.

The terms of twelve judges of the Municipal court expire in 1940. Candidates for the twelve places on the bench will be nominated next April. The Chicago Bar association is already circularizing its members to obtain their opinions regarding the character and fitness of the incumbents.

This is good as far as it goes, but it is to be hoped that much more aggressive action will follow and follow promptly. The simple truth is that the Municipal court of Chicago stinks. Only a minority of the judges can measure up to any reasonable standards of integrity and competence. Of the chief justice and 36 associate judges perhaps a dozen are fit for the bench. The rest are tenth rate lawyers who wouldn't be given desk room in any decent law office in the city; political hacks put on the bench to serve the men who put them there; cheapsters who want the job for the $10,000 and perquisities that go with it and couldn't hope to make that much money in any other way, and downright crooks and companions of crooks who ought to be in jail and may yet land there.

The Municipal court today is a disgrace to the city. Such of the rotten members of the court as cannot be sent to the penitentiary should be retired as rapidly as possible to private life. In addition, the court should be reorganized. Some time ago the bar association put forward a plan for the reform of the court, which seemed to have merit. If the lawyers really meant to get action, now is the time to push their plan. The community has been shocked by recent revelations regarding the court and will support any measure which seems to offer a good chance of cleaning up the mess.

THE WIRE TAPPING CASES.

The two opinions by the Supreme court, refusing to allow evidence obtained by wire tapping to be used even indirectly in criminal prosecutions, may prevent the conviction of a few criminals who deserve conviction. This is a slight price to pay for the further safeguards that the opinions place around the right of privacy of all citizens.

Wire tapping evidence gained the approval of the Supreme court during the prohibition era. The tyranny of the practice was of a piece with the other tyrannies to which the country was subjected in the effort to enforce the unenforceable.

The court in the present cases did not cite the constitution in protection of the right to privacy in telephone conversations, but instead the federal communications act, which forbids interception of telephone, telegraph, or radio messages without permission of the sender. The statute sufficed, and the court was saved the task which jurists usually consider unpleasant of overturning the opinion of a predecessor. The prohibition cases denied that the protections of the fourth amendment against unreasonable search and seizure extended to telephone conversations.

The constitution of the United States is not a horse and buggy document. The fact that modern means of communication did not exist when it was written does not preclude the extension of its protection to those new facilities that science and invention give us.

The constitution cannot be construed broadly without so construing it in all fields. If its clauses are to be stretched to give government increased power over the activities of citizens, they must be stretched an equal distance to protect citizens against misuse of those new powers.

THEY'VE GOTTA DRAG.

The list of automobile owners in Illinois who have been given the license numbers from 1 to 100 should not be read as a list of the distinguished citizens of the state. Far from it. Low numbers are sought and frequently obtained by persons who wish to violate the traffic laws without being penalized for doing so; the possession of a low number is valued by these persons as an intimation to the police that the possessor has a powerful political pull. Hence the phrase, "I gotta drag." If all the gentlemen holding low numbers are not aiming to get away with something enough of the first hundred are in that class to cast suspicion upon the whole lot.

FLOOD CONTROL COSTS.
[Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.]

In connection with the possibility that the whole financial structure of the flood control program may be reviewed at the next session of congress, advocates of a sound policy should be on guard against one of the proposals.

Rightly flood control has been recognized as a national problem, but care was taken in the earlier measures to put a share of the cost upon state and local governments to guard against irresponsibility in demands or injection of the political pork barrel. State and local governments were to provide the storage reservoir sites and the federal government was to construct the dams. Eventually this condition was modified and finally the entire cost of the reservoirs was placed upon the national government. Besides, the President was given authority to waive 50 per cent of the local contributions for such projects as flood walls in the Ohio valley.

Now a group in the house proposes that the cost of flood control, for city flood walls as well as for the reservoirs of the general system, be placed in its entirety upon the federal government. It is recognized, of course, that such defenses as levees or walls in the lower Mississippi and Ohio valleys are properly parts of a national flood control system. It is pointed out, however, that if every bill in the name of flood control could be sent to the Washington treasury, there would be the danger of a rush to get approval of projects for which there is little, if any, need.

There is another objection from the standpoint of the larger states. They would be put in the position, thru the federal treasury, of having to pay for the bulk of the purely local flood control projects thruout the country. Pennsylvania pays at least one-eighth of the national taxes.

LET THE CONTRIBS SAY IT.

Thumb-nail reviews of the Line Book of 1939 are pouring out of this column's mail bag. They come, for the most part, from contributors who are represented in this annual compilation, and so may be regarded as having a favorable bias. Nevertheless they are worth quoting, so here goes:

"The more I read, the more my wonder grew that 64 pages held so much worthwhile and new. You haven't omitted anything that I remember as worth perpetuating, and the book begins, it goes places, it arrives—or as the French say, 'It marches'."—Quizzicuss.

"She's a pip. I can but offer the good old line out of Tom Morton's otherwise forgotten play, 'Approbation from Sir Hubert Stanley is praise indeed'."—Jim Bowers.

"The best dime's buy in print."—Dow Richardson.

"I consider it a real honor to be in such brilliant company, and feel that this year's book is a really superlative collection."—Helen C. Bond.

"It's good for a laugh or a poignant thrill a minute; I doff my chapeau to the Line Book, altho I'm not in it."—Burt Broderick Shulkins.

"The book is delightful in every way—a cure for the dyspeptic fed up with war news, and hate, and despair."—S'Amuser.

"Congratulations on the latest edition of the Line Book. In every way it deserves a prominent place on the shelf of its grandparents, parents, sisters, and brothers."—That Fella Down in Streator.

"I am flabbergasted with pleasure. Also, I know that in the coming year the competition is going to be really tough. It behooves a second rate rhymester to get busy and show improvement. And, doggoned if I don't do it."—Evan S. Tonian.

DECEMBER DANDELION.

December tenth, when winter should be here,
You bravely bloom beside my garden walk
To laugh at withered leaf and ghostly stalk
Of proud aristocrats you used to fear;
You gaze upon those others, brown and sere,
Your brazen brilliance dares defy the talk
That snow and ice and bitter winds are near.

Defiantly you stage your small revolt—
Disciple of the few who do not care,
Who calmly say that precedent's a dolt,
Who scorn the well-worn path, who ever dare
To do the things men say cannot be done—
All hail, bold dandelion in the sun!

A Rose Is a Rose When It Recalls Patti.

John Kelley is not the only surviving reporter of the opening of the Auditorium in 1889 [Dec. 8]. Another is Chevalier Alessandro Mastrovalerio, now retired and living on the Bay of Naples. From 1883 to 1933 he was owner-editor of the Tribuna Italiana Transatlantica, published during all those 50 years in the neighborhood of Hull house.

Among his souvenirs Chevalier Mastrovalerio still keeps a rose given to him on that eventful night in 1889. Patti had been invited to attend an after-performance reception at the Press club. When she got there Adelina balked, because the stairs were too steep, she was tired, and there was no elevator. The chevalier picked her up and carried her upstairs. His reward was the rose.

J. M. Valerio.

[Arthur W. O'Neill of Cassopolis, Mich., is another press survivor of that occasion. He also attended the last performance of the Civic Opera company there on Jan. 26, 1929.]

The Rain Maker of Oberlin College.

When Charles G. Finney was president, northern Ohio suffered from such a severe drouth that prayers for rain were offered in the old First church [still in use]. The prayers were long and fervent, and before adjournment the heavens opened and rain poured down. But President Finney was the only member of the devout group who went home under an umbrella. H. M. O.

FINLAND MUST NOT FALL!

O, weep, ye Nations, for Bohemia, weep!
Shed tears for ravished Poland, tears of shame!
But if Finlandia dies, betrayed, then reap
A harvest of abhorrence and ill fame!
A kindly, honest people, placed by Fate
On frozen, stony wastes, they yet succeed,
In prospering by toil, to rouse the hate
Of jealous neighbors and their envious greed.
Shall Freedom be denied to weak and small?
Are industry and probity of no repute?
Shall rapine flourish and uprightness fall,
While Justice trembles, timorous and mute?
Democracies, display your righteous rage,

World's Tallest Tree Has Perished.

The Journal of Forestry reports the uprooting of what is believed to have been the tallest hardwood tree in the world, in the Toorongo forest, north of Noojee, Australia. It was a eucalypt [Eucalyptus regnans], uprooted by the gales which accompanied the forest fires of Jan. 13, 1939. It measured 331 feet in length to where the top had been broken off at a point three inches in diameter. Its approximate age was 300 years.

The Lads Are Getting Technical.

When the Tribune's graphic chart magician wants to show that one army is twice as big as another, and does it by drawing a man twice as high—and of course eight times as heavy—no doubt that's propaganda for something or other. But when he draws the 79,280 ton Normandie just 6.7 times as long as the 10,000 ton Deutschland, or 300 times as heavy, what's it supposed to prove?

CAN'T SWALLOW? CHECK YOUR BLOOD.

EVERY physician has encountered a fair number of instances of what may be termed an emotional phenomenon—a sensation described as a "lump" rising up in the throat. The patient is obliged to swallow constantly altho there is complete inability to dislodge the obstruction. The condition is termed "globus hystericus." Most cases, under the influence of mild sedatives and a calm, contented environment, will recover promptly altho the symptom may recur whenever nerves become overwrought or should the individual become "jittery."

Many of these victims will consult a specialist—convinced that a tumor has formed in the throat. A drawn, careworn expression is characteristic, altho when quiet and at ease, the countenance will light up and the patient will exclaim, "Why, it's gone now."

Occasionally, however, some one will experience trouble in deglutition [swallowing], which is tantamount to an actual spasm of the upper portion of the esophagus—the tube which leads from the throat to the stomach. But here we are facing something real and great care must be exercised in excluding the "globus" referred to above. Long series of cases of this affliction have been reported mistakenly as neuroses and it was not until Henry Plummer studied these manifestations intensively that a curious state of affairs was revealed. He found that practically all of these persons exhibited anemia and sore tongue, and that the secretion of hydrochloric acid by the stomach glands was deficient. He began by administering hydrochloric acid and iron whereupon the blood became normal and the consciousness of the lump disappeared.

The malady usually appears in women past the age of 40. While some may be younger, the majority will be 45 or older. There is but one chief complaint—dysphagia [difficult swallowing]. Many state that it requires so much effort to get food thru the esophagus that they are fearful that they may choke to death. The first symptom may be coughing which comes on at the table. When treatment is begun these patients are advised to eat alone so that they can take plenty of time and employ a generous amount of fluid to wash down the chopped or sieved edibles.

While the blood disorder is not severe in some cases, it is quite so in others. The mucous membranes are pale and the tongue may present a smooth, shiny appearance. In a few, the disturbance may be so pronounced that mechanical dilatation is advised. For the most part, the alert physician will detect a drop in the hemoglobin and then recognize the lack of acid in the gastric juice.

Liver—used so effectively in pernicious anemia—affords little help but the patient seems to blossom into new life under the influence of iron and hydrochloric acid. It is necessary to continue the iron for some time and also to provide a diet which will supply a generous amount of vitamins.

In the meantime the tongue may need considerable attention. As the hemoglobin decreases the marks of the teeth on the sides of that organ will become more pronounced. The atrophic look will usually clear up with additional nutriment. Rarely will one of the subjects display more than 50 to 60 per cent hemoglobin, which indicates that the loss of iron from the tissues has been extensive.

Minor symptoms are sometimes so emphasized by the sufferer that they may befog the main issue, which again calls to mind the importance of a blood examination with practically every patient. For example, some will speak of numbness of the fingers, great fatigue, abdominal cramps, constipation, and hoarseness. But these are all signs of malnutrition. As we know, when the stomach fails to produce free acid there is likely to be an upset of the entire digestive chain. It is quite possible that the disability has been developing for many months with the result that indigestion is marked.

No! These individuals are not hysterical. They are victims of a blood condition which is easily remedied. The essential thing is to recognize it before health has been impaired.

MORE POISE NEEDED.

L. K. writes: I am not a good mixer. I have a few boy friends, but no girl friends and this makes me feel badly. Ever since childhood I have been subject to day-dreaming. Do you think this is the cause of my trouble? What can I do to help? I am 21 years old.

REPLY.

A lack of self-confidence can be overcome by developing poise and a firm belief in yourself. With success in a few little things you will launch into more important ventures. After a bit you will rid yourself of the complex.

PROBABLY NOT.

Mrs. J. B. writes: Would an underactive thyroid gland in a pregnant woman affect the mentality of the offspring?

REPLY.

Probably not, altho the attending physician may deem it wise to administer a certain amount of thyroid gland substance during the period of pregnancy, in order to maintain the endocrine balance.

IT WILL NOT.

V. writes: Will an X-ray show if the roots of tonsils are diseased?

REPLY.

No.

BIRTHDAY BALL HOOEY.

Keokuk, Ia., Dec. 11.—Of all the ballyhoo since the days when white men, smeared with paint and feathers, sold from the rear ends of wagons in rural communities certain good for snake bites and other life-saving remedies, the birthday ball radio recitations today are, in my opinion, entitled to the award of the all-time all-American hooey—five words about the disease, a hundred words about the birthday, and a hundred about the money desired.

If this crowd that is pushing the third term and the money collection is the same as engineered the "Tugwell castles in the weeds," invented the northern farmers' fizzle policy, ruined the cotton export market for the south, incensed the relations of labor and capital by the Wagner act, kept 10 million people out of employment, and presented the taxpayers with a bill for 30 billion dollars for the "service," why should we not say, as an old German friend of mine who wished to disavow the results of his old tactics, "Ve have to change our ticktacks"? BIRDWELL SUTLIVE.

IN THE "LAND OF THE FREE."

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Variety says this week:

"Thru complaint of theater authority, charges were entered by the American Guild of Variety Artists and allied show business talent unions against Willie Shore and Gus Van, now at the Hi-Hat club in Chicago, for appearing at a benefit without an okay from TA.

"Both Van and Shore were found guilty and fined, but the fines were suspended with a warning issued to both performers.

"Today [Tuesday] a hearing will be held on complaint to the TA against Billy Carr and Joan Woods of the 606 club, and Helen Morgan, Ada Leonard, Slate Bros., and Stan Kavanaugh of the 'Moulin Rouge' road show, for appearing without TA authorization at a neighborhood political charity."

And this is America, the land of the free! AN EX-PERFORMER.

FED UP ON THE RADIO.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—Permit me to say in support of E. W. S. [Dec. 6] that I have worn out my ribbon writing to sponsors, broadcasters, and congressmen trying to get less barking over the radio and better programs. I am advocating a full hour of respectable music from every radio station each day without a single interruption for commercial or otherwise.

O, my Gawd, the spiels on laxatives! We have a trio on the air morning, noon, and night, and I am fed up with them. You know them: Junk, Bunk, and Bull.

J. J. E.

CHURCH FOR SENATOR.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—We have read recently that what was needed in Chicago was a strong Republican party so that the evils in the miscounting of ballots would be averted.

This same idea could be carried still further and applied to the people's representatives in congress. Amid all the political din that will soon be loosened upon the public, let us not lose sight of the real issues and men. As an outstanding example of faithful service, let us not overlook the record of Congressman Ralph E. Church of the 10th district, who has never missed a roll call in the house.

All agree that what is needed is strong Republican leadership. What better place to start than with a candidate for senator, a man who has never been defeated for public office—Congressman Church. A draft Church movement will start the Republican party on the way to success in 1940. Let's go! CHARLES WEST,
President, Rogers Park Civic League.

BRICKER'S HIS FAVORITE.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Some executive of a large state—of the John W. Bricker type from Ohio—would make a candidate the Republican party could be proud of. Gov. Bricker's record in Ohio stands out as a monument to good government, sensible economy, and humanitarian principles.

HENRY GRUGER.

THE CLEANING RACKET.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Now that the federal government is going to investigate rackets in Chicago, it should not pass the cleaning and dyeing racket.

Once a tailor starts to deal with any cleaning company, he cannot change to any other even tho the work from them is unsatisfactory. If a complaint is made to the state's attorney with a request for protection so he can give his cleaning to some other concern, the state's attorney's office tells him they are sorry and can do nothing. So small tailors go out of business. A VOTER.

SAFEGUARDING OUR SCHOOLS.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—Our hats should go off to Chicago and to its public school system. We should be thankful that our children are being reared in an educational system free from communistic domination. After reading about the New York school system we of Chicago should rejoice that our children are safeguarded by a school board that takes steps to prevent this peril from gaining a foothold here. AN APPRECIATIVE PARENT.

A READER WANTS TO KNOW.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—What are the Republicans going to do about unemployment? What have they to offer that's better than offered by the Democrats? Remember, you can't beat something with nothing, as you tried to do in '32 and '36. J. A.

FACTS CONFUSING.

Chicago, Dec. 7 [Legal Friend of the People].—I am one of the legal heirs to a small amount of property in this state.

1. A stepmother's lawyer filed nonsupport charges against my father that were upheld in court. My brother and I were not mentioned as [2] heirs to the property, only a younger sister 13 years of age. Said stepmother was made custodian of the property until my sister became of age. My father could not carry out his part of the court's decisions and was jailed.

3. My father thru a lawyer tried for an appeal. His only results were to be placed back in the county jail.

4. How and where can I obtain all the facts of the case?

5. What can I do to get my stepmother and son [29] evicted?

6. What would be advisable to prove and defend my part as heir?

7. I am unable to hire a lawyer because of finance. H. G. V.

1. This sounds as if your father is still living.
2. This word sounds as if he were dead. Hence, your facts are not clear to us.
3. If a lawyer has been employed, he is in a better position to advise you than we are.
4. By examining the court records and talking with the parties.
5. Evicted from what? Presumably the court order will stand until it is set aside on showing of changed circumstances, or on appeal, if that is what you mean to ask.
6. You have no present rights as heir of your father if your father is still living.
7. See preceding answers.

THE WORLD WAR 25 YEARS AGO

[From Tribune Files.]

[139th day of world war; 105th day of present war.]

LONDON.—Correspondents in northern France expect a general allied advance with serious consequences for the civilian population of the towns occupied by the Germans. The sympathies of the civilians, the correspondents think, are likely to lead them to attempt to assist the allies, thereby compelling the Germans to take severe measures for their self-protection.

NISH, Servia.—It is reported that all attempts by the Austrian army to halt its retreat have failed, and that the Servians are continuing to sweep their country clear of the defeated Austrians.

PETROGRAD.—A dispatch from Armenia says: "Advices from the front at Erzerum, Turkish Armenia, describe the position of 20,000 Christians there as precarious, because of their Russian sympathies. Three hundred thousand Turkish troops are mobilized at Erzerum. Hundreds of Armenians have been imprisoned and many hanged in the streets without trial as examples."

PETROGRAD.—News from Odessa, Russia, indicates that a conspiracy against the life of Field Marshal von der Goltz has been discovered at Constantinople. Many people in leading positions are involved in the plot. Some arrests have been made, but the investigation is being carried out secretly.

BARE NEW DEAL HOPE OF PACKING DIES COMMITTEE

Chairman Confident That Drive Will Fail.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—The crusade of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and her husband, the President, against the Dies committee on un-American activities presages a determined fight by the New Dealers to gain control of the investigation when congress convenes in January.

Representative Voorhis.

The administration, it was learned today, will make no serious effort to prevent extension of the committee's authority because of the certainty that such a move would be defeated overwhelmingly. Instead, the administration will seek to pack the committee with New Deal yes men such as Representative Jerry Voorhis [D., Cal.], a present member who has been most outspoken in his hostility toward the majority.

Dies Predicts Victory.

Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman, expresses confidence that Speaker William B. Bankhead will not stack the committee with New Deal stooges. Over administration opposition, the committee was extended for one year last February by a vote of 344 to 35. Dies now predicts that no more than half a dozen members will vote against continuance of the investigation, among them Adolph J. Sabath of Illinois and Vito Marcantonio of New York, who is president of the International Labor Defense, a section of the International Red Aid.

The Stalin-Hitler alliance and the Russian invasion of Finland, according to Dies, have caused such revulsion against the communists in this country that it will be political suicide to oppose the committee's investigation of un-American activities.

Denounced by Roosevelt.

Altho President Roosevelt denounced the communist assault upon Finland as wanton disregard for law he has made it clear that his attitude toward the Dies committee has not changed since the 1938 political campaigns, when the committee's revelations of communist influences within the New Deal contributed to the defeat of many eminent New Dealers.

Recently the President and Mrs. Roosevelt have let scarcely a day go by without some disparaging reference to the Dies committee. Mrs. Roosevelt took up the battle today in her newspaper column, "My Day." "If you are not accused of being a communist these days, you may be a communist front and now you may be a communist transmission belt, and these names apply both to individuals and organizations," she wrote.

Refers to Belt Charges.

Mrs. Roosevelt referred, apparently, to the committee's charge on Monday that various so-called consumers' organizations are communist "transmission belts" which seek to undermine mass production, and hence the capitalist system of free enterprise, by trying to discredit advertising and nationally advertised products.

Earl Browder, head of the American communist party, described a transmission belt in his testimony before the Dies committee last September as an organization in which communists work with noncommunists to accomplish common objectives. He identified the League of Women Shoppers as one of these organizations.

Mrs. Roosevelt said yesterday that she belonged to the League of Women Shoppers at one time but could not remember whether she still was a member.

President Roosevelt assailed the Dies committee last October when it made public the names of several hundred government officials and employés who are members of the American League for Peace and Democracy, which was founded and is controled by the communists.

One of the biggest jobs in the building of Chicago's subway was accomplished yesterday morning when huge twin steel tubes were sunk in place at the State street river crossing. The tubes form the link of the subway route under water and will be connected with the sections to be tunneled on land.

The sinking of the tubes was done in three and a half hours without a hitch. Each tube is 200 feet long and 23 feet high and their total width is 40 feet. They were slung from cables attached to two barges into their resting place, a trench dredged in the bed of the river. Heavy concrete blocks, weighing from 5 to 10 tons each, were placed on the tubes to submerge them. The ends of the tubes were then sealed in cofferdams, each of which extends 65 feet beyond the end of the tubes.

The tubes weigh 4,150 tons and concrete will be piled on the outside walls, bringing the final weight to 6,500 tons, and the top of the structure to five feet below the river bed. Sand backfill will be placed on the sides and clay backfill will be placed up to the bed level.

They were convicted of defrauding the government by diverting WPA labor to private use.

CAA SELECTS 13 SCHOOLS TO TRY NEW AIR COURSE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP).—The Civil Aeronautics authority today announced it had selected 13 schools to test out an advanced course of training for student pilots which may be offered on a nation-wide basis next year.

It said 90 students were being selected now. The authority will pay flying school operators $750 for each student for the advanced flight courses and $50 for further ground school work.

The schools selected are Purdue university, University of Alabama, University of Minnesota, University of Washington, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Texas A. & M. college [Arlington branch], Pomona [Cal.] Junior college, Georgia School of Technology, New York university, University of Michigan, University of North Carolina [state college at Raleigh], University of Kansas, and San Jose [Cal.] State college.

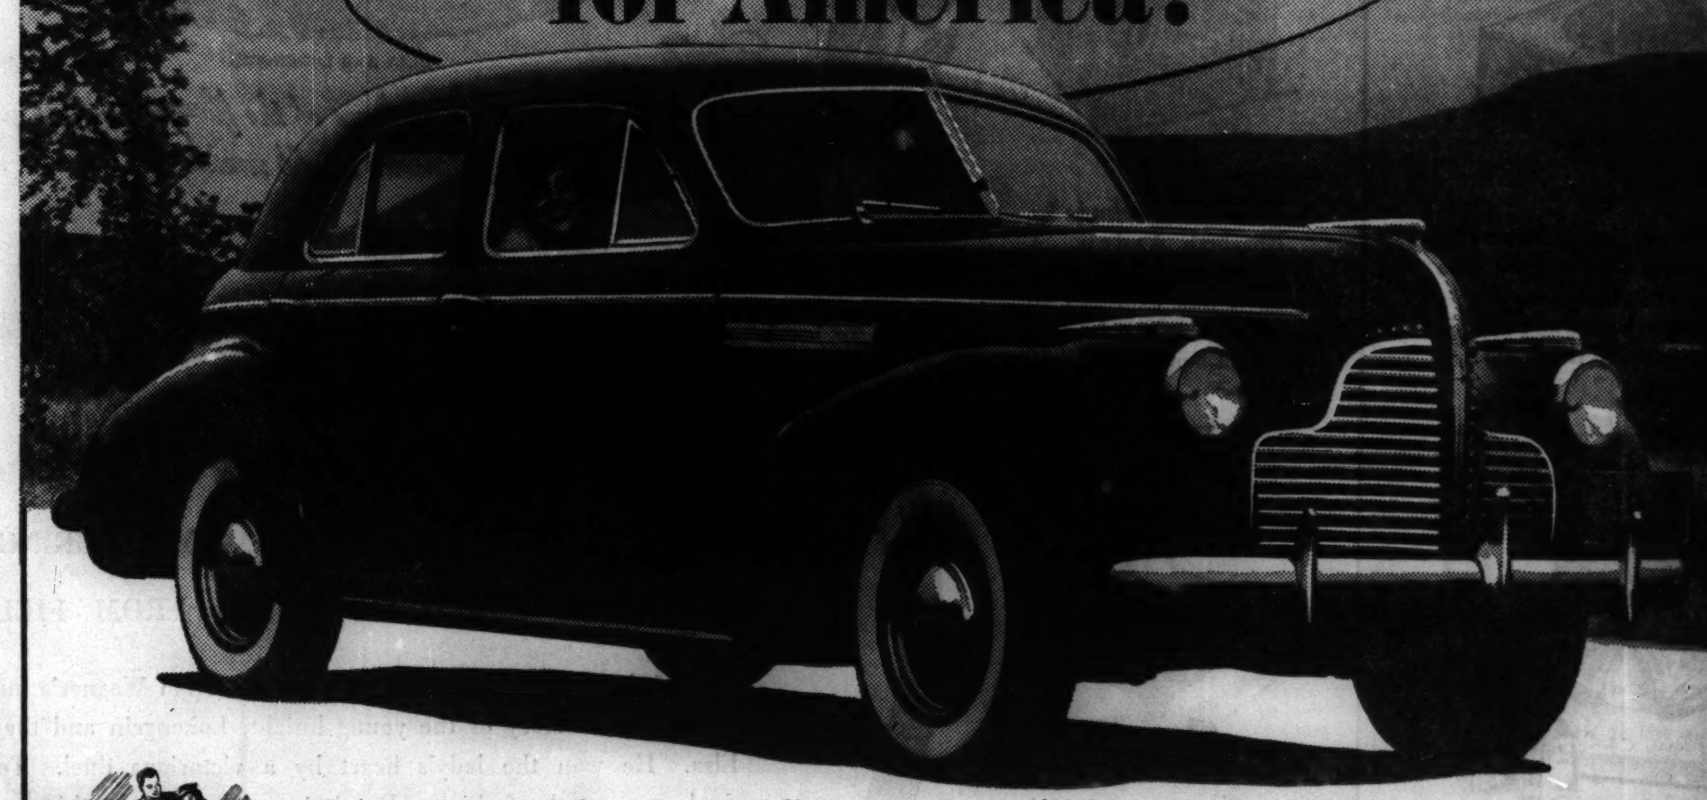
New Highway Sweetheart for America?



The model illustrated is the BUICK SUPER *model 51 four-door touring sedan $1109 delivered at Flint, Mich. White sidewall tires additional.

As it turns out now, what we were looking at when we first saw models of our sleek new Buick Super was a one-car preview of the whole 1940 style trend.

Cast about you today and you'll see the influence of its bold and gleaming radiator pattern on almost every other car on the road.

Note the cars you spot most quickly as new — and you'll see a striving for the Super's ultra-streamlining for its dolphin-like grace, for the roominess that lets you open a five-foot rule between its two front doors.

We're happy, of course, to have contributed this much in lending new beauty to the American highway.

But what makes us happier — and what makes the Super America's No. 1 highway sweetheart — is the wealth of other things we gave this honey in addition to grace.

We're glad we micropoise-balanced its engines to smoothness a watch can't equal — glad we provided soft and gentle coil springs all around, Knee-Action that "gives" to the bumps, gearshifts a finger can flick.

We're glad we divided rear seats with a center armrest — put Foamtex in all cushions — filled all openings with eye-saving Safety Plate Glass — developed the two-way Flash-Way Signal with automatic cut-off.

For these things help mark the difference between the Super and cars that look something like it. Others may follow Buick's style lead — but they can't build a Buick, and the Super is Buick clear down to the steels in it and the precise fit and fashioning of every part.

NLRB ACCUSED OF FOMENTING RIOTS TO AID CIO

Witness and Memo Tell of Mob Rule in Coal Field.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—The National Labor Relations board today was accused of countenancing riot and bloodshed in the coal mining areas of the United States in order to assist the organizing efforts of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, ruled by John L. Lewis.

Joe Ozanic, president of the Progressive Mine Workers of America, an A. F. of L. affiliate, told a congressional committee investigating administration of the Wagner labor act that the NLRB had extended every effort to assist the C. I. O. and thereby had deprived the 80,000 members of his union of their moral and legal rights under the act.

Ozanic's testimony was supported by evidence from the confidential files of the labor board. In West Virginia, particularly, the board adopted a policy of delay while mob rule was exercised by agents of the C. I. O.

Director Tells of Brutality.

A series of confidential memos from Philip G. Phillips, regional director for the board in the West Virginia region, furnished a striking background for Ozanic's charges of the board's partisanship and bias. Phillips confessed in these reports that the C. I. O. was guilty of brutality in its attempts to stop the spread of the Progressive Mine Workers' movement.

In a memo marked "personal and confidential" on June 10, 1939, Phillips notified Nathan Witt, secretary of the labor board:

"I may say I am very troubled about how to sit on the lid in the West Virginia coal cases. I am beginning to be bombarded with requests for action. Apparently the answer that the Alston case [a Kansas case in which the C. I. O. was favored over the Progressives] will furnish the key to the whole situation, no longer is satisfying locals in West Virginia, but I will continue to give that as answer until I hear from you."

Warns Bloodshed Is Certain.

On Nov. 13 last, Phillips again wrote to Witt:

"I cannot tell you how I have been fretting, stewing, and worrying over what recommendation to make. I do feel that in the ordinary case where a director is certain, as a result of his preliminary investigation, that the case will be dismissed, he probably should recommend dismissal, but I am not so certain about a case like this where riot and bloodshed is bound to happen if something isn't done soon.

"I do know that meetings of the Progressives have been interrupted by mobs from the United Mine Workers of America [the C. I. O. organization] and men brutally assaulted. I do know that the mine workers have been parading around the valley and saying the board can't do anything to help the Progressives. But should I recommend their [the Progressives] being denied their day in court?"

"Shoot Progressives Like Rabbits."

Another memo from Phillips to Witt quoted a Van Bitner [spelled with one t], a C. I. O. official, as telling his organizers that they should "treat a Progressive organizer with more contempt than they would a Pinkerton fink, and shoot them down faster than they would a rabbit."

"Who is Van Bitner?" inquired Chairman Howard W. Smith [D., Va.].

"Van Bitner," Ozanic explained, leaning forward, with his black eyes flashing, "why, he's the provisional district president for district 17 of the United Mine Workers. He was appointed by Dictator John L. Lewis and never in his life elected by the United Mine Workers. That, gentlemen, is Mr. Bitner."

Later Van A. Bittner, who spells his name with two "t's" and is president of district 17 and also a member of the U. M. W. A. international board, denied that he ever had made the shooting statement.

Predicts "Hell" in Field.

Criticism voiced by the Progressives was directed solely at the policy of delay adopted by the board, Phillips continued.

"Their criticism is, 'Why don't we get a hearing? Why can't we present our views?'" he wrote, "and they feel that the United [the C. I. O. organization] are giving them their answers when their organizers troop down the valleys and shout, 'The labor board is pro-C. I. O. and you can't get a hearing.'"

14 to Tell of Bias.

Ozanic, a self-educated coal miner who became head of his union in 1938, was the first of 14 coal miners who will testify concerning their troubles under the New Deal's labor relations policy.

Ozanic and his followers formerly were members of the United Mine Workers of America, but seceded from the Lewis organization in 1922 and set up their own union. They were granted an A. F. of L. charter in May, 1937.

The witness said the Progressive membership drive, which he characterized as "a great surge to freedom," was stopped almost dead in its tracks by the labor board's administration of the Wagner act.

"The act itself seemed clear and fair and desirable from labor's viewpoint," Ozanic told the committee. "But the partisan administration of the act by a biased board made the act a definite hindrance. It has deprived large numbers of mine workers of the right which presumably the law was to protect—the right to bargain collectively thru representatives of their own choosing."

Conduct Branded "Inexcusable."

In the case of the Alston company of Pittsburg, Kas., Ozanic said a majority of the company's employés left the C. I. O. organization to join his organization, but the company would not recognize the new group. His organization then filed charges with the labor board of unfair labor practices by the company.

"This case furnishes one of the outstanding examples of inexcusable and unjustifiable delay by the board," Ozanic declared. "Failure of the board to act encouraged the employers and the United Mine Workers to continue and intensify their aggressive measures, discouraged the mine workers, and led them to believe that the Progressive Mine Workers could afford them no protection, despite the provisions of the law as passed by congress."

Ozanic charged that J. C. Clark, representative of the labor board in western Kentucky, was in reality an organizer for the C. I. O. union and "practically made the headquarters of the United Mine Workers his own when in Madisonville, Ky."

"The government wants the United Mine Workers" [C. I. O.], Clark was quoted as saying.

Dancer Divorced

MRS. GERTRUDE HAMBURG.

If Raymond Hamburg ever gets around to writing a letter to Mrs. Gertrude Hamburg it will be too late now. Judge Cornelius J. Harrington granted her a divorce yesterday after she explained that she hadn't heard from her husband since their honeymoon.

Mrs. Hamburg is 26 years old, a dancer living at 411 Fullerton parkway. Hamburg is an actor. They were married Aug. 26, 1938. Three weeks later, she testified, he left town to fill a theatrical engagement. She hasn't seen him or even had a letter from him since.

1ST WIFE STARTS AARON TO JAIL; 2D RESCUES HIM

Shugan is an Evergreen Park druggist. His first wife, Jeanette, told Judge Oscar F. Nelson that Shugan had fallen $720 behind in payments for support of their son, David, 7 years old. Shugan's second wife, Irene, wept as she and his attorney, George Echt, said that the first Mrs. Shugan had moved so often she couldn't be found when it was time to pay.

The judge sentenced Shugan to six months in jail. But before he could be taken there the present Mrs. Shugan freed him with a payment of $100 on account.

MILK DRIVERS TO ELECT AGAIN AFTER 18 YEARS

Insurgents Seek End of Lifetime Jobs.

The 4,700 members of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, local 753, will meet tonight to nominate new officials for the first time in 18 years. The union has been ordered to hold an election on Dec. 28 by its parent body, the International Brotherhood of Chauffeurs, Teamsters, Stablemen and Helpers.

The election is expected to end a wrangle which has continued for two years between factions of the union. Present officials of local 753 had their terms of office extended indefinitely in 1921 by a membership grateful for high wages and the union's freedom from racketeering. They are: Robert G. Fitchie, president; J. G. Kennedy, vice president; Steve Sumner, the 90 year old secretary-treasurer, and Ray Bryant, business representative.

Assail Lifetime Jobs.

A new faction within the local, however, demanded the election recently on the ground that the "lifetime officials" hold their jobs without regard for the present membership. The faction charges that the whole process is undemocratic. Leaders of the insurgents are Peter Hoban and Henry Weber.

"The autocratic principle of life time tenure is a contradiction of the principles of the American labor movement," Hoban said. "The union needs new blood, new leadership which will be responsive to the will of the majority."

Saved from Capone Gang.

Fitchie, president for 30 years, and Bryant, business agent for 20 years, were instrumental in saving the union from domination by the Capone gang, which attempted to take over control in 1932. They discussed the election yesterday in their steel lined office at 220 South Ashland avenue. The office was made bullet proof at the time of the gang trouble.

Fitchie charged that the faction which is pushing the election is a radical element within the union. He indicated that he and the other officials will seek renomination.

Fitchie and the other officers of local 753 are among defendants indicted in the Chicago milk case for conspiracy and combination in restraint of trade. The United States Supreme court on Dec. 4 overruled Judge Charles E. Woodward of the local District court, who had dismissed the indictments, and remanded the case for trial. Among other defendants are Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, and 10 milk companies.

BURGLARS GET $500 IN FURS.

RADIATOR NURSING IS A NUISANCE

For fewer feedings get SHELL Anti-Freeze
Shell Anti-Freeze contains an ingredient specially designed to reduce boil-away, give you surer protection with fewer feedings. Prevents formation of solid ice in coldest weather, stops rust, has no objectionable odor. Harmless to cooling system parts. Get it from your Shell dealer.
HOW SHELL ANTI-FREEZE REDUCES EVAPORATION LOSS
Shell Anti-Freeze contains millions of tiny, harmless oil globules. In your radiator, these rise to the radiator mouth, forming a film that protects anti-freeze from exposure to air — thus reducing evaporation. Best results require: (1) Radiator be filled not more than one inch below overflow pipe. (2) Thermostat be checked to see it is in good working order.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES
This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SUPREME COURT TO HEAR ATTACK ON VOTE RECOUNT

Petition Filed; Prosecutor Prepares to Reply.

Attorney John F. Cashen Jr., special prosecutor of election fraud cases in the County court, prepared yesterday to defend in the Illinois Supreme court the legality of ballot recounts started last month. The legality was attacked in a petition filed by Carl G. Stockholm, as a taxpayer, and Prosecutor Cashen and County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki are asked to explain their procedure.

Atty. J. F. Cashen.

The high court yesterday allowed Stockholm's petition to be filed. This action does not mean that the request of Stockholm is automatically granted. It means that the court will consider it, and may or may not require a reply from Cashen and Judge Jarecki.

Ready to Defend Course.

Cashen, however, said he is ready to justify the course taken, which so far has resulted in disclosures of the theft of thousands of votes at recent elections. Stockholm bases his charge of illegality of the recount on one section of the law, which says ballots must be destroyed six months after the date of the election.

Cashen prosecutes only election judges and clerks in the County court. Precinct captains are being prosecuted in the Criminal court by State's Attorney Courtney thru his assistants. Yesterday a half dozen witnesses testified before Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Criminal court against two Democratic officials of the 52d precinct of the 11th ward, under indictment for conspiracy to commit fraud in the election here last June.

Evidence Introduced.

Preliminary evidence was introduced before Judge Jarecki yesterday in a contempt hearing for judges and clerks of the 19th precinct of the 29th ward and the 68th precinct of the 29th ward as a result of suspected irregularities at the mayoral election.

Judge Jarecki, who appoints all election judges and clerks and supervises all contests at the polls, continued this and all hearings pending before him.

BACK TO PRISON FOR STEPHENSON, COURT'S RULING

Noblesville, Ind., Dec. 13 [Special]—D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan of Indiana, serving a life sentence growing out of the death of Miss Madge Oberholtzer of Indianapolis 14 years ago and who has been in jail here since Sept. 26 awaiting court action on his motion for a new trial, must return to the penitentiary, Judge Cassius M. Gentry ruled today. The court sustained the motion of the state made thru the attorney general's office that Stephenson be returned to prison to remain until a date is fixed for his writ of error hearing here.

Floyd Christian and E. E. Close, defense counsel, filed objections to the ruling and Judge Gentry said he would hear their arguments next Monday. In the meantime he said he would not issue an order for the return of Stephenson to prison, but indicated that unless they could change his opinion he would have him delivered to the warden at Michigan City next week.

Judge Gentry told the attorneys he could not hear the writ of error this month and was unable to say when he could hear it.

Sent to Prison

Judges of Seventh Circuit Will Convene Tomorrow

The fourteen federal district and the five judges of the United States Court of Appeals in the seventh circuit, comprising Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana, will confer here tomorrow and Saturday on the administration of federal justice. Judge Evan A. Evans, senior Circuit court judge, will preside.

ROBBER CHOOSES CELL TO SAVE ILL MOTHER A SHOCK

Lee O'Neal, a confessed bandit, shook his head yesterday when he was offered probation. He preferred prison, he said, because probation would require questioning of his ailing mother and he feared that disclosure of his criminal career would be a fatal shock.

O'Neal, who is 21 years old, was arrested during the American Legion convention in September when he and Thomas Lowery, 29, were holding up cab drivers while wearing stolen Legion uniforms. Judge Michael Feinberg sentenced Lowery, an ex-convict, to two concurrent terms of one to ten years in prison, but offered probation to O'Neal, with approval of Sam Freedman, assistant state's attorney.

On learning O'Neal's reason for declining, the judge sent him back to jail until Dec. 29. An investigation will be made without the knowledge of O'Neal's mother. If the report is favorable, the judge said, he will then grant the bandit a probation without betraying his trouble to his mother.

WARNS AGAINST BOGUS MONEY IN YULETIDE RUSH

Merchants were warned yesterday by Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan, head of the secret service here, to beware of professional counterfeit money passers who may attempt to take advantage of the Christmas rush. In particular he warned of spurious $10 silver certificates and $5 bills.

The phony $10 bill has the number E-51 on the front and 499 on the back. It is heavily printed on both sides, with heavy shading around the portrait of Alexander Hamilton. The rear is poorly executed. Some of the bills have a glazed surface. The counterfeit $5 bills bear the numbers H-204, I-204, and L-239.

UPHOLDS FRAUD CONVICTIONS OF FATHER AND SON

The mail fraud convictions of John W. Moore, president of the defunct Continental Credit corporation of Union City, Ind., and his son, John W. Jr., were affirmed yesterday by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

The Moores, who ran a $500 corporation into a $3,000,000 business debacle, were convicted at Indianapolis, Ind., a year ago. The elder Moore was fined $500 and sentenced to seven years in prison. His son was fined $1,500 and sentenced to five years. They were convicted of conspiracy to duplicate securities to use as collateral.

The conviction of Russell E. Wise, the corporation's attorney and former general manager, was set aside.

ASKS NEW STUDY OF WHAT TO DO ABOUT GAMBLING

Judge Says Our Present System Is Futile.

Judge Jay A. Schiller asserted in Racket court yesterday that his two weeks there had convinced him it was futile if not hypocritical to attempt to suppress gambling. He proposed a public study to devise means of regulating gambling sensibly.

Judge Schiller.

"A commission should be appointed to discuss ways and means," said Judge Schiller. "High church officials should be asked to name representatives on the commission. The bar association, crime commission, association of commerce, and civic and fraternal organizations should also be invited.

"The governor vetoed one form of legalized handbooks; another plan adopted by the city council was ruled invalid. Surely there must be some workable plan that would obviate such a travesty on justice as takes place in my courtroom every day. I ask the aid of the intelligent men and women of the city."

21 Ask Jury Trials.

Judge Schiller said that every day a procession of gamblers came before him and asked jury trials. He referred their cases to jury court. This was the procedure when 21 handbook employés appeared before him during the day.

"Juries won't convict them," the judge said. "New cases are piling up every day, and the jury call is so crowded now that the courts can't possibly get to these new cases for many months. Meanwhile, my presence here is useless. The efforts of three clerks, four bailiffs, one assistant state's attorney, and one assistant city prosecutor are wasted."

Judge Schiller said his experience suggested that the authorities were not approaching the gambling problem with intelligence. He said the police gambling squad was making 20 or more handbook raids a day, some with search warrants, some without, and that the end product was one conviction this year. The judge said this conviction appeared to be an accident.

Quotes Jurors' Explanations.

"We all know that a large portion of the public likes to bet on horse races, and will do so, law or no law," the judge continued. "It is legal to bet at race tracks, illegal at handbooks. But jurors, women as well as men, say that on that point the law discriminates against the poor man or woman who can't afford to go to the tracks. So they will not convict handbook operators."

Judge Schiller suggested that Mayor Kelly or Gov. Horner take the initiative in calling for public discussion directed toward reform.

"From such a group as I have suggested," he said, "a recommendation for new legislation would carry weight. Perhaps the law would contemplate a commission to supervise all horse race betting away from race tracks. If such a commission were composed of citizens of a high type, all persons would be protected."

FORMER CONVICT ADMITS ATTEMPT TO ROB MAIL CAR

Danville, Ill., Dec. 13 [Special].—James A. Tracy, an ex-convict 30 years old, pleaded guilty in federal court here today to a charge of having taken part in an attempt to rob a mail train of a $56,000 army pay roll. The attempt was made last July 31 near Onarga, Ill.

Tracy confessed to District Attorney Arthur Roe, and named John F. Waldron, 38, and John Blackwell as his accomplices. Waldron pleaded not guilty today and Blackwell still is at large. Tracy will not be sentenced until Waldron's trial is over.

Tracy also confessed that he and Waldron stole a mail pouch containing $13,000 from the Belvidere, Ill., postoffice on Nov. 10, 1938. He added that, after the Belvidere robbery, he and his companions in the attempted train holdup stole six mail pouches from a truck near Beloit, Wis. These pouches contained no valuables.

In the attempt to take the army pay roll Waldron was wounded by a mail clerk and captured. Tracy said he escaped with Blackwell, who was in a car near where the train was stopped. Officers seized Tracy Aug. 4 in St. Louis, Mo.

Find Death Auto

Mrs. Ricka Thompson, run down and killed by the auto of a thief who had snatched her purse.

Shakespeare avenue police early today established to their own satisfaction they had found the green sedan in which a purse thief ran down and killed Mrs. Ricka Thompson, 64 years old, Tuesday night at the entrance to an alley opening into Lawndale avenue just north of North avenue.

The car was abandoned yesterday morning in front of 5413 Lovejoy street. Its motor was running and radio and lights were on. Charles Hawthorne, 1314 South Christiana avenue, had reported it stolen three hours before Mrs. Thompson was killed.

Police spent yesterday and last night examining the car and comparing its tire treads with tracks left in the alley. Adhering to the bumper were several hairs and some threads from a garment. These will be compared with the victim's hair and clothing.

Sergt. James Lynch said Mrs. Thompson's purse also had been recovered. It was found, with another stolen Tuesday night, in an alley near Foster and Milwaukee avenues. This is about half a mile from where the sedan was abandoned. Mrs. Thompson, a widow and grandmother, lived in a rooming house at 1654 North Lawndale avenue.

BIDS ON A FENCE AT ST. CHARLES TOP ESTIMATES

The low bid on a fence to surround St. Charles School for Boys, from which 74 inmates have escaped since last Jan. 1, was found to be $27,643 for an eight foot fence when the bids were opened yesterday by the state division of architecture and engineering in Springfield. The bid was submitted by Paul H. Martin of Batavia.

A 13 foot fence also is being considered, and the low bidder at that height was the Cyclone Fence company of Waukegan. The legislature has appropriated $26,000 for the fence, $9,000 for lights, and $5,000 to hire and equip additional guards. All the bids exceeded the appropriation and the engineering division is reserving decision.

The fence was ordered erected by the legislature last May.

DISMISS FEDERAL GAMBLING JURY IN SURPRISE MOVE

New Group to Continue Probe of Racket.

William J. Campbell, United States attorney, announced yesterday that the November grand jury, which has been investigating incomes of Chicago gamblers, will be discharged today. Campbell indicated that no income tax evasion indictments against gamblers will be returned. He said a new jury will be impaneled Monday and that it will continue the work of the November jury.

Campbell offered no explanation for the abrupt termination of the investigation. When the November jury was impaneled government officials indicated it would continue the inquiry into the affairs of William R. Skidmore and Bill Johnson, reputed overlords of syndicate gambling in Chicago.

Probe Tax Angles.

The jurors proposed to find out whether the government has been getting all the income tax due on the profits from gambling and whether the tax has been paid on money collected to protect the racket from the law. At the beginning, officials said, the jury's term would be extended beyond the one month if necessary to complete its work.

The inquiry was secret, but enough information leaked out to give the syndicate higherups the jitters and to drive many of the lesser lights in the gambling world to cover. About 35 subpenas, naming many gamblers, were issued. State Senator Daniel J. Serritella, who publishes a horse race scratch sheet, and Capt. Thomas Harrison of the Chicago avenue station were among those seen leaving the grand jury room.

Observers suggested two explanations for the discharge of the November jury. It was reported that officials were dissatisfied with the personel and had decided to present the bulk of the important evidence before another group.

Unable to Find Some Witnesses.

And it is known that investigators have been unable to find certain witnesses whose testimony was desired. A government spokesman insisted, however, that the inquiry was not seriously hampered by the disappearance of these persons who were described as minor characters.

Campbell also announced yesterday that he will be in Washington tomorrow where he will attend a conference on youth unemployment. If possible he will call upon Attorney General Frank Murphy. It is expected they will discuss the attorney general's announcement last week that the government will investigate vote frauds in Chicago in national elections.

DYNAMITE BLAST ENDS TEACHER'S DREAM OF LOVE

Tells Jury She Feared Ex-School Chief.

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 13 [Special].—Mary Jo Miller, a teacher of physical education in Oak Park, Ill., told a Circuit court jury today that her dreams blew up on July 25, 1938, when a suitcase full of dynamite exploded in her bedroom.

Miss Miller, who is 26 years old, told the jury she knew who placed the dynamite in the room she occupied in the home of her brother, J. H. Miller, whom she was visiting here. She knew, she declared, because she had given the suitcase to E. Ross Wyatt, former superintendent of schools in Brookeland, Tex., for a Christmas present.

The blast damaged the Miller home, but did not injure any one in it.

Wyatt is on trial on charges of burglary with intent to kill Miss Miller, who said she spurned him for seven years and fled to Illinois in 1937 to escape further humiliation.

Becomes Wyatt's Secretary.

Miss Miller testified she was only 15 years old and just out of college when she got a job as Wyatt's secretary. She was in debt for her education, she said, and had to keep the job.

In the first week of her employment, Wyatt hugged and kissed her, Miss Miller testified, and by the end of the week she learned he was married and had a child. The hugging and kissing continued for three years, she added.

Asked if she resisted or resented the first time Wyatt kissed her, Miss Miller replied:

"I was in no position to resent. I didn't exactly like it at first, but he was my boss and I had to have the job. I was afraid of him."

Questioned by Wyatt's Lawyer.

"After learning that Wyatt was married and continuing to go out with him, did you feel capable of teaching those young school children in the ways of right living?" asked J. R. Bogarte, defense counsel, on cross examination.

"Some of the children were older than I," Miss Miller replied. "I was only 18 years old."

In answer to a question by Bogarte the witness said she had not made a trip out of the state with Wyatt and had not spent week-ends with him in tourist camps.

Miss Miller's brother testified yesterday that he protested to her in 1935 about keeping company with Wyatt, and was told that the principal always acted like a gentleman.

Miss Miller's testimony today contradicted the earlier report about gentlemanly actions. She told the jury that Wyatt slapped and beat her and pulled her hair.

A number of letters written by Miss Miller to Wyatt were offered in evidence. She addressed him in endearing terms and expressed a desire to be with him.

Miss Miller said these letters were written under threats.

E. W. Johnson, a Shreveport, La., salesman, followed Miss Miller on the stand and told the jury Wyatt looked like the man to whom he sold 50 pounds of dynamite and a roll of fuse in July, 1938.

INDIANA FORCES JOB FUND CHEATS TO REPAY $43,000

Indiana has forced job insurance cheaters this year to repay $43,090 which they obtained by fraud, it was disclosed at Gary yesterday by James B. Clements, of the legal staff of the Indiana unemployment compensation office.

Clements said that 74 of the 75 cheaters prosecuted have been convicted. Many others escaped prosecution by making restitution, Clements said. Information by which cheating is being stamped out is coming from workers themselves.

JUDGE REBUKES KUHN'S LAWYER FOR 'INSOLENCE'

New York, Dec. 13 [Special].—Peter L. F. Sabbatino today stood before Judge James G. Wallace and listened for about an hour to what was said by old-time court observers to be one of the most stinging rebukes ever visited upon a lawyer in General Sessions court.

Attorney Sabbatino [top] Judge Wallace.

Judge Wallace condemned Sabbatino for his conduct during the trial of his client, Fritz Kuhn, convicted leader of the German-American bund, but did not find him guilty of contempt.

"If I did what I ought," Judge Wallace said to the lawyer, "I'd clap you in jail. The only thing that deters me is the fact that you did appear in behalf of an unpopular cause.

"You had the impertinence to tell me you were going to keep on calling witnesses until I stopped asking questions. It was the most insolent remark made to me in my career on the bench."

Sabbatino told Judge Wallace several times that he was "truly sorry."

TOY GUNS PLAGUE POLICE IN FIGHT AGAINST BANDITS

5 Robbers Seized in Ten Days Used Playthings.

A toy problem confronts Chicago police, but it is not a question of what to buy their sons and daughters for Christmas. It is a problem of life and death.

The toys are toy pistols—built to resemble .32 and .38 caliber lethal weapons. These playthings are carried by robbers to intimidate their victims, chiefly women.

The arrest of five toy pistol bandits in the last 10 days, and the report of the activities of others, led last night to a decisive statement by Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan.

Look Like Real Weapons.

"I am instructing my men to take no chances," he said. "If a criminal carries a gun, toy or no toy, police must act to protect themselves and safeguard the lives of citizens."

Criminals are the toy guns' greatest boosters. Listen to Mike Kuzel seized Tuesday after committing 25 holdups with the aid of one of them:

"I bought a gun for half a dollar," said Kuzel at the Central police station. "It looked real. Then I made the candy and stocking shops. They have girl clerks. When they saw the gun they were scared to death."

Says It's for His Brother.

And there is Eli Lear, whose attempt to rob a loop department store failed when a clerk, Miss Bonnie Knox, screamed, and he was caught.

"That's just a toy gun," Lear told police, "I was taking it home to my little brother." But Lear is booked for attempted robbery just the same.

Detective Norman McGrath of Englewood station shot and wounded Roy Perks last week. Perks, a liquor store bandit, jammed a toy gun into McGrath's back. The detective wheeled and fired.

Edward Arnold and Thomas Hetherington, half brothers, committed three toy gun robberies, then switched to real revolvers. The potential killers were captured when sale of the guns was traced.

Last April 20 the city council judiciary committee recommended passage of a bill submitted by Ald. William J. Cowhey [41st] which would make it unlawful to sell or possess toy pistols. A fine of $10 to $200 was provided.

Ald. Cowhey said last night the measure later was recalled by the judiciary committee, of which Ald. H. L. Brody [39th] is chairman. There has been no action in the intervening eight months.

Learning their 3 R's with Remington Noiseless Typewriters

● Every parent has watched with keen interest the advancement and development of the five pretty little girls, now world famous as the "Dionne Quintuplets." The best scientific methods have been used in their rearing. Many have been the speculations and conjectures as to their future. But they are growing up—.

They are now getting their first taste of schooling in the three R's. It was here Remington Rand was called in to supply the important tool in their education—the typewriter. Naturally we are proud to be so honored by the Guardians in whose charge "the five most famous girls in the world" will prepare to be "ladies."

Educators, engineers and technicians got busy. The Remington Noiseless Portable was agreed upon as the perfect machine for these fifty famous fingers and Dr. Dafoe concurred, (and he knows for his office in Callander is exclusively equipped with two Remington Noiseless Typewriters). Then, too, these machines require less effort for tiny tots to operate.

But that's not the whole story—while the Remington Noiseless Portable's feather touch requires less effort to operate, and QUIET nerve soothing typing makes progress easier, another most important step was yet to be taken—a new Keyboard that would—be standard—do languages—mathematics—all other types of school work—and prepare the child to use any standard typewriter in the future. This keyboard has now been devised, "The 5-purpose Quintuplet Educational Keyboard." It is ready not only for the Dionne Quintuplets—but also for YOUR CHILDREN.

Quintuplet Educational Keyboard

● Most children advance more rapidly in school and classroom work with the aid of a typewriter. This was proven in the report of a dramatic 2-year series of important most revealing scientific tests, conducted by two of the nation's most prominent educators.

To meet the need for improvement in such an important educational tool, Remington Rand has developed and perfected the 5-purpose Quintuplet Educational Keyboard, that is first—standard, second—adaptable to languages, third—will do all types of school work, fourth—do mathematics, fifth—prepare children to use any standard typewriter. Remember, children learning to typewrite on the new Quintuplet Educational keyboard will be able to type at any time in the future on any standard keyboard! Be sure to see it at your dealer's or at your local Remington Rand office.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

GIRL SKATER, 18, KIDNAPED AND RAPED; SIX HELD

Sister Escapes Attackers After Struggle.

Six young men, accused of the kidnaping and rape of a girl 18 years old, were arrested yesterday by the Blue Island police. It was reported last night that five of the band confessed they had forcibly attacked the victim.

Stanley Grzegorzek.

The girl and her younger sister, daughters of a Chicago policeman, visited a skating rink at 119th street and Damen avenue, in Blue Island, Tuesday evening. They left about 10 p. m. According to the girls, the six men met them outside the rink, seized them, and forced them toward an automobile.

Struggle with Attackers.

The girls fought with the men, and the younger one escaped from them and ran back into the rink. The other was overpowered and forced into the car.

Her captors, she said, strangled her cries for help. She said she was driven to a lonely spot near 123d and Throop streets, where the five men raped her. One of the men, John Rusnak, 23 years old, 12537 Honore street, Calumet Park, then drove her home, she told the police.

Meanwhile the younger sister, who had obtained the license number of the car near the skating rink, notified her father. He traced this number and, with the assistance of the Blue Island authorities, seized Rusnak.

Five Others Seized.

Rusnak named his companions, all residents of Calumet Park, and they were arrested a few hours after the commission of the alleged crime. They are Rusnak's brother, Frank, 19; Clemons Siniawski, 19, of 12530 Honoré street; Elmer Benthowski, 18, and Stanley Grzegorzek, 19, both of 1260 Honoré street, and Steven Gosciej, 23, of 12445 Winchester avenue.

All were taken to the detective bureau for finger printing yesterday afternoon. Benthowski, who denied any part in the attack other than being present, was returned to Blue Island. The others were held at the bureau and will be taken to the state's attorney's sex bureau today.

Record Total of 1,626,019 Autos Licensed in Illinois

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 13 (AP).—The number of passenger automobiles licensed in Illinois in the first 11 months of 1939 was 58,244 above the total registrations for 1938. Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes announced today licensed passenger cars reached a record total of 1,626,019 on Nov. 30. License fee collections for the 11 month period, Hughes said, were $23,838,968, an increase of $2,757,828 over a year ago.

ALASKA COLONY TAKES NEW STEP TO GO IT ALONE

Co-op Buys Trading Post and Warehouse.

PALMER, Alaska, Dec. 13 (AP).—America's Mantanuska colony, founded four years ago as an economic and social experiment with distressed farm families from the middle west, took another step toward economic independence today.

The Matanuska Valley Farmers' coöperative reported the purchase of all inventory stock in the colony trading post and warehouse, which together do an annual gross business of $220,000.

Negotiations are under way, it was announced, for the coöperative to take over all units in Palmer's civic center. The government financed Alaska Rural Rehabilitation corporation has been the operator since the colony was founded.

The latest moves followed the coöperative's assumption in July of the creamery, produce, and meat departments. L. C. Stock, coöperative manager, declared that "we must completely divorce the project from government relief."

"I expect that it will take five years more to place this project on a firm foundation with the proper volume of farm produce required to make the farms self-supporting and on a paying basis," he said.

Mrs. Ivan Wilson, Matanuska weekly editor and a farmer's wife, commented: "The farmers do not want relief, but an opportunity to become independent and self-supporting."

Snowstorm Loss 3 Per Cent.

The coöperative developments came as the settlers' optimism was rising after a snowstorm that caused alarm in October. Live stock is reported in good condition and one of the mildest winters for years has prevailed. Only two or three inches of snow remains in the fields.

About 40 head of cattle, including some old cows, were butchered after the October storm, because a feed shortage was feared, but farmers say it was only a beneficial herd pruning. The total estimated crop loss from the storm was placed at about 3 per cent.

MOVE TO CLEAR DIVORCE DOCKET BY 1ST OF YEAR

Superior court judges hope before the year ends to clear the dockets of 550 uncontested divorce suits and 220 that will be contested. Nine judges now sitting in the law division will begin hearing uncontested cases Dec. 22 when there are no other pressing actions. Three judges of the chancery division will at the same time begin hearing contested cases. As Judges Rudolph Desort and Oscar F. Nelson are already sitting in the divorce courts, there will then be 14 jurists at work on the divorce docket.

Junior League to Repeat Play Next Saturday

When the Chicago Junior League Children's theater department opened a streamlined version of "Alice in Wonderland" at the Winnetka Community house the demand for seats was so great that the cast was obliged to give two performances, one right after the other.

The only other performance open to the public is one to be given at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Chicago Historical society.

The play, written especially for the league by Mrs. Charlotte Chorpenning, has been trouped to dozens of Chicago's public schools during the last few weeks. Warren McCreary, director of the league's workship, has devised a number of finales, keeping his actresses on their toes.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

The Reviewing Stand.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 13.—On the day that the press preview of "Gone with the Wind" brought Director Victor Fleming his greatest acclamation, Douglas Fairbanks Sr. died of a heart attack. . . . That is more than passing strange, because Fleming became a director as the result of breaking into the business as a cameraman for Fairbanks.

No one would have enjoyed Fleming's writeups this morning more keenly than Doug. . . . Probably no one in this town mourned the sudden death of the famous film idol more deeply than Fleming.

"The stars of today are lazy people," commented Fleming in our recent interview. . . . "Doug Fairbanks Sr. was the last of the great stars who really enjoyed working. I never met any one who worked so hard and so enthusiastically. I never met a finer man."

No subject became so tiresome in Hollywood as the discussion as to what actress would be selected finally to play the rôle of Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone with the Wind." . . . After the press preview it can be stated with considerable vigor that no actress could have given a more superb interpretation of the rôle than Vivien Leigh.

There are a lot of fine performances in this magnificent motion picture, but Miss Leigh is a standout. . . . She had to be to exceed Clark Gable, Olivia De Havilland, and Hattie McDaniel, the round and elderly colored actress who is cast as "Mammy."

"Gone with the Wind," as the result of Margaret Mitchell's book and the collaboration of David O. Selznick and Director Victor Fleming in transferring it to the screen, is one of those pictures that comes along once in a score of years.

It is as if all the mechanics of picture making—sound, photography, and color—had reached their completest expression to achieve something that is perfection. . . . To construct a motion picture that runs four hours without ever losing the attention of an audience is a remarkable feat. Only Eugene O'Neill ever succeeded in accomplishing it on the legitimate stage, and he was a great craftsman of the theater.

Conceding that Vivien Leigh made a superb Scarlett, and that Gable brought Rhett Butler to life as you had expected, I am of the opinion that the strength of this cinema document owes an enormous debt to the brilliant performance of Olivia De Havilland.

Wasted for too many seasons on parts that demanded only that she look beautiful and young and bosom-y, Olivia finally snagged herself a part that demanded expert performing, and the youngster's "Melanie" is one of the top jobs of 1939.

Every other part, in turn, became greater and truer because of the note she struck and maintained thruout the picture.

So much for the artistic merits of the piece. . . . Commercially, it should take in all of the money that is available. . . . It is a picture that every one will want to see, and in return it offers the fullest value. . . . They predict now, as I predicted some time back, that this picture will gross about $10,000,000. . . . It is worth it.

The press preview of it occurred just about twelve hours after the movie colony had been shocked by the death of Douglas Fairbanks Sr. . . . To those of us who had seen him within the last week the early morning reports of his death were almost incredible.

Just a few days ago Fairbanks had

For the sophisticated lady, a sophisticated perfume by all means! One of the few new scents this season is justly deserving of that label. It's chic, different, beautiful, and exotic.

For obvious reasons there aren't a great many new perfumes this season. The perfumers would emphatically agree with Sherman's definition of war. But the selection of new scents, if small, is exceedingly choice.

One of the newcomers is pretty much the talk of toilet goods circles. In a year when there is so much emphasis on prettiness that even perfumes stress sweet simplicity rather than worldliness it is considered downright courageous for a perfumer to bring out a scent that's frankly sophisticated, as one has just done. It's a sensational success, too.

The top of the flacon—a stunning, streamline bottle—sets the stage for the perfume. The top is covered in velvet in tawny tiger striped fabric. This is much more appealing to the eye than it sounds to the ear—and it is supposed to convey to you the fact that this perfume has what its maker describes as "the deep lure of the jungle."

Did we hear you say "Whoops!" We said it ourselves when we read his impassioned description of the perfume he had created.

Anyhow, it's one of those perfumes you would adore to own. It's different, it's chic, it's beautiful, and it's very much the kind that makes you feel like a vamp.

You can't imagine your sweet little grandmother wearing it, but with the right clothes you'd wear it yourself and get a terrific bang out of its smoldering charm. And so, we might add, would the bystanders. It's a perfume people notice and ask about.

There's a cologne to match.

Good Morning!

It's onexpected, Chilluns, but it's fun.

In "Destry Rides Again," Miss Dietrich drapes about her shoulders the soiled but sparkling mantle [to be literal the mantle's composed of ostrich feathers] of dance hall entertainer and sweetie of the town bad man, Kent.

She is Frenchy, a hard lovin', hard drinkin', hard fightin', and cheatin' skirt who, believe it or not, DOESN'T possess a heart of gold. Anxious as you are to give the little girl her dues, when she lets herself go and get shot while protecting the gangling person of young Deputy Sheriff Destry, your better judgment tells you that her sudden fervor in his cause has been inspired entirely by biological urge.

This is a live wire, deliciously amusing "western" with most of the action occurring in and around a dance hall dive in the town of Bottle Neck. . . . When its one honest man, the sheriff, essays to come to the aid of a rancher who has been done out of his holdings at a poker game at which he has lost to Kent thru the connivance of Frenchy, the officer is seen in those parts no more and the town drunk, Wash Dimsdale, is elected to his high office.

But—surprise! When Wash learns the news, he pushes aside a congratulatory bottle. For, once upon a time, this lovable bum had ridden and worked with the great sagebrush sheriff, Destry . . . shot in the back by those who were afraid to look him in the face . . . and behind the liquor sodden exterior is an honest and a fearless man.

If he's to be sheriff—he'll BE sheriff. And, as his deputy he will have young Destry, son of Destry, the great.

So Thomas J. Destry Jr. is sent for. And how Wash does brag! Just let the law breakers WAIT till they see the hard bitten, gun totin', target annihilatin' yahoo they're GOING to see . . . !

True, he's merely holding the things for the girl who has been his traveling companion, but the first impression Bottle Neck gets of the new deputy isn't a felicitous one.

It further develops that young Destry doesn't believe in carrying fire arms. And his pacific manner and gentle smile have the population fooled for awhile. But there comes a day when they see that he knows how to use a gun, and that manner and smile are just honey covering for dynamite. . . .

You saw James Stewart in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," didn't you? Well, now run over and see him take care of young Tom Destry. I don't know how you feel about it, but to watch this Abraham Lincolnish looking chap is a treat to me. I love him.

The elegant work of himself and Miss Dietrich is bulwarked by A-1 cast support, highlighted by Mr. Winninger's sheriff, Mischa Auer's Russian cowboy and Mr. Donlevy's dance hall divil. And if you like a CAT FIGHT—there's been nothing like the battle between Miss Dietrich and Miss Merkel since "Passion"—with Pola Negri. [Nope, that of Paulette Goddard and Rosalind Russell in "The Women" isn't even in the running.]

IT'S SWELL!

See you soon.

Holiday Parties Fill Calendar of Colony Club

BY JUDITH CASS.

The University Colony club has seen to it so thoroly that its members' children will have a good time this Christmas holiday season that there won't be a dull moment for any of them. As one mother who belongs to the club puts it, "When I see the invitations piled up here I wonder if I'm going to see the children at all."

Mrs. Robert Warfield is in charge of the young people's parties for the Colony club this year. The largest of them will be a Christmas ball on Christmas night at the Shoreland hotel. Most of the college age boys and girls whose parents live on the south side and who are active in University of Chicago circles are invited to this gay dance.

A supper-dance for the high school age group will be given on the 23d at the Del Prado hotel. A "welcome home" tea-dance will be given on the 22d at the Windermere hotel. The hours for this party are from 5 until 9 o'clock and the refreshments will be hearty enough to serve as supper rather than tea.

The club's big family party, called the Twelfth Night party, will be held earlier than tradition demands in order that the college and preparatory groups may take part. It will be given on the evening of Dec. 29 at Ida Noyes hall instead of on the customary 12th night after Christmas. Late in January the club will give its usual roller skating party for the college age group, taking over the whole skating rink at White City.

Gay Lighting Adds to Cheer of Holiday Season

A happy, lighter note for holiday nights! We brighten the Christmas season with gaily lighted exterior decorations. Here an entrance is outlined to sparkle a cordial welcome and a grouping of shrubs is thrown into bold relief by a few well placed lights.

Doorway Lights Give Welcome at Holiday Time

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

As long as one keeps in the bounds of good taste, exterior Christmas lighting can include almost anything from a showy Santa Claus and spirited reindeer atop a roof to a single star over a doorway.

Garlands of colorful lights outlining a doorway are one of our most popular exterior effects at holiday time. These are adaptable, and can be as easily taken down as they are put up. These lights can be shielded in different ways. One simple method is to use Christmas trees cut from cardboard and painted green.

Where one has an unusual or attractive doorway or studio window, a rustic gateway, perhaps, or a particularly graceful chimney—any such interesting point can be singled out and accentuated.

With a little more effort numerous interesting silhouette effects can be achieved. They can be cut from heavy composition board, and painted black and then varnished. Spar varnish should be used to make them weather resistive. These afford an interesting use of light and shadow. A giant Santa Claus mounted on a roof or set on a lawn is always exciting to the children. Another holiday figure is ye olde "town crier."

A striking lawn decoration is a single very tall candle, made of heavy cardboard and set in a wood frame. If one's home is extremely moderne, such a candle can be of silver and black; or if one's house inclines more to the traditional, there's no color more in the spirit of Christmas than red. Such a candle can have its top cut away a bit to simulate a basin formed by melting candle grease, and a light socket set inside the basin, and covered with screen wire twisted to "look like a flame" can be faintly tinted with yellow and red paint.

New projector lamps are available in spotlight and floodlight colors, and these lamps can be of the open or inclosed type. Small reflectors with weatherproof sockets have shade holders. There are spectacular or simple outdoor light designs. And inexpensive materials are available to "make your own"—if you have a handy man or boy around the house, or happen to be a home mistress and "handy yourself!"

You can get your lamps in many colors, and such inexpensive materials as aluminum foil, cel-o-glass, silver tinsel and sheet metal, not to mention hosts of others, and all can be used in planning and making some attractive and lively outdoor display.

And a point to remember in placing that outdoor Christmas tree: See that its lights are arranged so that an onlooker sees in the darkness of the night a true shape of a tree. If you wish your tree to sparkle and glint, add circles and crosses and stars cut from aluminum or bright sheet metal. Or you can make the same designs from wood and paint them. And you will find that most types of lamps are available in many colors.

Gift for Man? Try New Shaker for Cocktails

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Christmas crowds are buckling down in earnest to the problems of the last few days of gift shopping! Those with the baffled glitter in the eye are usually the uninformed feminine shoppers looking for something original for the gentlemen on their lists, those exasperating men "who have everything."

Cruising about the supplies of loot with a good masculine appeal, we recommend a few new items for serious consideration. In one shop with a corner well stocked with gifts worthy of any man's beaming approval is the last swallow or gulp in a cocktail shaker.

It's the fire extinguisher shaker, the witty brain wave of a famous party giver, copied from the gleaming metal fire fighters hung on the walls of all our best office buildings. Such a clever find is suprisingly practical, holds a generous supply of fire water, and boasts a printed list of regulations on the side.

Another new cocktail shaker is the one with a decorative rooster head top and a handle carved in rooster tail feathers. It is sold separately or with the stunning large metal tray and glasses that are held in metal containers to match the tail feathers of the shaker.

Other convivial souls on your list will like the clever new rubber ice containers, shaped like fat barrels with knob tops. These come in gaudy green, bright red, and blue with contrast colored knobs. For more money but worth every extra penny, see the handsome wooden pail with metal insulation insides. . . . Reminds you of the old oaken bucket gone modern.

Desk gadgets bloom anew every yuletide, the better to tempt feminine shoppers. Clocks, barometers, inkpots, humidors, calendars, and the tricky models that have all these in one bundle are limitless in style model and covering. The dark brown rattan arrivals are especially attractive and so is the round leather covered cigaret humidor that holds a supply of smokes [roll the top disc and up pops a fag], and a clock all in the same package.

The Housewife

Some of the most beautiful flower containers we've seen are the exquisite white porcelain bowls with an intricate design that is visible only when placed against the light. These bowls are Chinese and look best on small black teakwood stands.

Very lovely, too, are the celadon green rectangular shaped shallow bowls intended for floral arrangements done in the Japanese manner. If you select one of these for a Christmas gift [they come in three or four sizes] it would be a thoughtful touch to add one or two little needlepoint flower holders, indispensable in the Japanese scheme of arranging cut flowers.

This Tells Why Boston Calls Its Symphony Best

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Boston Symphony orchestra, modestly called by its admirers the world's finest orchestra, came to the Auditorium theater last night to give a concert in Northwestern university's History and Enjoyment of Music series and to make its first Chicago appearance in six years. Serge Koussevitzky conducted.

Better than the dull statement that the event was successful is the testimony of an usher—a man of seventeen years' experience—to the effect that he had never heard anything to equal the ovation which the audience tendered to orchestra and conductor at the conclusion of the concert.

The immediate occasion for the demonstration was a performance of Tschaikowsky's fourth symphony which for splendor of tone, ease and naturalness of flow, richness of detail, and dramatic interest we can hardly hope to hear excelled this side of paradise. Dr. Koussevitzky himself, despite all the hundreds of times he must have conducted this work, seemed to exult as much as any one in the beauty of this cosmos of opulent, controled, organized sound which he and his orchestra were building.

But the Tschaikowsky was not alone responsible for the ovation. Enthusiasm had been gradually accumulating thru the Haydn symphony [No. 102] and the Debussy "La Mer," which had preceded it.

The Haydn was straightforward, healthy, and possessed of an almost rough vigor. The Debussy was soft, evocative, and glorified by a thousand subtle rhythmic and tonal effects.

It was in the latter work that we had the best oportunity which the evening afforded to study and marvel at the rapport between conductor and orchestra. It seemed as if Dr. Koussevitzky's ideas of interpretation, right down to the tiniest nuance, were executed in sound as quickly as he could conceive them in mind. This, on sober thought, is simply the result of painstaking rehearsals, but the perfection and the instantaneous quality of the orchestra's responses were startling enough at the time.

At the Civic Opera house last night the Chicago City Opera company repeated Verdi's "Otello." The name part and Iago remained in the hands of Giovanni Martinelli and Carlo Morelli, respectively. Edith Mason sang Desdemona.

Give Premier Sunday of Yule Oratorio by Mrs. Walter Dill Scott

The premier of an original Christmas oratorio, "The Mass of Christ," will be presented by the senior choir of the St. James Methodist church at 4:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. The words of the oratorio were written by Mrs. Walter Dill Scott, who has attained distinction as a poet. Bethuel Gross, organist-director of the church, composed the music.

Front Views and Profiles

Irish Intellectual.

The arrival of Oliver St. John Gogarty, the Irish intellectual and wit, to talk tomorrow noon before the English Speaking union at the Stevens hotel, calls to mind our favorite of the many acid remarks attributed to him. Shortly after his arrival from Ireland this fall The New Yorker quoted him as saying, "Whenever De Valera contradicts himself he's right." Gogarty, author of When I Was Going Down Sackville Street, poet, and original of Buck Mulligan in James Joyce's Ulysses, was senator of the Irish Free State from 1922 to 1936, and annoyed De Valera so much it was said that the president abolished the senate just to get rid of Dr. Gogarty.

Gogarty is an aviator, too, and a surgeon with a private practice in London. Mrs. Owen West, executive secretary of the English Speaking union, happened to ask Cyril Donnelly, young British vice consul in Chicago, if he knew Dr. Gogarty.

"No," he said, "not exactly, but he did take my tonsils out!"

Add Polish Disasters.

Friends of a former British vice consul in Chicago, John Thwaites, have learned with distress that his home in Poland was destroyed during the German invasion, including his fine collection of modern paintings—Klees, Miros, and Kandinskys—which had just arrived there from Chicago. Thwaites himself escaped to Bucharest. His family had escaped earlier.

Club Birthday.

Casino club members will remember the little club's twenty-fifth anniversary celebration. They will remember the gayety and the sentiment, the songs sung, the entertainment. They will remember the little speech of Mrs. Joseph H. Coleman, founder of the club and its president for seventeen years, and the great, glittering white birthday cake brought down the candlelit room by the turbaned and feathered little blackamoors from the Pump room while club members sang "Happy Birthday, Casino." And very definitely they will remember the barber shop chording of dignified pillars of Chicago society, grouped together on the dais, raising their voices in songs written for the occasion, sung to the tune of Sweet Adeline and The Prince of Pilsen.

* * *

Then there was Richard Haydn, who flew out from New York between rehearsals of Nancy Hamilton's new show, Two for the Show, to do his matchless fish mimicry, including the one audible only to dogs and a Mrs. Phelps with ears like an elk hound. Another favorite was his recipe beginning, "Take your own weight in eggs. . . ."

Unseasonal Notes.

Not many roasts look more appealing than a well browned pork loin, or carve more satisfactorily into tender, flavorsome slices. But pork loin isn't the only delicious roast which may be cut from the fresh pork carcass. Indeed not!

Pork shoulder makes an excellent roast, too. Have it boned at the market, then fill the cavity with your favorite bread stuffing and roast it as usual. In carving, cut thru the meat and dressing, serving both on the plate.

Crown roast of pork may be made from the loin, but it also may be made of spareribs. The dealer will prepare it for you, and you may use a plain bread dressing or a fruit stuffing such as this one for filling:

Prune Dressing.

2 cups bread crumbs
1 cup prunes, stoned and chopped
1 cup chopped apple
3 tablespoons melted butter
Salt, pepper

Soak prunes before stoning and chopping. Chop apple with skin left on. Mix ingredients and fill center of crown roast of pork.

Fresh ham makes an excellent roast, too. There aren't any pot roasts of pork. All pork roasts are cooked uncovered, in the oven. There aren't any pork stews, either, and you rarely hear of broiling cuts of fresh pork. Broiling tends too much to dry out pork, altho it's a good method to use for beef and lamb. In general there are but two methods for cooking pork satisfactorily. The first is by roasting. The second, used for chops and small cuts, is by braising, or cooking with a cover.

HOW TO ROAST PORK.

Place the roast with the fat side up [if it's a crown roast put the rib ends down] on a rack in an open roasting pan. Add no water to the pan, and use no cover. Salt and pepper the meat whenever it's most convenient, before the roast goes into the oven, or at some time during the roasting.

Use a slow oven, 300 to 325 degrees. This is very important. A high temperature dries out the meat and fails to develop the finest flavor. Roast about 35 minutes to the pound. Pork always is cooked well done. If you have a meat thermometer, it should register an internal temperature of 185 degrees when the meat is done. No basting is necessary.

A few persons have indicated to us that they have dropped fresh pork from their menus as a result of a trichinosis scare. Modern methods of feeding hogs, sanitary slaughter and packing house procedures, and inspections largely eliminate infected meat. But pork should always be thoroly cooked, for, thoroly cooked, it never is dangerous. A temperature of 140 to 170 degrees is lethal to the parasite. Trichinosis comes from uncooked or partly cooked pork, not from cooked meat. I think it is a shame for any one to omit pork from his diet solely for this reason.

"The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 spade!	2 no trump!
Double	Pass	3 spades	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

"I was South. My wife, who never bids psychics, was North. Before I even assorted my cards, East [an extremely nervous and excitable player] reminded me that it was my bid. A kibitzer, who had not seen East's cards, remarked that he must have a good hand, which was indeed quite obvious from his demeanor. My wife must have thought so, too, hence her psychic, followed by East's horrible two no trump bid.

"After doubling, East went into quite a huddle for his opening lead and finally produced the three of spades. West won with the king and returned a spade. East cashed the jack and ace, then led the club ace and club six. The club jack won, and a small diamond was led and ruffed. Then another round of spades followed, upon which East discarded the club queen. This left North with one spade, her original four hearts, and the club ten. East held on to the J-9-7-2 of hearts and the A-Q of diamonds. Dummy, at this point, had three hearts to the ace, the K-10 of diamonds, and the king of clubs. West's cards did not matter. The lead of the club ten to dummy's king finished East. Obviously, if he had let go a heart, all of declarer's hearts would have been good. His actual discard of the diamond queen, however, was no better. Declarer now ruffed the diamond ten and thereby established the diamond king for a heart discard.—C. S., Illinois."

The hand was very well played, and North is to be congratulated for providing against the possibility that the heart suit would not break.

I cannot agree, however, that North's bid was a pure psychic. Admittedly, North's hand was far below the requirements for an orthodox opening bid, but with six spades to the queen and four of the other major headed by K-Q-10, not to mention a void in diamonds, there was real offensive strength in the hand. I am not saying that a hand of this type should be opened, even in third position, under all circumstances. But with the vulnerability conditions as they were, I am inclined to think that such an opening, as a strategic bid, is a paying proposition, regardless of the histrionics that may and may not be displayed by the fourth hand. Of course, my correspondent's point about a player indicating his holding thru excitement or nervousness is well taken, and I also agree that East's two no trump overcall of the one spade was "horrible." A simple one no trump overcall, or a take-out double, would have amply expressed East's holding. A two no trump overcall in this position shows an enormous hand, about eight certain winners.

Strangely enough, if East had made the proper overcall, the opponents probably never would have reached a game-going contract, that is, South would have doubled one no trump, and if West stayed out of the bidding, North would have rescued this double with only two spades. This, East certainly could not have doubled, and the opponents would have been left in an innocuous part-score contract.

Girls Should Be Kind to Beau's Purse

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We are not of the school that believes in punishing one's self by after-party reflections on an embarrassing situation one may have provoked, on a faux pas committed, on an incident of forgetfulness, and so on.

Our motto for you young people is that what happened at the party last night is done. We are not speaking of gross behavior calling for abject apology. We are merely talking of those morning after regrets you may have because you slipped up on some minor thing. Our theory is based on the fact that only supersensitive persons do the after sufferings and what they need above everything else is complete forgetfulness of yesterday's minor transgression, whatever it may have been.

Yet, there are those of a school of thought who see in the morning after reflections a guide to bigger and better future conquests. The distinguished young violinist, Iso Briselli, is one of these. He asks: "How are your 'notices' the morning after a date?" It is a question put by musicians and actors after they've made an appearance and are anxious to learn the critics' verdicts.

Briselli thinks that girls could profit by the same sort of question. He argues that while the young man is out with you your charm may be powerful enough to suspend judgment at the moment, but in the cold light of the next day, without your influential presence, a man's thoughts are likely to be based more on hard fact than on emotion.

How considerate you were the evening before more than how beautiful you were is the sort of reality that strikes in the cold a. m. If you were unmindful, say, that he is a breadwinner with an alarm clock set to get him out early in the morning and you insisted upon dancing all hours—well, that makes you not so much fun.

Another unpleasant morning after reaction to be avoided, you are told, young women, is the state of the young man's budget after the date. If you heartlessly insisted upon the expensive places and he finds everything including his lunch money for the week gone—well—you are seen in the light of cold reality.

Applique Motifs for Towels

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

taken the steam baths and a morning plunge with Joe Schenck and Artie Stebbins. . . . Fairbanks, instead of going to the edge of the pool and diving in, leaped cleanly across the iron guardrails around the pool as easily as he used to make those astonishing leaps in pictures.

Yet there is no doubt that he had aged with particular rapidity in the last 12 months. . . . He and Reginald Owen were drawn against each other in the recent Bel-Air golf tourney, and we let them go through our foursome at the 13th tee.

Doug Sr., when he came up to the tee, seemed to be tremendously tired. . . . It was an exhaustion written in his carriage and etched in the lines of his face. . . . He hit a bad tee shot, and turned to us and grinned: "I'm getting too old for games, I guess."

Last Sunday I saw him again, and while we were talking he said again: "I can play well for nine holes, but after that it's work for me to hit my shots."

It fell to the lot of few great stars to have lived the excitingly pleasant life that Fairbanks enjoyed. . . . He had friends, adulation, wealth, and health right up to the moment of his death. . . . He never knew what it was to pass over the peak and become a has-been, or a used-to-be.

Probably it will be that reflection that will most comfort his family in the years to come. He made his exit before the audience had stopped cheering.

Danger on the Border

By FREDERICK R. BECHDOLT

INSTALMENT XXVIII.
FEARS CONFIRMED.

"You've time for a few hours' sleep before we start," Leonard said to Pat. "I'm going down to get the bedding." He took the flashlight with him, but he left the holstered revolver with her.

When he crawled out from the rock chamber, he stood for some moments looking at the world which lay below him. The shadow still lay over the canyon and the lower half of the slope. Up here, there was light, and far beneath him on the flatlands there was light again. The effect was as if he were standing in mid air, gazing down upon a wide sea of polished silver.

His progress down the trail was slow, for there were places where he was obliged to halt and pick out the route by which he had come. And when he plunged into the shadows, it needed all his skill to descend without catastrophe. At last he reached the canyon bed. He went to his car and got his bed roll. He slung it on his back and slipped his arms thru the lashing ropes. He came out to the road. He pressed his finger on the button which shut off the flashlight, and stood there rigid, listening.

The rising moon was beginning to throw some light across the top of the ridge, which descended toward the flatlands at the canyon mouth. The radianc egrew stronger, it flowed thru a niche between the ragged rocks, and fell like a shining canopy upon the Little Mesa of the Dead. He saw the crosses that lay upon the arid gravel, the ironwood tree standing out in black relief.

The sound which he had heard came from beyond. It was growing louder. It was no sound that he had ever known before, and it made his blood flow slower. It brought a prickling feeling to the back of his neck, as if the little hairs there were standing on end.

It was a strange, hoarse rasping. It was not human, it did not belong to any animal. It was unnatural, but it came—he was sure of that—from some living being. It was life and it was death. Life fighting to keep on, death growing stronger. These things his instincts told him.

It was not continuous. There were slight intervals of silence. A brief outburst of that horrible noise, a fraction of a second stillness, then the noise again. It came to him what it meant, and just as the solution flashed across his mind, he saw its confirmation.

The man was walking down the narrow trail toward the road. He was stepping like a marionette, his legs jerked. He emerged out of the darkness in the upper canyon. He passed into the pool of moonlight which lay upon the Little Mesa of the Dead. He walked among the graves, the crosses of stones lay in two roughly arranged rows, he came down the space between these rows. His head was bowed, his shoulders bent, his arms hung loosely before him. And when he breathed, the harsh reverberation made Leonard's flesh crawl.

The man was drawing near the ironwood tree when he halted. He stood there at the edge of the tree's black shadow, swaying. Suddenly his head went back and the moon shone upon his white face. It showed the prospector's pick with its point buried between his shoulder blades. Leonard started to cry out and barely checked himself. The dying man pitched forward and vanished in the patch of shadows.

• • • •

Of the various contenders in the race, Paul Collins was the last to start. Dillon was at his mine gathering up his belongings, preparing to return to Golconda that same night. Vincent Kent was going to sleep among the rocks in the canyon. Pat and Leonard were getting ready to leave San Ilario. But Collins was still sitting in his office.

A prospector's pick lay on his desk. Like most men who have any connection with mining, he had spent a good deal of his time looking for ore. Whenever he was driving out into the hills the little pick was on the car seat beside him. It was as fundamental a part of hisi equipment on these treasure seeking expeditions as the saddle is with the cowboy, or the sheath knife with a sailor.

He was fingering its short hickory handle while he listened to the report of the two men whom he had sent out to shadow Dillon, and when they came to the incident of the tampered distributor he lifted the pick, he tapped the desk lightly with its sharp point.

There was no doubt in his mind as to who was responsible for this. His spies had been spied on, and the third party in the canyon had been acting under Kent's orders.

He sat there for some time after the men had departed. He had begun to regret the alliance with Kent almost as soon as he had made it. The regret had grown sharper when he saw Kent driving away with Pat as his prisoner. The idea that this girl, who possessed such vital evidence against him, was in the ex-lawyer's custody, made him uneasy. And the possibility that she was being kidnaped left him badly frightened.

"Either way it works out," he had told himself, "I'll be left holding the bag."

And now Kent had taken a step that was even more disquieting. He had learned of Collin's intentions to steal a march on him, and thru means of his own had undoubtedly discovered the location of Dillon's high grade ore.

"And if I wait until Dillon comes back from those claims tomorrow morning," Collins reflected, "I'll find Kent holding them down when I go out there to jump them."

There was only one answer to that, he arrived at it immediately.

"I'll beat him to it." His car was parked nearby, there was a canteen and a blanket roll in his office. He took the prospector's pick along as a matter of course. And so he set forth, the last member of that scattered procession which passed under the granite escarpments overlooking the Little Mesa of the Dead.

The reasoning which led him to make the expedition was correct. The errors which followed were inevitable. It was as if the fate which guided him had a twisted sense of humor.

All the way along the road, Kent was in his mind. And when he clamped down the brakes at the edge of the Little Mesa of the Dead, the self-righteous anger of a traitor who suspects that he has been betrayed by his intended victim, was seething within him.

At that moment Kent was asleep beside a granite boulder, Leonard and Pat were inside the cavern of the Hidden Waters. And so none of them heard his car.

Collins knew the ground here pretty well, for he had made an expedition to the spot a few weeks after his arrival in Golconda, and it so happened that the man who had guided him on that journey was familiar with the story of the old Mexican mine. He had examined the arrastre in the canyon and he had looked at the niche in the rocks where the miners used to roast their ore before crushing it.

So there was not any doubt in his mind as to the location of Dillon's claims. The two spies had found out enough about the prospector's trail to assure him on that point. And the site of the old roasting oven appealed to him as an ideal place to hide his car. He took his flashlight and he got out to reconnoitre. He was gone for several minutes.

When he returned he was feeling a little sick.

The presence of Dillon's car did not surprise him. And neither did another car beside it. When he saw the latter, it was like the answer to a question which he had not dared to ask himself. For the backs of all black sedans look very much alike on cursory inspection. He did not even take the time to open one of the doors. He left the place in panic, all his unuttered fears were confirmed.

That was Kent's car, he told himself.

He was too late. A shrewder mind than his was working here: Kent had anticipated him.

He stood there, trying to figure out the next move. What was Kent doing now? The man had no knowledge of the hills, he was unfit to travel far over these heights alone in daytime, much less at night. And Dillon had not returned from the claims. There was, as yet, no chance to jump them. And there was something significant in those two automobiles, parked so snugly side by side. Supposing Kent and Dillon were working together?

The idea struck him like a heavy blow. The more he thought about it, the more logical it seemed. When Kent had learned of the pair whom Collins had sent to shadow Dillon, he had come out here in person.

'Avoid Obvious' Is Chief Rule of Makeup Today

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

There sat across from us the other day in a public conveyance one about whom we worried considerably. So painted was her face, so violently bleached her hair, so long her artificial eyelashes loaded with beady mascara, that we wondered where the poor darling had been living these last few years.

Women just don't look like that any more. Girls don't look like that. Not girls from any walk of life. The girl's clothes were good, her shoes in excellent taste, not heelless and as you'd expect from the rest of the picture. Soon, we observed, she gave up her seat to an elderly woman and spoke in a lovely, dulcet voice.

Maybe she does all of her beauty work in a dark room. It was a funny hangover from a painted era in which the woman was damned in one look as a fast one if she painted like that. When you see hair bleached straw yellow, or platinum white, you wonder, nowadays, where its owner has been living. So goes your wondering over beaded eyelashes and too finely plucked eyebrows, and spike heels worn with street tailoreds. They just don't belong any more. They may have been kindergarten beauty stuff, but long ago women have graduated from the obvious in makeup, certainly in facial makeup. Hair still takes on tints that nature had no hand in, but even here the ambition is to temper the tint to something in which nature might have had a part.

Anyway, what we are trying to pass along is that today's makeup can be enormously chic because it is so cleverly managed. We don't say that painted lips resemble natural lips. Thank goodness they don't, because very few women inhabiting our globe today have lips from which the color is not drained. Yet, there are painted lips and lips that are cleverly painted.

Every stroke applied to the face, be it with a mascara brush or lip stick, from a rouge pot or a powder jar, has to be as far removed from the old order as is humanly possible. And the variable tints available today for every known type and color of skin make it humanly possible to look the artistically turned out piece of work. Indeed, cheek rouge today is often foregone entirely in the interest of the nonmadeup look. But it is the actual color, shade, or tint, as you call it, that turns the trick. And, we must add, a mirror placed so that the light in which the artifice is to be worn gives the true picture. The mirror set in a darkened corner, we believe responsible for certain street sights that assault the eye.

Crisply Styled Two-Piece

MISS' DAYTIME DRESS.

This two-piece dress may be made as a unit or with the two pieces contrasting in color or fabric or both. Sketched at the left is a version in one fabric. The pocket tabs and belt are the only notes of contrast. The waistline is darted to fit the figure snugly, and the puffed sleeves are short. There are no plaits in the skirt, but it is gored for attractive flare. Sheer woolen, crepe, satin, and velveteen are fabric possibilities.

The skirt and jacket sketched at the right are a new dress-suit idea, and the illustration gives an idea of what effective contrasts may be achieved.

Style No. 3089 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅜ yard of contrasting for belt and tabs.

A Santa Claus Workshop Will Amuse a Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Your own little Santa Claus workshop is a nice thing to institute for a few days some time before Christmas. The children will enjoy it if you work in it together—they will get the sense of doing something for other boys and girls, and the other boys and girls will have some Christmas joy they otherwise would miss.

Practically all children have toys that are broken, or in which they have lost interest, or which they have outgrown.

First, wade in and sort these out with their assistance. But don't let your enthusiasm carry you so far that you argue your child out of some treasure of earlier days that he clings to for association's sake with a very real affection.

Of these discarded toys most will need attention. Glue, hammer, nails, and odds and ends of wood will be the first requirement. Paint is the second.

If possible clear a space, or work where the jobs as they progress can be left where they are to be returned to the next day and the next until finished.

Books—but don't rob the children's permanent library—can be repaired with glued paper, or new covers made of heavy paper, or cloth glued in place.

Scrapbooks are always welcome to sick children, especially those in the contagious wards of hospitals. Since everything there has to be destroyed after use, books and playthings are in particular demand. Old magazines are a good source of material for scrapbooks. Heavy wrapping paper cut into sheet size is excellent for pasting the cut-out pictures on.

You will make this workshop period brief and simple, or longer and more complicated, depending on the age and ability of your child. Don't worry him with good works! Underdo it rather than overdo it. One toy wagon restored with enthusiasm is better than half a dozen jobs to which he has to be urged repeatedly.

AN EASY CHRISTMAS PLAY based upon a carol by Arthur Guiterman has been prepared in booklet form by Mrs. Bevans. Ideal for church, home or school presentations. Complete directions are given for staging and costuming. You can get a copy of this booklet at the Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, or in Tribune Tower, 435 North Michigan avenue. Price, 5 cents; by postpaid mail, 7 cents.

Courtney Anne Reid to Be Given Party.

Mrs. Reid and her daughter, Miss Courtney Anne Reid, a student at Smith college, will be at home at the Woman's Athletic club on the afternoon of Dec. 27. The party is not to be a formal debut for Miss Reid, but at it she will "meet" her parents' friends.

Mrs. Warren's daughter, Miss Jane Warren, is a student at the University of Chicago, at which the Warfields' younger son, Donald, is a sophomore. Miss Pat Warfield attended the university last year after having been a student at Pine Manor. Robert Warfield Jr. will come home for Christmas from his job in Indiana to take part in the merry whirl.

Mrs. Frederic C. Woodward, who has been a moving spirit in the club for many years, will welcome her daughter, Miss Nancy Freund, on Monday. Miss Freund has been attending Leland Stanford university. Miss Emmy Lou Freund and Mr. Woodward's daughter, Miss Jean Woodward, are studying here.

Fahertys to Spend Holidays in East.

One look at the pile of invitations that had accumulated while she was in New York made Mrs. Roger Faherty decide when she came home last week that she and Mr. Faherty and their daughters, Mary and Anne, would spend the holidays at Lake Placid.

The invitations are for the girls, of course, for Mary is of debutante age and Anne is a year or two younger. Mary is a student at Smith and Anne is at the Knox school at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Many parents take their school girls and boys away for at least part of the Christmas vacation, for otherwise the young people are apt to go back to school completely exhausted after the gay round of parties.

Woman's A. C. Will Have Dinner-Dance.

The Woman's Athletic club, which will be the scene of many debut parties during the holidays, has planned several gay affairs of its own. Mrs. John Dern, whose mother, Mrs. Bruce MacLeish is president of the club, is in charge of a dinner dance to be given tomorrow night.

Miss Barbara White, daughter of the Edward William Whites, who is to be presented to society at a tea-dance at the Fortnightly on Dec. 23, is in the midst of a gay whirl of parties.

Today Mrs. William J. Swift will give a luncheon at Jacques' and on the 19th Mrs. James J. McKenna will give a luncheon at the Woman's Athletic club.

Some of those who have taken seats for the performance of "Little Women" in the Civic theater tonight are Mrs. A. Watson Armour, Mrs. Ralph Winston, Mrs. Charles D. Frey, Mrs. Welch Dickinson, Miss Elizabeth McCormick, Robert H. McCormick, Mrs. Edward A. Leight, Mrs. Dwight Green, Mrs. Jason F. Whitney, and Mrs. Levy Mayer. The performance is the première of an operetta by Eleanor Everest Freer, presented by Anna Fitziu.

NORRIS' IRE SUBSIDES AT HOCKEY MEETING

PURDUE FIVE'S SPEED SWAMPS DETROIT, 43-19

Boilermakers Lead, 16-7, at Half.

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 13 [Special].—Purdue's speed paid dividends tonight as the Boilermakers raced to a 43 to 19 victory over a Detroit quintet that was exhausted at the finish.

The Boilermakers set a fast pace thruout and blanketed the Titans so thoroly during the first three quarters that 28 minutes had elapsed before the visitors scored their first field goal, a side toss by Bob Calihan, center.

First Half Is Defensive.

The first half was largely a defensive battle, with the Boilermakers stealing the ball on rebounds and jumps. A last minute spurt with Mickey Tierney, Chicago sophomore, supplying the punch, gave Purdue a 16 to 7 margin at half time.

During the first eight minutes of the second half the Boilermakers went on a scoring spree that left Detroit far behind. Before the visitors had counted a single point, Purdue had racked up 13 to take a 29 to 7 lead with 12 minutes left to play.

Calihan Is Scoring Star.

A moment later Calihan ended the Detroit field goal drouth and then promptly added another basket, but Purdue was more than able to match those points.

Calihan took the high point honors with six free throws and two field goals, while Tierney was close behind and paced the Boilermakers with four field goals and one free throw. Line-ups:

WILDCATS VS. COUGARS

Washington State's undefeated basketball team will open a six game tour of the middle west when it meets Northwestern in Patten gymnasium tonight in the first of two games on the Wildcat schedule this week. On Saturday night the Purple plays Pittsburgh in Evanston.

The veteran Cougar quintet, which averages 6 feet 3 inches in height, has compiled a six game winning streak this season and has aspirations of capturing the Pacific coast championship now held by Oregon, last year's national intercollegiate titleholder. The Cougars were one of the few teams to defeat Oregon last year.

Led by Co-Captains.

Washington State is led by Co-Captains Bill Chase, 6 foot 3 inch forward, and Jack Jennings, 6 foot 4 inch center. Bill Olson, 5 foot 10 inch forward, is the only member of the starting team who is under 6 feet. The guards are Ray Sundquist, 6 feet 1 inch, and Vern Butts, 6 feet 2 inches.

Coach Dutch Lonborg has revised the Wildcats' starting lineup in an attempt to inject more scoring punch. Don Kruger, former Fenwick star, will make his debut as a regular by taking over one of the forward positions. Dick Klein, another sophomore, will start at center. The latter is 6 feet 3 inches tall and led the scoring against Carleton with four field goals.

Veterans at Guards.

The other member of the front line trio is Les Harman, a senior, who started against Carleton. Other forwards who will probably see action tonight are Al Butherus and Chuck Melchoir, letter men, and Henry Clason and Don Knapp, sophomores. Don Clawson, full back on the football team, will probably break into the lineup at center.

Best fortified positions on the team are the guards, where Capt. Ad Vance and Bob Shepard, two letter men, hold down the starting assignments. George Benson, a sophomore, and Jay Lackay, senior, are also available. Lineups:

Salica to Meet Olivera in Build Up for Title Fight

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 13 (AP).—Lou Salica of Brooklyn and Tony Olivera of San Francisco meet here tomorrow night in a 10 round fight, the winner of which the California athletic commission had agreed to recognize as world bantamweight champion. Possibly to appease the National Boxing association, which controls boxing in 46 states and recognizes Georgie Pace of Cleveland as champion, the commission stipulated the winner must fight Pace for the undisputed title. Salica won a close decision from Olivera a few weeks ago.

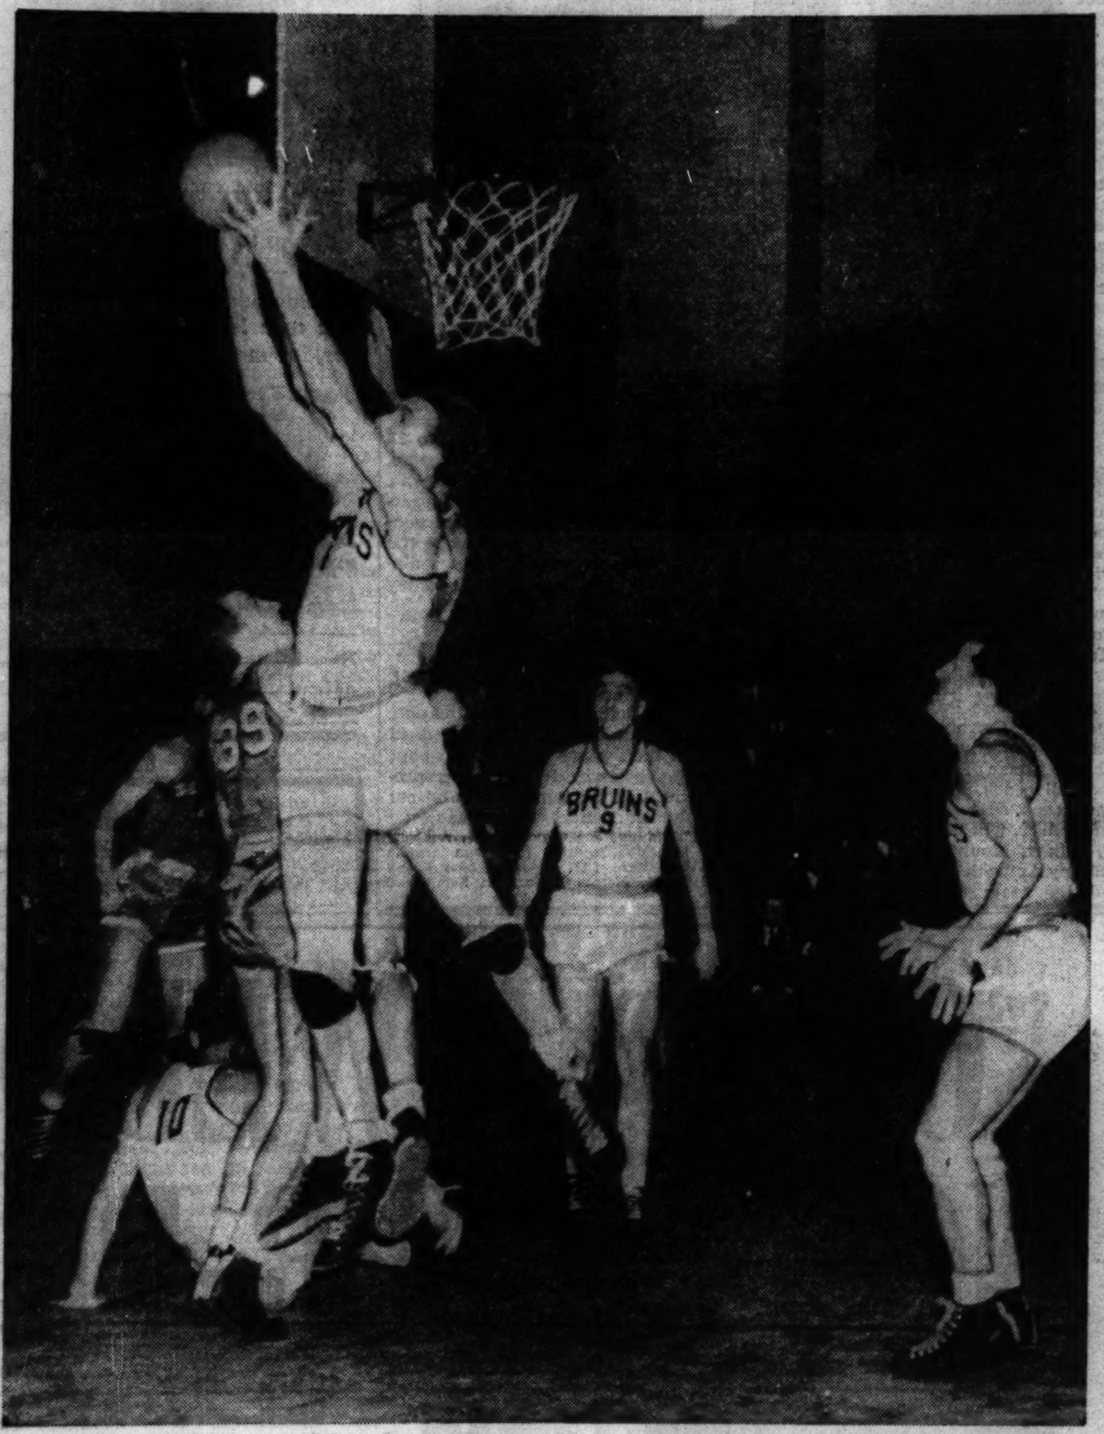
Close Action in Pro Battle



Mike Novak (No. 6) of the Chicago Bruins and Urgel Wintermute (No. 37) of the Detroit Eagles go up in the air for the ball in the second period of the battle which brought the only two undefeated teams of the pro basketball league into action in the 132d Infantry armory last night. The Bruins won, 34 to 24. Others in the picture are Walter Stankey (No. 4) and Bud Moodler (No. 39) of the Eagles, and Edwin Oram (No. 10), who is on the floor, Frank Linskey (No. 9), and Willie Phillips (No. 11, side to the camera) of the Bruins. Bruins Whip Eagles, 34-24; Kautz Stars

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

There is now just one undefeated team in the National Basketball league. That would be the young Chicago Bruins, who last night handed the highly touted Detroit Eagles a 34 to 24 whipping before a crowd of 2,500 at the 132d armory.

The Bruins, who meet the champion Akron Firestones on the armory floor next Wednesday night, now have won two games, lost none, and definitely have established themselves as a real threat. The Eagles came up to last night's battle undefeated in their first five games, but went into the second half trailing by 20 to 11. Thereafter their only spurt came with four minutes to play, when they pulled up to 28 to 22.

Kautz, Novak Lead Bruins.

The Bruins, led by Wibs Kautz and his valuable Loyola pal, 6 foot 9 inch Mike Novak, led 8 to 2 at the end of the first 10 minute quarter and entered the final period with a 26 to 15 advantage.

Irving Torgoff, captain of the Long Island U. team which broke Loyola's 21 game winning streak last season, came with the reputation of being one of the best set shots in the east, but failed to score a basket. Urgel Wintermute, 6 foot 8 inch leader of Oregon's national intercollegiate champions, was restrained to one basket and one free throw, and was ultimately ejected on five fouls as a re-

Protest Wins; Tennessee Subs to Make Trip

Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 13 [Special].—The 14 University of Tennessee football players who originally were scheduled to spend Christmas and New Years in Tennessee while the rest of the squad basked in sunshine and glory in the Rose Bowl, probably will be alongside their teammates when the special train pulls out of Knoxville on Dec. 21. The Vols will play Southern California in the Rose Bowl.

A formidable wave of protest against the athletic council decision to eliminate 14 players from the list making the California trip, which started with a sizable student group and rapidly spread among alumni and football fans, has caused the council to ponder the wisdom of its original decision.

Williston M. Cox, member of the council and of the university's board of trustees, said tonight that squad personnel was entirely up to Coach Bob Neyland and that the latter had not as yet submitted a list of those he wished to make the California trip. Cox indicated that the coach "had better submit a 100 per cent list."

Cox's statement was made after a much publicized student massmeeting scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight was canceled at the request of the council spokesman who explained that no final decision as to squad personnel had been made as yet.

GOLFERS START PLAY TODAY IN $10,000 TOURNEY

Season's Lead at Stake in Miami Event.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 13 [Special].—Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., and Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., two young men who met last July in one of the thrillers of 1939 golf, face each other again tomorrow, when the first 18 holes of the 72 hole $10,000 Miami open golf tournament will be played. Their battle last summer for the P. G. A. championship was a man to man argument, with Picard winning in 37 holes, but tomorrow, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday the two will have to match shot against 218 others, several of whom can hit a golf ball as well as Nelson or Picard.

The tournament is expected to settle two other golf honors of the year—the lead in money winnings and possession of the Vardon trophy, awarded annually by the Professional Golfers' association to the player with the most points scored in approved competition.

Lead at Stake.

Currently, Picard is leading in both departments. The tall, Yankee-born Pennsylvania pro has collected $10,202 in 1939 play to date. Following him in the cash division are Ralph Guldahl of Madison, N. J., former national and western open champion, $9,377; Dick Metz of Chicago's Oak Park Country club, $8,600, and Nelson, $8,386. This probably will be the closest race of all, since the top prize in the Miami open is $2,500, followed by purses of $1,250 and $1,000 for second and third places.

The battle for the Vardon trophy is a two man fight between Picard and Nelson, the former having scored 459 points to 454 for Nelson. The only men among the leading players to approach these figures are Guldahl with 329 and Metz with 311.

Others Draw Followers.

Strong as the Picard-Nelson rivalry is, the gallery railbirds who have been watching the field warm up for the last week, nevertheless joined four other names to theirs as favorites. This foursome includes Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Winchester, Mass.; Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., and Guldahl and Metz.

McSpaden, 1939 Canadian open winner, who won the Miami open last year with a 275, five under par, indicated that he is ready to defend his championship and collect another $2,500 by shooting a 64, best of all the practice rounds. Thomson recarded two 65s, five under par, and Metz, the newest bridegroom in the pro league, contributed a 66 in his workouts.

Henry Picard	$10,202
Ralph Guldahl	9,377
Dick Metz	8,600
Byron Nelson	8,386
Sam Snead	7,212
Harold McSpaden	5,554

Tarentum, Pa., to Build $40,000 Borough Stadium

Tarentum, Pa., Dec. 13 (AP).—The borough council and school board of Tarentum have approved plans for construction of a $40,000 stadium with WPA assistance. It will be used for high school football games and other community activities, especially the borough's centennial celebration in 1942.

How Strange!

She moves somewhere beneath the moon tonight
What though her laughing eyes I may not see;
Her paths are carpeted with silver light—
The same soft moonlight that encircles me;
Tomorrow the horizon like a ring
Will circumscribe us wheresoe'er we move,
And in its mystical encompassing,
Our hearts will throb again with the old love.

How strange that we who are so far apart
Should gaze tonight into the same blue skies!
That we should feel a fluttering of heart
Knowing the same white starlight fills our eyes,
And that our souls should be transfixed with pain
Because our paths can never cross again!

Revision.

I spent an hour among the cards
That came at Christmas time last year.
It meant a lot to read again
The varied messages of cheer.
How many memories they stirred
Of friends who're very far away.
It brought them close to me again
As if I'd seen them yesterday.
And some have married—some have moved—
And some are where I do not know.
How much of change has happened since
These cards were sent a year ago.
And so I shall revise the list—

I wonder what the change will be
Before another year has run.

AVOIDS REFEREE ISSUE; LEAGUE CURBS FIGHTING

Votes Fines to Stop Free-for-Alls.

New York, Dec. 13 [Special].—James Norris Sr., multi-millionaire owner of Chicago Stadium, the Detroit Red Wings hockey team, and various other big sports enterprises, attended the meeting of the board of governors of the National Hockey league here today. But Mr. Norris failed to make good his threat to have Bill Stewart fired as a National league referee.

James Norris Sr.

The Chicago sports magnate, during a game between the Chicago Blackhawks and the Toronto Maple Leafs in his Chicago Stadium on Dec. 3, publicly berated Stewart from a ringside box, and when Stewart sassed back during an overtime period Norris screamed his intention to have Stewart bounced. Today was the day for the firing, but according to a résumé of the meeting announced today Norris filed no action against Stewart.

Calder Lays Smoke Screen.

Frank Calder, president of the league, handled the situation very gingerly, smoke screening nicely with a report on league action on another outbreak in the Chicago rink, in which Red Dutton, manager of the New York Americans, proved the inspiration for some new behavior rules.

Owner Frederic McLaughlin and President Bill Tobin of the Blackhawks attended the meeting and were prepared, according to reports, to front for Stewart in the Norris jam, tho McLaughlin fired Stewart as Hawk manager last midseason.

It is said McLaughlin and Tobin for some time have been mystified at the practice of Norris in rooting against the Hawks in games where Norris' Red Wings have not been involved. The Hawks last season paid more than $100,000 rent to the Stadium and have paid more than $1,000,000 in rentals since Norris has been the Stadium landlord. Norris revealed in his screaming tirade against Stewart Dec. 3 that he was vexed because Stewart didn't call more penalties on the Hawks.

Stewart on Leave.

Since Norris' demonstration against Stewart his locale at two Chicago hockey games has been a box across the rink from his former point of vantage, which was immediately behind the working press row, it was made known before today's meeting. It also was said the wealthy sportsman has not been in such fine voice in his new location, nor in the meeting today.

It was explained that Stewart was absent from the meeting today and from games to which he was assigned after the Norris outbreak, because he had asked for a leave of absence on account of a variety of injuries, complicated by business and pleasure. President Calder said Stewart will return to duty as soon as he expresses a desire to do so.

Scale of Fines Set.

Tho they skimmed lightly over the Norris-Stewart feud, the hockey nabobs really bore down on hockey individuals in the lower financial brackets. Henceforth a manager who barges out on the ice to fight or argue automatically will be plastered with a $100 fine. For similar offenses coaches will draw $50 fines and players not actively on the ice in playing rôles will get $25 assessments if they skate out to take part in brawls.

During the same game in which Norris and Stewart put on their show, both benches were cleared in a free for all fight and in the following game, in Chicago, on Dec. 7, Manager Dutton barged out, skateless, and sought to attack Referee Norm Lamport. Last Sunday night both benches were cleared while all hands in a Hawk-Canadien game went on the ice for a free for all fight. Such demonstration, if any, in the future will cost high strung benchwarmers plenty.

ST. NORBERT FIVE RALLIES TO BEAT WHEATON, 43-39

St. Norbert's basketball team rallied last night to defeat Wheaton college on the latter's floor, 43 to 39, in the final minutes of play. Wheaton led at the half, 18 to 13, and held the visitors without a field goal for the first 13 minutes.

Monard, St. Norbert forward, was high with 18 points, while Raube of Wheaton was second with 15. In the preliminary game Wheaton freshmen defeated the Evanston Travelers, 37 to 26.

DUCKS FLAP, YET HUNTING SEASON WAS A BIG FLOP

Birds Find Free Food Far From Blinds.

BY BOB BECKER.

Altho the Illinois duck season ended on Dec. 5th there are many Illinois hunters who can't forget what poor hunting they had despite the fact that they saw thousands of birds in the air. Some are bitter about the fact that while feeding [as such] is prohibited, the farmers near the Illinois river had no choice. The ducks simply appropriated the corn that they wanted.

One of the hotter blasts at the conditions which prevailed this season comes from R. E. Watrous of Evanston. He writes:

Two Kills in Three Days.

"I had the experience of watching a few timber holes on the Sangamon where previously we could be certain of bagging a few birds. It is just a short way from the old Cherry Circle grounds. It used to be a poor day when a limit could not be killed. The first day this season I didn't fire a shot. The second, I shot one mallard. The third day, one mallard. Sure, I saw thousands of ducks, all high enough to be traveling birds and going 30 or 40 miles for free corn in farmers' fields. Mind you, I traveled 750 miles to get to Beardstown and then 70 miles a day to and from the timber. Some reward, eh?"

Mr. Watrous says that the duck towns along the Illinois river have experienced a serious slump in business due to the poor hunting. Shooters haven't been spending their money down there.

Oversupply of Wardens.

"Most of the fellows who pushed duck boats for a living during the hunting season are now on relief due to the 'more abundant life,'" Watrous continues. "Fields are stacked with cute little tin houses in which government loaned corn is stored and spoiling. The ducks are feeding free off the farmer, and the government and state pay rolls are growing beautifully. There are more state and federal game wardens than hunters. A beautiful setup."

There isn't much doubt but what the Illinois ducks consumed a lot of corn from the farmers' fields this fall. By following the trail of this waste corn dropped in the fields, by mechanical corn pickers, they completely changed their habits along the Illinois river.

No natural foods in the river bottoms could compete against the free corn in the fields. Examination of the stomachs of ducks, as made by the Illinois Natural History survey, shows that mallards and pintails would rather fly 40 miles and work all night in a field to get a meal of corn than stay in a river marsh and eat the same weight of food from saw grass, pondweed, coontail, smartweed, and nut grass.

West Virginia Considers Potsy Clark as Coach

Morgantown, W. Va., Dec. 13 (AP).—The name of George [Potsy] Clark, recently resigned coach of the Brooklyn professional team, today was added to the list of more than 100 receiving consideration for West Virginia's coaching job next year. Athletic Director Roy M. Hawley said special attention was being given "several good men, including Clark, but much remains to be done before a decision is made."

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—WIDE OPEN FIELD

Mount Carmel Five to Open Title Defense

Mount Carmel, defending champion and winner of the last two tournaments, will meet St. Michael's in the second game tomorrow night when the sixth annual St. George preseason Catholic prep invitational basketball tournament opens in St. George gym, 350 Sherman street, Evanston.

The brackets, as announced by Brother Bernard, director of St. George High school, list 17 teams with teams from Holy Trinity of Chicago, and Central Catholic of Hammond, opening the tournament with a prebracket game starting at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow.

St. George vs. De Paul.

St. George, host team to the tournament, draws De Paul a bitter rival, for its first opponent while St. Patrick's Shamrocks, twice winner of the tourney, meets Leo in the final game tomorrow night. St. George and De Paul play the opening game on Saturday afternoon.

St. Mel, winner of the inaugural meet in 1934, will oppose St. Rita in the second game on Saturday night's card of three games.

Bracket play will be as follows:

FIRST ROUND.
Holy Trinity, Chicago, vs. Central Catholic, Hammond.
Mt. Carmel, Chicago, vs. St. Michael, Chicago.
St. Patrick, Chicago, vs. Leo, Chicago.

The Eagles' attack was based on set shots, and altho they received more than enough chances, they made only seven field goals all night, making the remainder of their total on 10 free throws in 18 chances. Nat Frankel was the losers' top scorer with 7 points.

Kautz Scores 20 Points.

Kautz, who did a bit of spot shooting from well out on the floor himself, dominated the Bruin offense with 6 baskets and 8 free throws. The Chicagoans clicked on 14 out of their 23 penalty attempts.

The game also signalized the return to local pro basketball of Umpire Nat Messinger, who combines the best features of a tobacco auctioneer, hog caller, and cheer leader in his assessments of penalties.

In a preliminary game the Queen of Angels C. Y. O. team defeated the Davis Paints, 24 to 21, after having trailed, 13 to 21.

SPARTA, SWEDES MEET SUNDAY IN SOCCER BATTLE

Sparta and the Swedish Americans, Chicago's last two survivors in the running for the national soccer championship, will meet next Sunday in a third round match, the winner to enter the western quarter finals. Sparta which eliminated the Manhattan Brewers in the last round, will field its strongest team with one exception, Jimmy Wolf, star outside left, who is a doubtful starter.

The Swedes who are undefeated and present amateur league champions, are expected to give their professional opponents a fast 90 minutes. The game will be played in the Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue, starting at 2 p. m.

Chicago Latin Team Guests at Banquet

Chicago's prep football teams are still busy finishing their 1939 chores. Their work on the gridiron ended, the players have discarded football togs to don Sunday suits and appear at luncheons and dinners arranged by Fathers' clubs, alumni and other supporters. Kelly's squad, central section member of the Public School league, was honored yesterday afternoon, and last night Chicago Latin's eleven spent a few hours at a banquet sponsored by the Father and Son club.

Two of the most widely publicized individuals in intercollegiate football—Dr. Edward Anderson, University of Iowa head football coach, and Bill De Correvont, Northwestern half back—were the principal speakers at the Chicago Latin dinner. Others on the program included Mayor Kelly, Judge Michael L. McKinley, Justin Dart, Frank E. Rokusek, Latin school coach, and William M. Spencer, president of the school board of trustees. Darius Francke was elected 1940 captain.

Austin's Turn Tonight.

Austin's squad, west section champion in the Public School league for four consecutive years, receives its turn tonight. The team will appear at the Midwest Athletic club, Hamlin avenue and Madison street. At the speakers' table will be Kenneth L. [Tug] Wilson, Northwestern athletic director; William C. Heiland, Austin football coach, and Lawrence [Casey] Peifer, Austin's star half back, who will enroll at Northwestern next fall.

The biggest gathering of the banquet season is expected at the Mount Carmel dinner in the Palmer House Monday night.

Notables Invited.

Among those invited to appear on the Mount Carmel speaking program are Mayor Kelly, the Most Rev. B. J. Sheil, Elmer Layden, Notre Dame football coach, and Joe Benda, Irish end coach. Bob Elson, W-G-N sports announcer, will be toastmaster. Wally Fromhart, Mount Carmel coach, and Johnny Andretich, star half back, who led the team to the 1939 Catholic league championship and a 13 to 13 tie with Fenger in the all-city game, also will speak.

It will be Layden's second appearance at a Chicago High school banquet within a week. He was the principal speaker at the Fenwick dinner in the Morrison hotel Tuesday night.

For CHRISTMAS—Give Yourself a GOOD HEAD OF HAIR
When you were born, Nature presented your scalp with the structure necessary to grow hair. Your hair DID grow until some local scalp trouble, such as dandruff (dry scales or greasy-pasty scalp film), itchy scalp, or abnormal hair-fall made it impossible for your hair growing structure to continue to function normally. Thomas treatment overcomes the 14 local scalp ills which lead to baldness . . . dandruff disappears, abnormal hair-fall stops, and normal hair growth is promoted. Why not give yourself a good head of hair for Christmas? Call today for a free scalp examination.

"HAS HAD NO PEERS FOR 50 YEARS"

SO WE LOST—SO WHAT? SUCH IS MOOD OF HAWKS

They Figure 2 Out of 3 for Cripples Is O. K.

Games Tonight

New York Americans at Montreal.
Boston at Toronto.
Detroit at New York Rangers.

The Blackhawks returned to Chicago yesterday afternoon from New York where they took a 4 to 0 beating from the Americans in a National Hockey league game.

The Hawks were not a bit downhearted because of the defeat. Manager Paul Thompson said: "We won two games out of three with a badly crippled team. Next Sunday, when we play Boston, we'll be full handed for the first time in over a month. In the opinion of our physician, Dr. H. F. Meacham, Earl Seibert, who has been out of eight games, Joe Cooper who has been out of two, and Phil Hergesheimer who has been out of three, will be able to take their regular places in Sunday's game."

Work Out Today.

Manager Thompson intends to hold intensive workouts today, tomorrow, and Saturday in order to give Seibert, Hergesheimer, and Cooper much needed practice, and also to keep the rest of the squad in prime physical shape for Sunday. Boston will be without the services of Roy Conacher, the league's leading scorer, who will be out of the Bruins' lineup for six weeks because of a fractured left wrist due to a head on collision with Jimmy Orlando, husky Detroit defense player in Tuesday's Bruins-Red Wings clash at Boston.

With Eddie Shore and Conacher out of the Bruins' lineup, the going will be much harder for the champions, who have not been defeated by the Hawks since season before last.

Hawks Only Idle Team.

Every team in the league, with the exception of the Blackhawks, will see action tonight. The Americans, strengthened by the return of Doc Romnes, who was injured in their first game of the season, by the return of Nels Stewart, greatest scorer of all time, and the recall of Defense Men Chuck Shannon and Pat Egan, should make real trouble for the Canadiens at Montreal. At Toronto the Leafs and Boston hook up in their third clash. The first game went to the Leafs, 5 to 0, the second to the Bruins, 6 to 2. At Madison Square Garden the Rangers take on the luckless Detroit Red Wings, who have lost their last six games.

PITT'S QUINTET LEAVES TONIGHT ON MIDWEST TRIP

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 13 [Special].—The Pitt basketball team will make its annual invasion of the midwest this week-end, being due to leave Pittsburgh tomorrow night. The first game of the series will be with Butler at Indianapolis on Friday, and others follow with Northwestern at Evanston Saturday and Indiana at Bloomington on Monday. Despite the presence of nine letter men on the squad, including four regulars of last season, Dr. H. C. Carlson, Pitt coach, has been making use of his sophomore additions, and up until last week had Lefty Ziolkowski, big rangy first year man, at a forward on the varsity.

However, when Eddie Straloski, the crack shot and floorman on the squad, was hurt last week, the coach injected Jimmy Klein into the starting array, and Klein went so well that he has been playing with the idea of dropping Ziolkowski now that Straloski has returned to action.

PACKERS RECEIVE BID TONIGHT FOR ALL-STAR GAME

Green Bay, Wis., Dec. 13 [Special].—The Green Bay Packers, champions of professional football as the result of their rout of the New York Giants last Sunday, tomorrow night will receive the invitation to play in the Chicago Tribune's 1940 All-Star game.

The bid will be extended by Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, at the Lions' club victory dinner arranged to honor the Packers. More than 1,200 followers of the Green Bay eleven will attend. Another feature of the dinner will be the showing of films taken of the Packer-Giant battle.

Invite Players of 1929 Team.

The Lions club committee has been attempting to invite all members of the 1929 championship team to help celebrate Green Bay's fifth National Football league championship. Joseph [Red] Dunn, quarter back on the team that won Green Bay its first championship, was the first from out of town to accept. Verne Lewellen, attorney here and ace punter of the 1929 team, will attend. The only member of the Packers of today who was on that team is Arnie Herber, passer, who was a freshman on the 1929 squad.

Lambeau to Accept Bid.

Gov. Julius Heil of Wisconsin and Mr. Ward will be among the guests of honor at the banquet. Laverne Dilweg will be toastmaster. Dr. W. W. Kelly, member of the Packer executive board and past president of the corporation, will introduce Gov. Heil and Ward. After Ward has extended to the Packers the invitation to play in the 1940 All-Star game in Chicago, Coach Curley Lambeau of the Packers will accept. Prior to the dinner the Packer lumberjack band will play a concert under the direction of Alex V. Enna, director of the Nicolet High school band of West Depere. Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock to 1,200 and the program will follow.

WRIGHT JUNIOR TEAM DEFEATS WILSON, 30 TO 24

Wright Junior college defeated Wilson, 30 to 24, yesterday in an Illinois Junior college conference game. It was Wilson's first setback in five games. Wright led, 18 to 10, at half time. The attack was led by Schwartz, a forward, with six baskets and one free throw. Lineups:

LAWRENCE FIVE OPENS 3 GAME TRIP TONIGHT

Appleton, Wis., Dec. 13 [Special].—The Lawrence college basketball team left today for a three game trip into Iowa, which will pit them against two of the favored teams of the Midwest conference race and Loras of Dubuque in a nonleague contest.

Lawrence lost its opening game to Knox last Saturday, 46 to 42.

The Vikings oppose Cornell tomorrow night in Mount Vernon, Ia.; play at Grinnell Friday, and at Loras Saturday. Friday's game will be Lawrence's first in history with Grinnell, new member of the conference, which finished third in the Missouri Valley league last season.

Cornell, first foe of the week, lost only one regular from the quintet that placed third a year ago in the Midwest race.

Ward Cuff, Cab Company Settle $2,250 Damage Suit

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 13 (AP).—A settlement of $2,250 was announced in Civil court today in a damage suit brought by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Exarhos against Ward Cuff, former Marquette university football star, now with the New York Giants professional grid team, and a cab company. Cuff's attorney said the football player had paid only a "nominal amount" of the settlement.

LAFAYETTE GETS PURDUE-CHICAGO FOOTBALL GAME

Site of 1940 Contest Is Transferred.

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 13 [Special].—University of Chicago athletic authorities have agreed to transfer the site of next fall's football game with Purdue, scheduled for Oct. 19, from Chicago to Lafayette. This was announced today by Noble E. Kizer, Purdue athletic director. The transfer will strengthen the Boilermakers' home schedule, giving Purdue four home engagements, including three Big Ten games.

Announcement of the shift came as the results of negotiations launched recently by Kizer with T. N. Metcalf, Chicago athletic director, who notified Kizer this afternoon that Maroon authorities had approved the transfer.

Word of the change was greeted with enthusiasm here by students, players, alumni, and coaches, for it will mark the first time in 22 years that a Maroon eleven will appear in Lafayette.

The Chicago series, one of the oldest in the Big Ten, was launched in 1892, and always has held a warm spot in the hearts of Purdue followers, altho the Maroons for years held the upper hand.

Altho Purdue has held supremacy in recent years, Chicago still holds a big edge in the all time series with 27 victories as compared with 14 for the Boilermakers and one tie.

Sept. 28—Butler at Purdue.
Oct. 12—Purdue at Michigan State.
Oct. 19—Chicago at Purdue.
Oct. 26—Wisconsin at Purdue.
Nov. 2—Purdue at Iowa.
Nov. 9—Purdue at Fordham.
Nov. 16—Purdue at Minnesota.
Nov. 23—Indiana at Purdue.

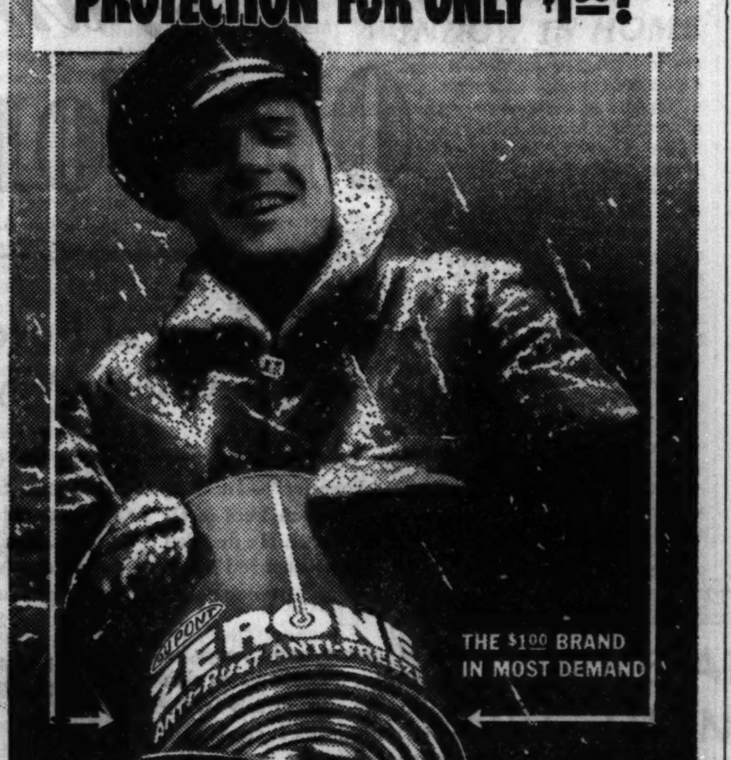
Do you want ALL-WINTER RADIATOR PROTECTION FOR ONLY $1.50?



HERE'S THE WAY many car owners do it every year! They put in a couple of quarts of DuPont "Zerone" early in the season for protection against rusting and the sudden cold snaps they know will come.

When winter gets down to real business, they add sufficient "Zerone" to protect them to lower temperatures. A total of six quarts, put in as needed, can protect a car with an average size cooling system for the entire winter. And six quarts of "Zerone" cost only $1.50! Just one gallon of "Zerone" protects an average size cooling system (15 quarts) to 1°. Five quarts would protect it to −12°; six quarts to −27°!

You may need a little more or less, depending on the condition and capacity of your car radiator and the severity of winter in your neighborhood. But you can be sure that the unusual efficiency of Du Pont "Zerone" will save you real money.

PROTECTS AGAINST RUST AND CORROSION

"Zerone" in a clean cooling system prevents rust and corrosion, which reduce operating efficiency. Tests prove "Zerone" gives better dissipation of engine heat, helps avoid power losses. Protect your car with "Zerone" anti-rust anti-freeze this very day! Remember, it's only $1.00 a gallon, 25¢ a quart.

I. A. C. RECEIVES FIRST ENTRIES IN BOXING TOURNEY

Amateur Meet to Start on Jan. 16.

Columbus Mitchell, Savoy Athletic club middleweight, yesterday became the first entrant in the eighth annual amateur boxing tournament sponsored by the Illinois A. C. in the club gymnasium Jan. 16, 17 and 24. Later the application of James Campbell, 3321 South Park way, also a middleweight, was received by Johnny Behr, I. A. C. sports director. All eight weight divisions will be represented. Any boy who has not boxed professionally is eligible to compete. Entry blanks may be obtained from Behr at 112 South Michigan avenue.

Tom Kenneally, Catholic Youth organization heavyweight, will end training today for a six round bout against Ed [Tipperary] Murray of Cleveland in White City tomorrow. Tom, who has scored victories over such strong opposition as Henry Wacker and Tony Musto, will be making his first appearance since Sept. 8 when he suffered a knockout at the hands of Bob Nestell.

In an additional feature of six rounds Billy Seward, Ingomar, Mont., lightweight, will meet Tommy Parker of Lexington, Ky. It is a return contest, Seward having won a close decision in four rounds previously. It was Seward's 14th triumph in 17 starts.

Steve Souris, 1937 Gary Golden Gloves sectional lightweight winner, will be after his third consecutive professional decision in a four round match against Harry [Kid] Tunero of New Orleans. Other encounters bring together Johnny Janis, Brighton Park heavyweight, and Selman Martin, and Kenny Cannon, north side featherweight, and Billy Sherman.

Johnny Paycheck, 1933 Chicago Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, has refused an offer to meet Cowboy Bill Boyd in Seattle, Wash., next month. . . . Freddy Ford, New Orleans middleweight, and Harold Rodie will meet in a five round contest heading the amateur boxing card in Madison Athletic club tomorrow.

Al Hostak, middleweight champion, stopped off in Chicago yesterday en route from Cleveland, where he knocked out Eric Seelig on Monday, to his home in Seattle, Wash. His handlers said he would make his next appearance in Seattle in January, probably against Tony Zale of Gary, Ind., who has scored five consecutive knockouts. Promoter Bill Rand has been attempting to close a Hostak-Zale match for Chicago Stadium next month, but Hostak's backers believe the match will attract a larger gate in Seattle.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Copper Lad, $9.80 straight, $5.00 place, $3.80 show: Ace of Spades, $10.80 place, $5.00 show: Popular Vote, $6.20 show.

COPPER LAD, kept just off the pace, took command from FLYING BREEZE entering the stretch and, drawing out, held ACE OF SPADES safe. The latter came from far out of it and finished with a rush. POPULAR VOTE, a keen factor from the start, handled his weight well. FLYING BREEZE tired in the stretch. FREEZE raced well to the stretch. STANDARD TIME saved much ground but never could enter contention. NOAH'S PRIDE tired in the drive. WISPY showed little.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $600. [Claiming prices, $1,000 to $1,250.] Three year olds and up. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 5:01. Off at 5:02. Two dollar mutuels paid: Agnes Knight, $33.40 straight, $13.40 place, $8.20 show: Ebony Parasol, $4.40 place, $3.40 show: Butter, $4.60 show.

AGNES KNIGHT raced in close quarters the first six furlongs, came to the outside entering the stretch, and, finishing with a rush, passed EBONY PARASOL. The latter kept close to the early pace, disposed of WAR GRAND, but could not withstand the winner. BUTTER was forced to take back at the far turn, responded to hard urging, and finished well. GALLEY SWEEP showed an even effort, handling his weight well. PALASA lost much ground. LEGAL ADVICE also went wide. WAR GRAND quit badly after dominating the running to the stretch.

SIXTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. The Bogalusa claiming handicap. Purse, $800. [Claiming price, $2,600.] Three year olds and up. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 5:30½. CHATTER WRACK, well rated, set the pace and, holding on with good courage, outstayed FARRELL. The latter, well up from the start under restraint, made a menacing move entering the stretch but hung in the drive. WEDDING MORN, blocked at the far turn and forced to go to the outside, finished well in a winning performance. ODDESA FRANK weakened in the final test. TAKEN tired after racing prominently. JIM CORN was outrun. OZARK quit.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Askaris, $14.40 straight, $5.80 place, $3.80 show: Eddie Gardner, $3.60 place, $2.60 show: French Jack, $2.60 show.

ASKARIS, outrun the first half mile, moved up steadily thereafter, and, finishing with a rush, passed out the leaders and won drawing out. EDDIE GARDNER held on with good courage all the way and outstayed FRENCH JACK. The latter raced KELCONARD into submission but weakened in the stretch. PEACHYPIE saved ground, raced in spots, and finished well. LITIGATION came from far back. KUVERA also closed a gap. MAKALAW quit.

Yanks Voted Best Team in Any Sport

New York, Dec. 13 (AP).—The New York Yankees were the No. 1 team of all sports for 1939 in the opinion of a vast majority of experts balloting in the ninth annual Associated Press poll.

In winning the honor for the fourth straight year the Yankees rolled up the huge total of 211½ points, based on three points for first place, two for second, and one for third. It was the most one sided margin in the history of the poll.

Four football teams put on a tight race for second place. Iowa, with 37½ points, including 7½ first place votes, won the runner-up position, with Southern California third with 34, Tennessee fourth with 33, and Cornell fifth with 26.

The Yankees drew 61 of the 79 votes for undisputed first place, with one expert splitting his ballot between them and the Hawkeyes. Thirteen others placed the Yanks second, and only four voters failed to mention them. The results:

Team and sport—	Firsts.	Points.
New York Yankees, baseball	61½	211½
U. of Iowa, football	7½	37½
Southern California, football	2	34
Tennessee, football	3	33
Cornell, football	2	26
Texas A. & M., football	...	18
U. of Oregon, basketball	1	12
Cincinnati Reds, baseball	...	9
Boston Bruins, hockey	...	8
Southern California, track	...	7
Green Bay Packers, football	...	7
New York Giants, football	...	7
Long Island U., basketball	...	6
Denver Nuggets, basketball	...	5
Harvard, crew	...	5
Ohio State U., basketball	1	4
California U., crew	...	4

THREE POINTS EACH—Penn State, football [one first]; St. Louis Cardinals, baseball; Brooklyn Dodgers, baseball; United States Internationalists, polo.

TWO POINTS—Oklahoma A. & M., wrestling.

MASONS PLAY COLLEGIANS.

Michigan Hockey Team Leaves for Colorado Today

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 13 [Special]. —A 10 man Michigan hockey squad will leave by train tomorrow afternoon for Colorado Springs, Colo., where they oppose Colorado college Friday and Saturday.

The trip will be the longest ever taken by a Michigan hockey team. Last week Michigan tied McMaster university of Hamilton, Ont., 4 to 4. The Wolverines will play Yale at Ann Arbor Jan. 2 before swinging into the Big Ten schedule.

The 10 men Coach Lowrey named for the Colorado trip are:

Baseball League Gives Party at Hines Hospital

Christmas came last night to 18 hundred war veterans who are patients at Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital. For the ninth year, the Midwest Baseball league gave their annual Christmas party in the recreation hall of the hospital. In addition to an All-Star theatrical program, each veteran received a huge stocking with cigarettes, candy, fruit, and toilet articles. Emmett Whealan, chairman, and Miss Alice Zimmer, auxiliary chairman supervised arrangements for the party.

Harold Johnson's Mother Dies in South Side Home

Mrs. Ada M. Johnson, mother of Harold [Speed] Johnson, veteran Chicago newspaperman, died last night in her home, 6818 Cornell avenue. She was 83 years old. Funeral services will be held in Urbana, O., Saturday. In addition to Harold Johnson, survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Guy Luster, and Hazel Johnson.

TECH WILL OFFER TWO STAR SHOTS IN LOYOLA GAME

Stark, Burke High Scorers of Carnegie Five.

Carnegie Tech's leading scorers, Capt. Bob Stark and Johnny Burke, will carry the basket shooting burden for the Scots Monday night in their game against Loyola in the Coliseum, 15th street and Wabash avenue. The Carnegie-Loyola game will be the first on the Coliseum's inaugural double header. De Paul and Southern California will play the windup.

Stark, who stands 6 feet 5 inches, set an Eastern Intercollegiate conference scoring record of 146 points in 10 games last season. His running mate, Burke, is only 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighs less than 120 pounds, but he is regarded in the east as one of the fastest men in basketball.

Makes Grade as Senior.

Burke, a senior, never played varsity ball until this year, having come to light in intramural competition. His work in early season practice won him a starting job. The Carnegie Tech team was co-champion of the eastern conference last year, numbering among its victims Pittsburgh, Georgetown, Penn State, Temple, and Washington and Jefferson.

The team, with the exception of the towering Stark, is the smallest in Carnegie history, but it is also said to be the fastest. Starters with Stark and Burke will be Jim Tumpane, a 5-foot 6-inch guard; Stanley Malinski, a forward who measures 5 feet 6 inches, and Jack Cohen, another guard, who stands 5 feet 7 inches.

Loyola Lacks Height, Too.

The Loyola team also lacks long and lanky players, but Coach Lennie Sachs has molded a smooth working aggregation around Capt. George Wenskus, the only regular left from 1938-'39. Vinny Graham and Ed Schell, alternates last year, have come along rapidly, while Ed Lew and Dan Cahill, newcomer, have caught on quickly under Sachs' tutelage.

Loyola trimmed Arkansas State, 35 to 24, a week ago and came back early this week to trounce the alumni, made up mostly of last year's stars, 32 to 28.

JACK DEMPSEY WILL PROMOTE FIGHT IN FLORIDA

New York, Dec. 13 [Special].—Jack Dempsey and James J. Johnston will undertake the joint promotion of a Bob Pastor-Red Burman heavyweight fight in February in Miami Beach, Fla., it was announced today. This will be the first boxing promotion Dempsey has attempted in Florida since he stepped in following Tex Rickard's death and put over the Jack Sharkey-W. L. [Young] Stribling bout in 1929. Johnston was formerly the boxing promoter for Madison Square Garden.

The tentative date is Feb. 13 and the probable site is the new Municipal stadium in Miami Beach. Johnston consented to the arrangement before leaving for Dallas, Tex., where Pastor boxes Buddy Scott Friday.

The Traditional Holiday Whisky

Famous

OLD FORESTER

Its Richness, Perfection of Flavor and Elegance Are Due to the Costlier Way It Is Made

● For 70 years the holiday season has meant "time for Old Forester!" In 1870 one of the greatest whisky-makers of all time originated Old Forester. He decided to make the most perfectly-flavored Bourbon that time and skill and money could produce.

This whisky of course could never be "popular priced." But it could be so rich in flavor—so smooth—so utterly satisfying that no one who drank it could ever forget it. To this day we make Old Forester according to the formula which the founder of the house of Brown-Forman laid down.

And so widespread has been Old Forester's fame that for years we have been unable to keep up with holiday orders. That is why we are so happy to be able to say that, at last, there will be an ample supply of Old Forester for this Christmas. See your dealer now.

CIVIC BODY WILL CONDUCT QUIZ ON 2% SLUSH FUND

Dwight Green Adds His Protest.

Members of the civil service committee of the Union League club will meet today to consider the activities of the Illinoisans, a Democratic fund raising organization that has been collecting 2 per cent salary assessments from state employés — both civil service and unclassified — for the 1940 campaign.

Atty. P. T. Ten Hoor.

Attorney Perry T. Ten Hoor, chairman of the committee, said an inquiry was within the scope of the body, and he would recommend one. "I will bring the matter to the committee's attention with the purpose of obtaining a remedy, if possible," he asserted.

Attacked by Two Others.

Two more attackers of the 2 per cent system made known their views yesterday. They are:

1. Dwight H. Green, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, who declared that $500,000 annually was being exacted from taxpaid workers and put into Democratic campaign funds.

2. State's Attorney Charles A. O'Connor of Kane county, who said his investigators were watching for violations of the civil service law by the Illinoisans, and pledged that he would start grand jury action if the evidence warranted.

Carry Letters from Bowen.

Until recently the Illinoisans' collectors went openly into state institutions carrying "courtesy" letters from A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare, to the managing officers. In some places they were given desk space and employés were notified to see them.

After complaints by the Civil Service Protective association the state civil service commission held that solicitation on state property was improper and that no civil service employé could be solicited at any time. The fund raisers then moved into hotels near the institutions and carried on. Even this practice was assailed by Green.

Assails Misuse of Funds.

"The state administration," he said, "is indirectly using state funds to perpetuate itself in office. There is evidence that when a state employé refuses to pay his assessment he is discharged.

"It is estimated that if the present administration is successful in exacting 2 per cent a month from approximately 20,000 state employés it collects about $500,000 annually, or during the course of one administration $2,000,000.

"The administration in the next election won't be able to buy their way because the taxpayers will vote to put an end to this disgraceful régime.

It is reported in Springfield that the attacks on the slush fund have brought about a reconciliation between State Finance Director S. L. Nudelman and F. Lynden Smith, director of public works, influential in the Illinoisans, whose recent feud had split Horner pay rollers.

Close Watch Is Kept.

O'Connor's investigators were keeping close watch on the St. Charles School for Boys, the Geneva School for Girls, and the Elgin State hospital. All are in Kane county.

O'Connor is one of the Republican state's attorneys in counties that have state institutions. Other Republicans include James E. Burke of Will county, where the Joliet and Stateville prisons are located; Hubert H. Edwards of Livingston county, which has the Pontiac and Dwight prisons, and Oscar C. Zachary of Morgan county which has the Jacksonville state school.

Democratic prosecutors include Francis C. King of Rock Island county [East Moline State hospital], Walter J. Schuwerk of Randolph county [Menard prison], John Paul Davis of Union county [Anna State hospital], Edward A. Jones of Lee county [Dixon State hospital], and C. Everett Smith of Logan county [Lincoln State hospital].

Merry Christmas, the adventurous black-nosed lamb which found her way Tuesday to the Anti-Cruelty society, 157 West Grand avenue, was gone from there yesterday. She was back with the Chicago Producers' Commission company. It claimed her as the Shropshire which jumped from a trainload of stock being unloaded here Dec. 6 and eluded search parties in the early morning darkness.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Refuse anything else. At all drug stores. 10¢ and 25¢.

REJECT M'NAUGHTON AS NEW MANAGER OF OKLAHOMA PWA DAM

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP)—The Public Works administration disapproved today the appointment by the Oklahoma Grand River Dam authority of Ray McNaughton as manager of the $20,000,000 Grand River dam project in northeastern Oklahoma.

McNaughton recently was selected by the Grand River authority board, of which he was chairman, to succeed R. V. L. Wright, who resigned at the beginning of a hearing of the board's charges that his work was unsatisfactory because of alleged delay in project work.

A clause in the WPA contract with the board provides the board may select the project manager but that the choice must be satisfactory to the PWA. McNaughton was rejected, it was reported, because he is an attorney and not an engineer.

ARMY ENGINEERS SIFT PROPOSALS FOR BOAT HAVENS

Five United States district army engineers will meet here today to plan their survey of proposals that four Lake Michigan harbors of refuge for small craft be established in the Chicago area. The four proposed sites, among 47 on the great lakes, are at Highland Park, Gary, the Indiana Dunes State park, and New Buffalo, Mich.

The district engineers held a series of hearings a year ago on proposals submitted by interested Chicago organizations. Last month the war department announced that the 47 sites would be surveyed and recommendations made to congress.

Controler General Brown Suffers a Slight Stroke

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP).—Fred H. Brown, 60 years old, controler general and former senator from New Hampshire, collapsed today near his office as he was returning from an official call at the postoffice department. Brown was stricken as he stepped from his automobile. His chauffeur caught him and carried him to an emergency room, from which he was taken to a hospital. At his office it was said that Brown's condition was not critical, but that he apparently had suffered a slight stroke.

DR. WEDDERSPOON IS DEAD; FORMER CHICAGO PASTOR

The Rev. William Rhind Wedderspoon, pastor of St. James Methodist Episcopal church, 46th street and Ellis avenue, from 1916 until 1926, died yesterday in his home at Coconut Grove, Fla. He was ordained 47 years ago and after leaving Chicago was pastor of the William Jennings Bryan Memorial church in Coconut Grove until five years ago, when he retired. He was born in Scotland but was educated in the United States. He held pastorates in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Washington, D. C., before coming to Chicago.

Dr. Wedderspoon was a former president of the board of trustees of the International Reform bureau in Washington, a trustee of the American university, a member of the Methodist Episcopal board of temperance, prohibition, and public morals, and a vice president of the Travelers' Aid society. Surviving are three sons, Arthur W. of Chicago,, Richard of Syracuse, N. Y., and Rhind W. Wedderspoon of Coconut Grove, and three daughters, Mrs. Harold M. Toombs, Oak Park, and Mrs. Lucy Buddington and Mrs. Emily Gutteridge, both of Coconut Grove. The funeral will be held Saturday in Bryan Memorial church. Burial will be in Miami.

FARMERS RALLY TO OPPOSE MILK INSPECTION FEE

More than a thousand milk producers, at a meeting last night in Woodstock, voted to oppose a suggested plan that the city force them to pay fees for milk inspection by the board of health. They instructed Arthur H. Lauterbach, general manager of the Pure Milk association, to everything possible to keep the present system of free milk inspection. N. J. Cladakis, federal milk administratior, addressed the meeting and asked at least a year's trial for the present system of market control by the government.

PLAN HOSPITAL IN LAKE FOREST TO COST $400,000

Plans for a new $400,000 hospital in Lake Forest were announced last night by directors of the Lake Forest Hospital association. The association now operates the Alice Home hospital and a small contagious disease hospital which have been found inadequate.

A 24 acre site has been donated by Mrs. Albert Blake Dick, widow of the Chicago manufacturer who invented the mimeograph machine. The site, fronting on Skokie highway, is part of the Dick estate at 870 West Deerpath, Lake Forest. Real estate men value the 24 acres at $25,000.

The hospital association has been the beneficiary of numerous bequests and gifts, directors said, which will make possible erection of the finest and most scientifically equipped hospital possible. One of the gifts, made in 1937, was $100,000, from Mrs. John G. Shedd, widow of the chairman of Marshall Field & Co.

Stanley Anderson of the firm of Anderson & Ticknor, architects, said construction would begin next spring and would take 18 months.

VOTE TO GRANT TEACHERS LEAVE EVERY 5 YEARS

The board of education yesterday approved a proposal by Superintendent William H. Johnson to liberalize rules affecting sabbatical leave for teachers. Henceforth, teachers will be allowed this leave for study after being on the job five consecutive years instead of seven.

At the executive session preceding yesterday's board meeting, Frank O. Washam, director of the school lunchroom department, told the board members that he has been discussing with Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief administrator, the possibilities of supplying an additional 10,000 poor school children with free lunches by using supplies furnished by the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation. The board now feeds 15,000 children daily in penny lunchroms in 84 schools. The additional load would cost about $50,000 in 1940.

President James B. McCahey said it would be impossible for the board to spend as much as $50,000 to broaden the present setup.

TEACHER KILLED IN PLUNGE FROM WINDOW IN HOME

William R. Bowlin, principal of the Fulton Elementary school, 5300 South Hermitage avenue, died last night in a fall from the window of a bathroom on the second floor of his home at 10054 Wood street. He had undergone an operation for gall bladder trouble last spring and his health had been failing since, police were told.

A veteran of the Chicago public schools system, Bowlin was 58 years old. After 11 years as an English instructor at Englewood High school, and a period as assistant principal of Lindblom High, he was made principal at the Fulton school in 1926.

His wife, Cornelia, went to his room last night and found him gone. The bathroom window was open. She summoned their son-in-law, John Boulware, who lives nearby at 10148 Morgan street. Boulware found Bowlin's body. Surviving, in addition to the widow, is a son, Richard.

NEW YORK WATER LOW; ASK HOTELS TO AVOID WASTE

New York, Dec. 13 [Special].—New York City's fight to protect a dwindling water supply took another turn today. The Hotel Association of New York City, Inc., with a membership of about 200, was asked to coöperate with the department of water supply, gas, and electricity by putting notices in all rooms urging guests to avoid wasting water.

Officials of the association could not recall that such a step ever had been taken by the city, and expressed belief that the situation must be extremely serious.

Commissioner Joseph Goodman, said however, that altho reservoirs are at the lowest levels in 25 years because of an abnormally dry season, no emergency exists and the chances are there will be none. With due caution, he asserted, the city can get thru until spring, even if there is no appreciable run-off in the various water sheds before that time.

Asks Licenses for Three Michigan Radio Stations

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 [Special].—Thorne Donnelley of Lake Bluff, Ill., today filed application with the Federal Communications commission for permission to operate radio telephone stations in Marine City, Manistee, and Houghton, Mich. Donnelley operates a station in Lake Bluff and is building another at Mackinac Island. His application said such stations would be in the public interest and recalled that the FCC recently noted the need for additional communication service on the Great Lakes.

HOLDING GROUP MAY INCUR BANK STOCK LIABILITY

Illinois Appellate Court Again Raises Issue.

The Appellate Court of Illinois yesterday reversed a lower court decision which had freed stockholders of the National Republic Bancorporation of stockholders' double liability in connection with several closed state banks. Attorneys for the plaintiffs, a large group of creditors of the defunct United American Trust and Savings and the Madison Square State banks, said the decision opened the way for the payment of dividends to the banks' depositors.

The Bancorporation, which was organized in 1929, held stock in the two banks. After the banks failed in June, 1932, creditors sued the stockholders of Bancorporation.

Charge Evasion of Law.

The creditors charged that Bancorporation had obtained possession and control of the banks for the purpose of evading Illinois laws with respect to stockholders' liability and prohibiting branch banking.

The opinion of the Appellate court, which was delivered by Presiding Judge Denis E. Sullivan, held that a perusal of the bill of complaint showed sufficient cause for reopening the case.

It was stated that the creditors of the United American Trust hope to be put in a position to recover $378,000, but the amount which Madison Square depositors hope to get was not given.

Sees Dividend Possibility.

Attorney Paul Freeman, who represented the United American Trust creditors, said "the opinion makes possible the collection of moneys which can be used in payment of a dividend." Attorney Frank Michels, representing the defendants, said he will file an answer denying that the shareholders in the Bancorporation had intended to evade the state banking laws.

United American Trust closed in June 1932 after its deposits had dropped in two years from $11,000,000 to $1,300,000. Its depositors have received nothing to date, altho payments have been made to holders of prior claims. The Madison Square bank, which also closed in June, 1932, has repaid a small amount to its depositors.

Day by Day on the Farm

By HOMER C. NEISZ

Steers to Feed Lot.

Dec. 13, 1939.

THE 38 Hereford steers that have been in the pastures at the Du Page county farm since they were shipped from the Texas range country last May soon will be confined to the feed lot for the winter. The steers were put in the feed lot last week, but the gate to an adjoining small stalk field was left open so the animals could go from the combination feed troughs and hay racks to the stalk field.

Mild weather this fall has made it practical to leave cattle outside later than usual. The steers had some green pasture and all the dry bluegrass they could eat all fall.

First Taste of Grain.

The amount of feed given the steers is being increased gradually. They were given their first taste of grain on Oct. 16 when they were started on a ration of equal parts ground ear corn and oats, each animal getting three pounds a day of the mixture of ground grain. Now each steer gets about 12.5 pounds per day of the mixture. The grains are mixed and ground together in a hammer mill.

In addition to the grain, each steer is given a daily ration of 13 pounds of corn silage, 7 pounds of hay, and slightly less than 1 pound of cottonseed meal. They have plenty of fresh water and salt before them all the time. The water will be kept warm during cold weather this winter.

The grain and hay are fed in the morning and the silage and cottonseed meal at night. Two kinds of hay are available—alfalfa and a mixture of red clover and timothy—and they are fed on alternate days.

Cut Down on Oats.

The grain ration will be increased until the steers are on full feed. The proportion of oats will be cut down gradually and the corn and cob meal will be replaced by cracked shelled corn. The amount of roughage will be decreased as the steers eat more grain.

One side of the concrete feeding floor has been covered with a deep layer of straw for bedding. The steers stay in the lot at night and spend most of the time during the day browsing in the stalk field.

All the steers have made good gains since they were brought to the farm last spring. They continued to grow and gain weight during the hot, dry weather early this fall when most of the pastures were short. Once they have been confined to the feed lot they are to be kept there until finished for market sometime next spring or summer.

GROCERY CHAIN.

What has been the trend of the number of units of the Kroger chain? I would also like a report on the company's operations.—I. W.

Answer: The grocery chain operated by the Kroger Grocery and Baking company is now composed of slightly more than 3,900 stores. Most of them are clustered in the industrial centers of northern United States east of the Mississippi river. The number of units has declined steadily from a peak of 5,575 at the end of 1929.

The chain now has about the same number of stores that it had early in 1928. Inaugurating a policy of establishing larger stores selling meats, fresh fruits, and vegetables as well as groceries, the company started to reduce the number of outlets in 1930. The tendency is now to combine smaller units into the larger, complete food-market type of store.

In the number of stores, the Kroger chain ranks second among the nation's grocery chains, but in sales volume it is third. Its stores spread into 19 states and are concentrated in Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, and Indiana. Nearly all the stores are leased, but the company owns baking, coffee roasting, egg inspection, dairy, and packing house plants, as well as warehouses.

Food and beverages processed in its own plants are sold under private brands. From 15 to 20 per cent of its total sales is composed of its own packaged brands.

Despite fewer outlets and a sharp drop in sales, net income in 1938 gained substantially over that of 1937. Net sales, net income, and earnings per common share in recent years follow:

	Net sales.	Net income.	Earned per share.
1934	$221,175,000	$4,198,000	$2.29
1935	229,908,000	•3,643,000	•1.99
1936	242,273,000	3,488,000	1.91
1937	248,444,000	•2,810,000	•1.54
1938	231,296,000	3,742,000	2.04

Net income in 24 weeks ended June 17, 1939, was $2,291,000, or $1.25 a share, against $1,615,000, or 88 cents a share, in the corresponding 1938 period.

Dividends of $1 a share on the present common stock were paid each year from 1928 thru 1933. In 1934 dividends were $1.80 a share; in 1935, $1.60; in 1936, $1.90; in 1937, $1.60, and in 1938, $1.90. This year $2.50 a share will have been disbursed after a final payment of 40 cents a share is made Dec. 21 to stock of record Dec. 1.

Capitalization consists of 507 shares of 6 per cent noncumulative first preferred of $100 par, 480 shares of 7 per cent cumulative preferred of $100 par, and 1,822,000 shares of no par common stock.

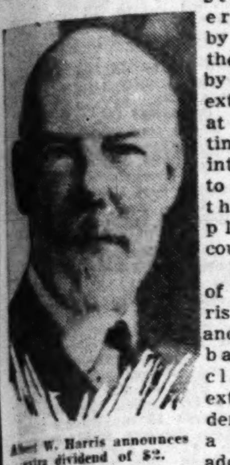
CHICAGO BANKS BOOST SURPLUS, RAISE DIVIDENDS

Harris Trust Votes Extra of $2.

Several Chicago banks yesterday increased dividend payments to their stockholders, either by lifting the rates or by declaring extras, and at the same time dipped into profits to increase their surplus accounts.



Albert W. Harris announces extra dividend of $2.

Directors of the Harris Trust and Savings bank declared an extra dividend of $2 a share in addition to the regular quarterly payment of $2.50, both payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 18. In addition the board voted to transfer $1,000,000 from the undivided profits account to surplus, making surplus $8,000,000.

Based on the latest published figures, as of Oct. 2, 1939, the bank would have $6,000,000 capital, $8,000,000 surplus, and $3,435,505 undivided profits.

Bank Reserves Increased.

"When the effect of the general depression in business became evident we cut our dividends to less than half what we had been paying formerly, and used the balance of our earnings to build up reserves and add to our undivided profits," commented Albert W. Harris, chairman of the board.

"During the last 10 years we have added to our surplus and undivided profits more than $4,000,000 and have created reserves which we believe to be adequate under present conditions.

"Having now accumulated substantial reserves and having added materially to our undivided profits, it seems appropriate at this time to pay a small extra dividend to the stockholders and transfer part of our undivided profits to surplus."

Merchandise Bank Rate Up.

The Merchandise National bank increased its annual dividend rate from $10 to $12 by declaring two dividends of $6 each, payable on Dec. 30 to stock of record Dec. 20, and on March 30, 1940, to stock of record March 20. Directors of the bank ordered $150,000 transferred from the year's profits to the surplus account, bringing the surplus to $750,000. It was indicated that the bank's profits for this year will exceed the 1938 amount.

Directors of the Merchants National Bank of Chicago, Madison street at Kedzie avenue, declared a $5 dividend, of which $2.50 will be paid Jan. 8 to stock of record Dec. 31, and $2.50 will be paid July 8, 1940, to stock of record June 30. The 1939 dividends total $4.

$25,000 Added to Bank Surplus.

George R. Boyles, president, said the directors authorized the transfer of $25,000 to surplus, making a total of $50,000 transferred to surplus this year. Surplus now stands at $175,000. Deposits last night totaled $7,243,591.

The Chicago Title and Trust company declared a $1.50 dividend, payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 19.

Directors of the Live Stock National Bank of Chicago approved the transfer of $250,000 to surplus, raising the bank's surplus account to $1,300,000, David M. Reimers, president, announced.

CANADA AGREES TO SELL BACON, HAM TO BRITAIN

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 [Special].—An agreement by which Canada has undertaken to supply more than one-fourth of the British consumption of bacon and ham was reported today by the office of foreign agricultural relations of the agriculture department. The agreement is effective until Oct. 31, 1940.

British consumption of bacon and ham amounts to about 860,000,000 pounds a year, the department said. Canada has undertaken to supply a minimum of 233,000,000 pounds, and Great Britain will accept up to 291,000,000 pounds. Much of the ham now consumed in Great Britain comes from the United States.

Treasury Finds 4 Nations Unfair to American Flies

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP).—The treasury today ruled that England, Germany, Japan and Belgium were unfair to American flies. Because these countries have provided ribbon fly catchers at less than a "fair price," the treasury put a special "dumping" tariff on these articles.

AIR LINES ESTIMATE THEIR PASSENGERS AT 2,500,000 NEXT YEAR

Members of the Air Traffic Conference of America estimated yesterday domestic air lines would carry 2,500,000 passengers next year. This estimate would exceed the total of 2,000,000 predicted for 1939 and the 1,343,427 carried during 1938.

R. W. Ireland, traffic manager of United Air Lines, was chosen president of the conference for 1940 at its final meeting for the current year. Other officers elected were Laigh Parker, general traffic manager of Delta Air Lines, first vice president, and J. J. O'Donovan, vice president in charge of traffic of Pennsylvania-Central Airlines, second vice president.

RUBBER FIRMS' 10 MONTHS NET TOPS ALL OF '38

United States Rubber company, second largest manufacturer of tires and rubber goods, yesterday reported earnings of $8,679,558 during the first 10 months of 1939. Net income was equivalent to $2.75 a share of common stock. No direct comparison was available. The 10 months' earnings, however, exceeded those for the full year of 1938, when net income amounted to $5,885,882, or 43 cents a share.

Fisk Rubber corporation had earnings of $934,000, or $1.74 a share, in the first 10 months this year. Altho no direct comparison was reported, the current statement contrasted with net income of $673,000, or $1.05 a share, during all of 1938. The company's principal plant is at Chicopee Falls, Mass.

SEVERAL RAILS REDUCE LOSSES FROM LAST YEAR

Altho most of the railroads reporting yesterday operated at losses for the first 10 months of the year, each of the roads has shown definite improvement over 1938. October net income in every case also showed an uptrend over October, 1938.

Among the roads reporting, the Chicago and Eastern Illinois road reported net income during October of $211,180, compared with only $70,925 in the 1938 month. The Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha road reported October net income at $89,243, compared with a net loss of $142,277 in October last year.

Brokers Plan Collection of Service Fees

New York, Dec. 13 (AP).—Taking a cue from banks, stock brokers propose to levy special charges for various services rendered aside from actual execution of buying and selling orders.

A special committee of the New York Stock exchange handed to the board of governors today a report recommending a schedule of minimum rates for specific services.

Safekeeping Fee Proposed.

Included in the proposals were:

A charge of 10 cents per coupon in the collection of interest.

A charge of one-fourth of 1 per cent of the dividend for the collection of dividends on securities not held in the broker's office, with a rate of 10 per cent on collections of less than $20.

A minimum of 1 cent per share and 10 cents per bond for transfers of ownership where documents other than stock power of attorney are required.

Also proposed were charges on deliveries of securities on order of the customer, transcripts of statements and other special services.

Want All Services to Pay.

Brokers have been casting about for ways to make ends meet in the present reduced volume of trading and to put the brokerage business on a basis of payment in accordance with service rendered.

Some brokers contend demand for specialized services in recent years has increased without corresponding expansion in revenue.

CHICAGO PLANS NO ACTION.

Officials of the Chicago Stock exchange said last night the exchange was not considering proposals for service fees similar to those studied in New York. They asserted, however, that Chicago houses with memberships on the New York Stock exchange would be bound by the recommendations if they are approved.

CORN PRODUCTS WILL SELL STOCK OF ALLIED MILLS

Corn Products Refining company will sell its stock interest in Allied Mills, Inc., Chicago grain processing firm, it was announced yesterday. The latter company reported it has completed negotiations to acquire 133,780 shares of its no par common stock owned by Corn Products Refining.

The acquired stock will remain in the treasury of Allied Mills and thus reduce its outstanding stock from 946,000 to 812,220 shares. The purchase price of the stock was not revealed.

Allied Mills produces live stock feeds, soy bean products, and, thru a subsidiary, gin and whisky. Corn Products Refining is a leading producer of corn products.

Britain Acts to Conserve Dollar Exchange Supply

LONDON, Dec. 13 (AP).—The British treasury ruled today against financing imports from countries except the United States with United States dollars. The move was designed to conserve dollars to pay for purchases in America.

3 AUTO EQUIPMENT TRADE ASSOCIATIONS VOTE TO CONSOLIDATE

Merger of the Motor Equipment Manufacturers association, New York, the Motor and Equipment Wholesale association, Chicago, and the National Standard Parts association, Detroit, Mich., was announced yesterday by Lester Matthews, retiring president of the latter organization.

Lester Matthews.

The three organizations unite each year to stage the Associated Services Industry show, said to be the largest trade show in the world, held this year at Navy pier.

Matthews, who is with the Sealed Power corporation, Muskegon, Mich., said leaders of the industries represented have advocated amalgamation of the organizations.

The new organization, for which a name has not yet been selected, will have about 1,500 members. Its headquarters will be in Chicago or Detroit, it was said.

NORTH AMERICA RAISES OUTPUT OF NEWSPRINT

New York, Dec. 13 [Special].—Production of newsprint in North America in November increased 12.6 per cent over the same month last year, the News Print Service bureau said today. Production was larger than for any other month this year and also topped the best month in 1938.

The increase was largely in Canada, where output was up 17.7 per cent over a year ago. Shipments from Canadian mills in November were 287,869 tons, while United States shipments were 81,410 tons.

Combined shipments from the two countries were slightly in excess of production, so that stocks at mills in both countries declined to 206,865 tons on Nov. 30, against 208,532 tons on Oct. 31.

STOCKS SPURT IN BEST BUYING OF MANY WEEKS

Final Gains Extend to Three Points.

New York, Dec. 13 [Special].—Some of the spectacular strength in the commodities markets was siphoned into the stock market today with securities bounding higher in the best buying for several weeks. Gains of from 1 to 3 points were sprinkled liberally thruout the list.

The transfusion was accompanied by a sharp upturn in turnover, with volume of 1,061,150 shares comparing with 612,150 yesterday.

Underlying the upturn was cheerful business news, including new all-time record production of electric power reported by the Edison Electric institute, and additional favorable dividend and earnings announcements.

Tax Selling Absorbed.

Persistent tax selling as the day of payment approaches and some selling for foreign account were absorbed in good style, brokers said.

All sections joined in the advance, with steel, motor, and aviation shares conspicuous both in activity and in price rise. Features were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, and Consolidated Aircraft. Each advanced between 1 and 2 points.

The fact that leadership was invested in such representative shares was considered a constructive sign by many in Wall street.

Averages Move Higher.

The Dow-Jones industrial average for 30 representative stocks closed at 148.94, up 2.01 on the day. The rail group added .69 point to 32.00, and the utility group closed at 24.86, up .16 point.

Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck highlighted the merchandising section, adding 1⅜ and 1 point, respectively. In the coppers Anaconda advanced 1⅜ points and American Smelting 1⅝, with other leaders large fractions higher.

Gains in rubbers ranged to more than a point in United States Rubber. Oils closed mixed in a narrow range.

Farm implement shares were held to directly reflect soaring wheat prices. International Harvester spurted nearly 3 points, Case almost 2. Others showed substantial fractional improvements.

Also prominent in the upturn were Allied Chemical, up 3; du Pont, up 1¾; Westinghouse, up 1½; American Can, up 1½; United States Gypsum common and preferred, up 3½ points each; Eastman Kodak, up 2½, and Celanese, up 1⅜. American Telephone edged into new high ground for the year.

Lockheed Stock Advances.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 13 (AP).—Lockheed Aircraft stock advanced today on news the company had landed a 20 million dollar British order for bombers. The stock reached $32.87½ on the San Francisco exchange and finished at 32.62½, 50 cents higher than its New York close and up $1.25 for the day. Other stocks were buoyant.

Cotton Jumps $2.50 a Bale in Advancing Staples Market

Cotton, silk, and other commodities soared yesterday in the most active buying wave since the boom immediately following the outbreak of the European war. Cotton, jumping $2 to $2.50 a bale in the New York market on top of similar gains made Tuesday, established the highest prices since July, 1937.

Silk futures advanced the 15 cent a pound limit permitted for one session and stayed on the roof until trading stopped. Strong advances were recorded for rubber, cottonseed oil, cocoa, and hides, while many other staples also gained ground.

Liverpool Jumps Limit.

Liverpool cotton prices shot up 25 English points, the day's limit, for the third consecutive session. The advancing prices in the English market, and the fact that Egyptian and Indian cotton are selling much higher than American cotton, helped to encourage buying in the New York market.

Heavy participation in the market on the part of the public was reported. Mills, foreigners, and cash houses also took substantial amounts of cotton.

Lack Ships for Exports.

Only a shortage of ocean freight room was reported preventing large export sales of American cotton to England, where mills are unable to buy the staple because of the trading restrictions limiting the day's price advance. No one is willing to sell cotton abroad, it was reported.

The premium for Indian cotton over American is the first on record, traders said, spurring demand for the American variety. More than 500,000 bales of cotton were recently said to be standing on Gulf of Mexico docks with no ships available.

Despite the difficulties in obtaining shipping, American cotton exports for this season to date are estimated to be more than double exports for all of last season.

Spot cotton closed 0.44 to 0.45 cent a pound higher, with New York at 11.66 cents, New Orleans 11.53 cents, Houston 11.15 cents, and Galveston 11.20 cents.

Expectation of European orders and the actual placing of some orders was said to have been the principal factor causing the firm undertone in nearly all commodities. This same prospect caused the unprecedented boom in the first week of September.

Silk at 9 Year Peak.

Silk futures sold at the highest prices in nine years. The December delivery closed at $3.76 a pound, and cash raw silk was quoted at $3.67. Hides and rubber, both prime war staples, advanced more than ⅛ cent a pound, as did cocoa. Cottonseed oil jumped ¼ to ⅜ cent a pound. Reports that Finland was inquiring for cottonseed oil helped buoy that market.

Sugar futures closed as much as 0.05 cent a pound higher when it was rumored that favorable action might be taken by Washington on the sugar quota system, which was suspended in September. The suspension allowed exporters to sell all the sugar they desired to the United States, but raised the import duty in some cases.

Lead futures were also slightly higher. Rio coffee, tin, and copper closed lower. Santos coffee and wool tops were irregular.

POWER OUTPUT REACHES HIGHEST LEVEL IN HISTORY

Production of electricity by the nation's light and power industry advanced 11.5 per cent in the week ended Dec. 9, to the highest level in history, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday.

A total of 2,585,560,000 kilowatt hours was produced during the week, according to the institute, against 2,318,550,000 in the comparable 1938 week.

Output in the previous week was 2,538,777,000 kilowatt hours, an increase of 11.1 per cent over the $2,285,523,000 total of the corresponding week of 1938.

Electricity production of the Commonwealth Edison company group was 165,383,000 kilowatt hours for the week, compared with 146,442,000 in the corresponding week a year ago, an increase of 12.9 per cent.

WORST DROUTH AND WAR SEND WHEAT SOARING

Prices Are Highest in Two Years.

The most severe autumn drouth in history, destroying newly planted wheat in the great plains states, combined with war news yesterday to boost wheat prices nearly 5 cents a bushel to the highest levels recorded on the Chicago Board of Trade in two years.

The market burst thru the dollar mark in heavy trading, and wheat for delivery this month closed at $1.02¾ per bushel. The advance coincided with a sensational gain in cotton prices and strong upward movements in other commodities.

Traders realized the extent of the drouth when the weather bureau estimated that rainfall in the important wheat belt states has been less than 25 per cent of normal this fall.

Fear Spring Dust Storms.

Once again the menace of dust storms confronted western farmers, with the bureau reporting that "conditions are unusually favorable for dust storms next spring," unless general rainfall occurs this winter.

Off to the worst start on record, winter wheat planted this fall is expected to produce only about 389,000,000 bushels. This would be, with one exception, the smallest crop in 40 years.

Final wheat futures prices in the local market were 4 to 4¾ cents a bushel higher than Tuesday's close. Reports that the Canadian wheat board will step aside and permit exporters to operate in a free market added to buying enthusiasm. In addition, an advance of more than 6 cents in Argentine cash wheat prices recently encouraged purchases.

Report Britain Charters Ships.

The British government was reported to have chartered a large number of Greek steamers to carry wheat from Argentina to the United Kingdom.

Corn futures finished 1⅛ to 2⅛ cents a bushel higher. Rye made gains of 5⅞ to 6 cents a bushel, soy beans rose 4 to 4¾ cents, and oats climbed 1¼ to 1⅜ cents a bushel.

December oats, and all deliveries of rye and soy beans touched new highs for the season or longer.

Only twice since 1909 has the win-

New York Bonds.

New York, Dec. 13 (AP).—The bond market snapped out o fthe doldrums today in a burst of buying which benefitted principally the rail section. Traders said the sudden action was based on rising commodities. The day's business totaled $8,913,400, face value, compared with $7,665,925 yesterday. It was the biggest day since Oct. 26.

Leading the field, with gains of a point or more, were Baltimore and Ohio convertible 4½s, Bethlehem Steel 3½s, Illinois Central 4¾s, International Telephone 5s, Nickel Plate 4½s and 5½s, and Southern railway 4s.

Traders practically ignored United States governments, which traded in such small orders that their slight advances and declines were considered of little significance. Foreign government dollar loans, on the whole, were lower, with Norwegian issues among the few exhibiting strength.

Chicago Stocks.

Six issues reached new highs for 1939 on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Trading volume stepped up to 39,000 shares. Most shares turned fractionally higher.

United Air Lines, American Public Service preferred, E. J. Brach, Central Illinois Public Service, Horder's, and Kentucky Utilities preferred advanced from ⅛ to 2¾ points to new 1939 peaks.

Among the volume leaders, Central and Southwest, more active issue, added ⅛ at ⅝ on sales of 4,500 shares. Commonwealth Edison dropped ⅛ at 31⅛.

Bank Stocks.

Three issues gained substantially in bank stock trading yesterday, altho most stocks were steady. Continental Illinois was bid at 93, up 2½ points from the previous close, First National rose to 234 and Harris Trust to 315.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The price range between light and heavy hogs widened at the Chicago stockyards yesterday as more of the latter arrived. Buyers carrying special orders for selected 150 to 200 pound young hogs, believed to be for the account of Canadian packers, bid these kinds up fully 10 cents, with some 15 cents higher.

The $5.55 top, paid for 175 pound averages, showed 15 cents advance. A large share of the best 150 to 200 pound averages brought $5.40 to $5.50. Other hogs sold mostly steady to 5 cents higher.

Long fed steers with weight comprised a large share of the cattle run yesterday and these sold weak to 25 cents lower. Most light steers and yearlings shared in the decline, but a few of the best yearlings held steady.

CHARGE BANKERS AGREE TO DIVIDE BOND BUSINESS

"Understanding" Alleged at Monopoly Quiz.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13 (AP).—A "little black book" and a stack of confidential letters, telegrams, and memoranda from the files of investment bankers were piled before the monopoly committee today in an effort to show that the 1933 banking act had caused few real changes in the business of underwriting and selling securities.

This act required that banks of deposit get out of the securities business. Peter Nehemkis, securities commission attorney, and other committee investigators said the evidence indicated there had been few fundamental changes.

A half dozen investment bankers disputed these inferences and denied there had been any "agreements" or "understandings" on two securities issues examined in detail.

Two Big Issues Examined.

These were a $45,000,000 issue for the Pacific Gas and Electric company and a $73,000,000 issue for the Southern California Edison company, both floated in 1935.

The "little black book" was a record kept by Harry N. Addinsell, an officer of the First Boston corporation, of issues in which the concern participated, the shares given to other bankers, syndicate profits, and similar data.

The SEC attorney suggested this record might serve as a basis for repaying favors and determining shares in future issues, but George D. Woods, vice president of the Boston, Mass., investment banking house, denied this. He said the book was merely a record Addinsell "kept for his own personal edification."

Other bankers were questioned about their contest to head the syndicate that handled the Pacific Gas and Electric issue.

National City Had Account.

Leon Henderson, SEC member of the committee, observed that this account had been handled previously by the National City company, former securities affiliate of the National City Bank of New York.

Nehemkis brought out that these National City company executives had gone to the following New York investment firms: J. P. Ripley to Harriman, Ripley & Co.; Charles E. Mitchell to Blyth & Co., and Stanley Russell to Lazard Freres & Co.

George Leib of Blyth & Co. denied there had been "any understanding or agreement," after Nehemkis told the committee there appeared "to be two understandings—a general understanding as to the National City company's business and a specific understanding as to the Pacific Gas and Electric business."

Russell and Ripley previously had denied any agreements.

INDIANA UTILITY BONDS OFFERED BY BANK GROUP

An underwriting group, headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., will offer today $45,000,000 Northern Indiana Public Service company, first mortgage bonds, series A, 3¾ per cent, due Aug. 1, 1969, at 100.

Proceeds will be used, together with a bank loan secured by 2⅞ per cent serial notes and other funds, for the retirement of all outstanding bonds bearing 4½, 5, 5½, and 6 per cent coupons. The funded debt of the company on the completion of the financing will consist of the bonds being offered and the notes, a total of $51,000,000.

Northern Indiana Public Service is a public utility operating company, chiefly electric and gas, which serves a population of about 700,000 in 28 northern Indiana counties, including the industrial region in Lake county.

SHIFT OFFICERS OF CONTINENTAL CAN COMPANY

New York, Dec. 13 (AP).—J. F. Hartlieb, executive vice president of the Continental Can company, today was elected president.

O. C. Huffman, president, resigned that office, and was elected chairman of the executive committee. Carle C. Conway resigned as executive committee chairman to make way for Huffman, but continues as chairman of the board.

Huffman said he was nearing the end of 35 active years in the can manufacturing industry, the last 10 as president of Continental Can.

Thomas F. Ryan III. Named Air Line Company President

BOARD OF TRADE PIT ORDERED FOR DEALING IN SOY BEAN FUTURES

A new pit for trading in soy bean futures will be constructed on the Chicago Board of Trade floor, officials said yesterday. Increased volume of trading—15,005,000 bushels were traded in November, a new record—and the new interest shown in the beans by traders, made construction of the pit necessary, officials said.

Traders have been dealing in the beans near the corn pit at considerable inconvenience, the board said.

Other indications of the increasing importance of the soy bean crop:

F. H. Law, traffic vice president of the Illinois Central railroad said the soy bean tonnage handled by the road this year will rank with that of wheat and oats. He said the bean tonnage has increased 120 per cent in the last four years.

In Washington, D. C., Representative Dirksen [R., Ill.], proposed that inspection and grading provisions of the federal grain and standards act be extended to soy beans for the benefit of mid-western farmers.

BONUS PAYMENTS AUTHORIZED FOR BANK EMPLOYES

The Chicago Title and Trust company on Saturday will pay an amount equal to 25 per cent of one month's salary. The First National Bank of New Yerk will pay from 5 to 9 per cent of annual salaries. Other New York banks that will pay bonuses include the Corn Exchange Bank and Trust company, Marine Midland Trust company, the Continental Bank and Trust company, and the Federation Bank and Trust company.

The Louisville Courier-Journal and Times announced a 6 per cent bonus for about 1,000 employés of the two papers and their affiliates. The J. Hungerford Smith company, Rochester, N. Y., will distribute $20,238 among 200 employés.

United Aircraft corporation will pay 6,500 employés bonuses ranging from $10 to $50, depending on length of service. The company plans to add about 4,000 to its payroll shortly, bringing the total to 10,500.

SUBSIDIES HURT RAILS, AID RIVALS, SAYS HEAD OF RFC

Holds 'Hidden Costs' Keep Water Rates Down.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 13 (AP).—Emil Schram, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, asserted tonight there is a more pronounced trend toward consistent treatment" of highway and water carriers and the railroads.

Emil Schram.

"Much of the tonnage now moving on improved inland waterways," he said in addressing members of the Traffic club, "could be expeditiously moved by rail at a lower cost if the shipper were required to pay, in addition to the direct cost, the so-called 'hidden cost' assumed by the government.

Water Carriers Subsidized.

"Water carriers have received continued subsidies from the government. Nearly all inland waterways must be improved and maintained at heavy public expense. Lower rates made possible by such public aid throw competitive costs off balance.

"Similarly the trucking industry has been permitted to operate on highways constructed, maintained and policed by public funds. It is only in more recent years that commercial and contract motor carriers have been made to pay license taxes and other fees for the use of highways.

Speeds Agencies' Growth.

"Thus it is clear that the newer transportation agencies have had their growth accelerated by various types of public aid, resulting in a disparity between their costs of maintenance and the similar costs of competing railroads.

"In our time the railroads have received no governmental subsidy; furthermore, the railroads have for many years been subject to strict governmental regulation. Lately, however, there has been a more pronounced trend toward consistent treatment of all competing agencies."

WORST DROUTH AND WAR SEND WHEAT SOARING

ter crop, which constitutes about two-thirds of the nation's wheat supply, been smaller than 400,000,000 bushels—in 1917 and 1933. In the latter year, which came in the middle of a drouth cycle, the crop was 376,000,000 bushels. The average for the 10 years 1928 to 1937 was 560,000,000 bushels, and the 1939 harvest was 551,000,000 bushels.

Western Area Suffers Most.

Hardest hit for lack of rain this fall were the winter wheat producing states of Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Texas, the weather bureau's report said.

Kansas rainfall, for example, has totaled 1.75 inches, against a normal for the period of 6.09 inches. Precipitation in Nebraska totaled 1.15 inches, against 4.53 inches normally. Comparisons of actual and normal rainfall for other states included: Illinois, 4.23 inches, against 9.13; Iowa, 2.82 inches, against 7.81; Wisconsin, 4.86 inches, against 8, and Tennessee, 4.19 inches, compared with 9.51 inches.

The winter wheat crop deteriorated further, the weather bureau said, indicating that the crop outlook at present may be even smaller than the 389 million bushels forecast by the private experts, which was based on Dec. 1 conditions.

Hope Rains Will Check Damage.

Grain men said the best that could be hoped for was that good rains until the crop is harvested next summer would hold it at its present condition. Some recalled, however, that in 1937 the crop received insufficient moisture in the autumn. In the last few weeks before harvesting in 1938, crop prospects declined millions of bushels due to the damage the previous fall.

However, with a 295,000,000 bushels wheat surplus stored away, even the major crop disaster which has already swept the great plains states cannot cause a serious shortage of wheat.

Normal domestic consumption plus exports is estimated at about 675,000,000 bushels a year. Thus a total wheat crop, both winter and spring, of only 455,000,000 bushels would be sufficient to supply the nation's needs until another crop can be harvested.

Argentine Crop Damaged.

Severe damage to the crop in Argentina, one of America's big competitors for export business, was also reported. Recent estimates of the probable Argentine harvest were as low as 136,000,000 bushels, altho a few weeks ago it was predicted the harvest there would be about 250,000,000 bushels.

Another possibility foreseen by grain traders was that the American spring wheat crop, which will be planted early next year, might be handicapped by lack of soil moisture unless generous rains fall this winter. Both South Dakota and Minnesota, big spring wheat producers, had the driest November on record. In South Dakota the first dust storm of the season occurred early this week. The drouth also extends into the Canadian spring wheat area.

Wheat Advances for Fortnight.

Wheat prices in the last two weeks, advancing about 12¼ cents a bushel, have helped to offset the effect of crop deterioration on future farm income. It is estimated the advance in wheat alone has added nearly $85,000,000 to prospective farm income, based on the surplus wheat now in storage and the probable winter crop.

Other grains have made large gains. Corn has advanced 5⅜ cents in the last two weeks; rye, 15¼ cents, and soy beans, 13¼ cents. December soy beans have climbed 48½ cents a bushel in less than four months.

Shipments of grain via lake this season aggregated 42,471,000 bushels, according to Lyman C. West, statistician for the Chicago Board of Trade. With the exception of 1938, the shipments were the largest since 1933. Clearances of 10,467,000 bushels of soy beans set an all-time record.

Other Companies Will Pay Larger Amounts.

Directors of the William Wrigley Jr. company, Chicago chewing gum concern, yesterday ordered dividends on the common stock totaling $1,615,605. Included were an extra dividend of 50 cents a share, payable Dec. 28 to stock of record Dec. 20, and three dividends of 25 cents a share which will be paid Feb. 1, March 1, and April 1 to stockholders of record of the 20th day of each preceding month.

Several other companies declared year-end dividends in addition to regular payments to shareholders, thereby increasing substantially the large amounts that American stockholders will receive within the next few weeks.

Hartford Fire Pays Extra.

The Hartford Fire Insurance company announced an extra dividend of 50 cents a share and a regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents, both payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 15.

The Garlock Packing company declared a year-end dividend of $1 a share on the common stock, payable Dec. 23 to stock of record Dec. 16.

Coleman Lamp and Stove company declared an extra dividend of $1.50 a share in addition to the usual payment of 25 cents on capital stock, both payable Dec. 26 to stock of record Dec. 22.

Local Loan Gives You SERVICE

Our aim is to offer you whatever plan will enable you to borrow most easily. LOCAL LOAN makes liberal Furniture and Auto Loans, but if you are steadily employed we prefer to make you a loan On Your Signature Only without mortgages or endorsers.

75% of our loans are Signature Only Loans to employed men and women. LOCAL LOAN originated and perfected this service because employed people—young or old and regardless of occupation—are entitled to a simplified loan method. You may obtain $25 to $300—

Salary Loans On Your Signature Only

You make your own repayment terms [repaying any time within 20 months], and you are charged only for the actual time you have the money.

When you deal with LOCAL LOAN you borrow without the knowledge of your employer, friends, and relatives.

We cannot tell you all about our service in our advertisement. Just phone one of the following offices. Your loan request can be taken over the telephone, so you can obtain the money more quickly when you call in person.

Save the Difference

Commonwealth's charge is less on all loans than the maximum permitted by law. Our monthly rates of 2½% on loan balances of $150 or less and only 2% on loan balances above applies to ALL TYPES and CLASSES OF LOANS. Any one who can make regular payments can qualify; there is no discrimination. EVERYBODY GETS THIS SAME RATE. Of course, persons whose incomes are above average can afford to make larger payments and thus make substantial reductions in their loan cost.

No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. Applications received by personal call, letter, or telephone will receive immediate attention.
